NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The National Democratic Convention, for the purpose of nominating candidates for President and Vice President of the United States, will probably be held early next year. It is not yet decided where the Convention will be held, but from the present outlook, the indications are that it will be in New York City, Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco or St. Paul, La., with the chance in favor of the first-named city.

REQUEST TO POLICE JURIES.

State Commissioner of Agriculture A. V. Carter has issued a circular letter to the Police Juries of the different parishes of the State, requesting that at least two delegates be appointed from each parish to meet and compose a part of the State Agricultural Society, which convenes in the city of Lafayette on the fourth Wednesday in January next. He says that the State Agricultural Society is doing a good work. Cotton farmers and sugar planters, the rice and corn producers meet and discuss means and methods that best subserve their welfare and interest, which adds a little to the development of the agricultural resources of the State, while the tobacco farmers and manufacturers stimulate the meetings with the pleasant aroma of home-raised and home-manufactured cigars and smoking tobacco. He says that these meetings are instructive not only from an agricultural standpoint but tend to make the people more united in their efforts for the development of the State and its numerous resources, and is creating a pride of citizenship heretofore almost unknown. He further states that the State should lend aid and assistance by making a small appropriation to defray railroad expenses of duly accredited delegates to these annual meetings, as all such meetings are purely agricultural and free from partisan feeling or politics, having the one object in view—the development of the agricultural interests of the State. The commissioner speaks enthusiastically of the present condition of the agricultural outlook, and predicts a bright and prosperous future for Louisiana from that standpoint.

EMPLOYMENT FOR CONFEDERATE VETERANS.

New Orleans La., Nov. 16, 1895.

To the People of Louisiana: The Confederate Veteran organizations located in the City of New Orleans desire to bring to public attention the condition of many of the veterans, whose age and misfortune have conspired to deprive them of a support and render an appeal necessary in their behalf.

A general committee has been formed for the purpose of organizing and methodizing a system for their ultimate benefit, by which employment can be obtained for them, both in the country and city. It should require no extended rhetoric to our people to effect the object in view. The claims of these patriotic citizens cannot be disregarded—they are enforced by a record honorable to the State—they are accentuated by a history of bravery and self sacrifice that has rendered their deeds memorable. Their exemplary and law-abiding citizenship since the war enhances their soldierly records, and calls for favorable consideration.

They make no appeal for charity; they ask opportunities for work. The common-sense, as a political autonomy, has in the main recognized the directness of their claims; it has established a Soldiers' Home in this city, open to all Louisiana veterans with an honorable record. This home has thus far been maintained and supported with the appropriation from the State and the assistance from the Police Juries of the Parishes. Its directors—themselves old soldiers—have managed it with creditable ability, and afforded the inmates comforts commensurate with the means for its support. The next General Assembly, it is confidently expected, will increase the appropriation for its maintenance and meet the enlarged demands made upon it.

The class of veterans more especially appealed for in this case, do not enter the home. They have ties of kindred—wives and children—whom they cannot separate from, and who look to them for a support. They are willing to work, they feel that they are not entirely debarrred by age and infirmities; many are still stalwart; nearly all capable of light employment.

But if any old soldier be too feeble for personal labor himself, and he may have a son or daughter willing to work, capable and seeking employment. A helping hand to such persons would be strictly within the line of our solicitude and assistance. The people of the State will be called upon to vote at the next general election in April for a constitutional amendment authorizing the General Assembly to enact proper pension laws for these old soldiers. We confidently hope for its incorporation in the organic law. It will, when perfected, bring some relief and ameliorate their condition. At the same time, the claims for livelihood are urgent and should be met. Planters, merchants, heads of industrial establishments should note the fact that they can obtain help, and at the same time benefit a worthy class of citizens.

All papers throughout the State are requested to publish this appeal, with their kindest commendations, and urge that all communications offering employment be addressed to T. R. Roach, Secretary, Memorial Hall, New Orleans.

A TWO-PART DUMPING WAGON.

A wagon whose body is made in two pivoted parts, adapted to be dumped by means of a lever fulcrumed on the wagon frame, for the subject of a patent issued to John J. Theobald, a vestron, Texas. Each of the parts is hung at or near the middle on trunnions journaled in bearings in the frame and the two parts are pivotally connected by a link, so that when one part is swung the other part swings with it. On one side of one of the body parts, is a pin engaging a slot in a bracket at one side of the frame, and by the swinging of this lever the slotted arm operating on the pin causes the two parts of the wagon body to swing into inclined position. The parts normally extend horizontally and are joined together at their adjacent ends to form a single wagon body. To lock the two parts into a horizontal position there are lugs on the lever on opposite sides of its fulcrum adapted to engage cams on each of the wagon body parts, locking them securely to each other and their joints.—Scientific American.

Mr. Theobald was raised in this parish, and is a son of our esteemed fellow-citizen, Mr. John Theobald. We wish him success with his new invention.

Some Throat. Any ordinary case may be cured in one night by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm as directed with each bottle. This medicine is also famous for its cures of rheumatism, lame back and deep-seated and muscular pains.

THEY WILL COMBINE.

There is no longer any doubt but the Republicans and Populists will, despite their professions for ballot reform, combine to defeat the suffrage amendment, simply because it is a Democratic measure and which, if adopted, will hereafter place the elections in the hands of the intelligent people of the State.

The object of the combination between the Republicans and Populists is not so much to defeat the amendment as it is to defeat the Democratic party, and to accomplish this the leaders of the Republican and Populist parties will move heaven and earth. The plan and the execution of them will be done by such able and astute Republicans as Judge Taylor Beattie, General Wm. Behan and other shrewd men who have recently deserted from the Democratic party and joined the Republican party. We say the planning and conducting of the campaign will be done by Republicans for the reason there is not a man in the Populist party of Louisiana competent to map out and successfully conduct a district campaign, much less a State campaign, hence they will be used as the pawns to rake Republican chestnuts out of the fire. Of course if the Republicans are successful in downing the Democratic party, they will be remembered—they will get what the Indians give to their dogs after a successful bear or deer hunt.

The Populists of Louisiana, the rank and file, are not politicians. They are a lot of honest, good meaning but misguided people who have been led off from the Democratic party by designing and wholly unprincipled demagogues, who at one time affiliated with either one or the other of the old parties.

The mass of Populists, incited by their leaders, have become so prejudiced and embittered against the Democratic party that it will be a very easy matter to induce them to combine with old Satan himself to annihilate the Democratic party. As we already said the Populists, as a class, are not politicians. They are simply the prey of politicians. Because of their intense hatred for the Democratic party they blindly follow the leadership of a few crafty fellows who are Populists for what there is in it, and are shrewd enough to see their only hope of ever warming a State office is to combine forces with the tilly white and charcoal Republicans.

The ostensible object of the fusion is to defeat the suffrage amendment, but the true purpose of the Republican managers with their Populist puppets, is to defeat the Democratic party, and the suffrage amendment will be their shibboleth.

But the Democrats of Louisiana are not going to be taken unawares. After the State Nominating Convention will have adjourned the Democrats, with a united party, will inaugurate a vigorous and uncompromising war on Populism and Republicanism and will win one of the most complete and overwhelming victories in the history of the State.

The Democratic party are fully resolved that the affairs of this State shall be dominated by honest and intelligent white citizens, hence the suffrage amendment, which is a Democratic measure, will be adopted by a large and handsome majority.—Shreveport Judge.

There is no doubt a majority of the Democrats of Louisiana, regardless of past factional affiliations, are in favor of harmonizing all differences and starting out anew. By burying all dissensions, and all marching under one banner the Democratic party will accomplish the grand results for which it is laboring and continue to give to the people a good sound government.

The suffrage amendment must be adopted and we Republicans must be maintained, and this can and will be done by a united and harmonized party.—Shreveport Judge.

The New York World says that "two powerful forces will work for Democracy during the year. A Congress Republican in both branches must either confess itself incapable of legislating or it must legislate upon lines that the people have twice repudiated with enthusiasm. A New York Legislature, however Republican in both houses, can hardly fail to offend the public sentiment of a Democratic State as to bring to the polls next year the 155,000 Democrats who refused to vote last election.

We can afford to let the offices go into the hands of anyone, but the suffrage amendment must be carried. That is the Courier's position all along. The populists and Republicans oppose it and will doubtless support it. Our course is clear, no matter who fills the offices.—Op-lousas Couri-r.

Garden District.

Nov. 26, 1895.

Editor St. TAMMANY FARMER: Mr. R. A. Norman was over last Sunday.

Mrs. Fritz Jencke, of New Orleans, was the guest last week of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Osmond, and I am much pleased to note that she and her family are under the weather, and is giving labor a rest for a while.

Mr. J. L. O'Connor left for New Orleans last Monday, after a pleasant week's recreation at Oak Glenn, the charming home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. O'Connor.

Road hands are called out to work the Columbia road, from Covington to the five mile post, on December 1. It is about time some work was done on that road.

What's the matter with the new road from the five mile post to Abita Springs? I understand there is considerable financial aid promised, if the overseer would commence operations.

From present indications, Mr. Herman Shultz will have the entire vote of the Garden District for Police Juror for the Third Ward, and I am much pleased to note that Herman appears to be the general choice throughout the Ward, as no better man could be selected.

The Garden District school has thirty-two regular scholars on its rolls, and no farther time should be lost in completing the school-house and making it comfortable for cold weather.

PINE KNOT.

The busiest man in Havana is not Martine Canopus, military director, but an old chap, Jose Something-or-other, whose usefulness in life is unique, but definite character. His profession is that of suffering vicariously imprintsment for the editors who offend the government. Of course the press censor especially in troublous times like these, sees that none but loyal stuff and news favorable to the Spanish side gets into the papers. But now and then some bold editor sneaks in an insinuation or allusion which the censor skips. If then, the editor be snatched up in court, as is very likely, he doesn't go himself. Not he. Instead he telephones for Jose something-or-other, who generally may be found at a certain corner saloon. "Are you editor of El Pais?" asks the judge. "I am," replies Jose. "Did you publish that?" "I did." "You days in jail," and off to jail goes Jose. In these busy times he is generally satisfied with his sentences, but in more calm and dull seasons he occasionally asks the judge to send him up for fifteen or twenty days instead of ten. Jose's regular compensation for representing a journal in jail is $1 a day. He has been in business for several years and is a well known character in Havana.—Chicago Times Herald.

AN UNPROFITABLE LIST.

Farmers, even those not otherwise noted for liberality, are usually very willing to give a "lift" in their wagons to pedestrians, unless their appearances are decidedly unimpressive, and provided, of course, the request is made in proper form.

A farmer returning from town in an empty plow wagon, overtook a young man, plodding along with the discouraged air of a city man, a used to dirt roads.

"Hello, Jerry!" cried the stranger, briskly. Can a man get a lift to Vine-land?"

"I don't see why he can't," responded the farmer, in a non-committal way.

"Then I'll take a ride," said the stranger, vaulting into the wagon, and making himself comfortable.

After two or three miles had been traversed, the stranger paused in his inconspicuous talk long enough to observe:

"It's quite a distance to Vine-land."

"Yes, it is a distance," admitted the farmer.

Another mile was passed, and then the stranger inquired:

"About how far is it to Vine-land?"

"Well, replied the farmer, meditatively, "keppil straight ahead the way we're goin' now, it is about twenty-five thousand miles, but if you'll get out and hoof it back it ain't more'n six or seven."

The stranger got out and "hoofed" it back.

Dan Stuart, of Texas, who appears to be a most tenacious sportsman, has made all the arrangements for a fight between Fitzsimmons and Corbett. This will be disagreeable news for Corbett, which is not shown that he pines for a wince at the nod of the lanky Au tralian.

Mrs. W. B. Meek, who resides at Camptonville, Cal., says her daughter was for several years troubled with severe cramps in the stomach, and would be in such agony that it was necessary to call in a physician. Having read about Chamberlain's Cough, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy she concluded to try it. She found it always gives prompt relief. It was seldom necessary to give the second dose.

"It has not only saved us lots of worry and time," she says, "but also doctor bills. It is my opinion that every family should have a bottle of this Remedy in the house."

Lewisburg.

Nov. 27, 1895.

Not hearing from us in so long a time, you might think our little town is dead, but it is still booming.

Coon hunts are all the go. Large crowds from Mandeville are heard from frequently.

Two of our celebrated hunters, Messrs. Louis David and Sidney Smith, have just returned from a hunt, the former killing twenty-five French ducks, one wild turkey and sixty squirrels, and the latter one bat and one owl.

Our popular young artist, Mr. Charles Boyle, has just completed his fine castle, which is a piece of artistic work.

Our public school is progressing rapidly, under the management of Miss Jennie Pujol, who fulfills her position with great credit, having twenty-five bright scholars.

Sorry to hear that Mr. Joseph Boyle, one of our old citizens, is very ill, and we wish him a speedy recovery.

Our ranching agent for Pratt's Food, Mr. W. Thompson, has just returned from Bayou Laconche, and we are sorry to say that he is on the sick list.

We hear that Mr. George Smith will soon give a grand reception in his newly finished Queen Anne Cottage.

Mrs. W. Boyle and her two lovely little daughters, Adrienne and Florence, have just returned from a visit to the Crescent City.

Mr. Louis Pujol has returned from a visit to New Orleans. Happy to see his smiling countenance again.

Mr. Graham Black, of New Orleans, was a welcome visitor here for two days.

Misses Emily Galmiche and Jennie Pujol spent Saturday and Sunday in Covington.

Wm. Phillips, one of the Mandeville beaux, is frequently seen here. We do not know what brings him, but partly guess.

Editor St. TAMMANY FARMER: To my dear cousin, Wide-Awake. This dose of mirth will kindly shake.

On poetry I'm very slow,
On rhyme I'll take it as I go,
And tell you all a little news,
To cheer you up and kill the blues.

"Dear friend, you look quite spry and gay."
"What cause for that my friend, to-day?"
"The marriage bells are ringing here,
And I'll look out for another 'dear.'"

"What think you of the wedding day
On Bogus Falls, so they say?"
"James Wacom's wedding was complete,
And everything was nice and neat."

"Long life to Jim, we wish him joy,
For he's a good and honest boy,
Success to him who won the prize,
Fairest of all beneath the skies."

"On John Fitzgerald's wedding day,
And what is that, do tell me pray?"
"The people came from far and near,
To honor John, whose smile is cheer."

"Good luck to you, dear friend so true,
I wish you well in all you do,
And hope each year will be a boon,
And don't forget the honeymoon."

"Friend, thus I wish pure joys and rare
And trust your days will ever be fair,
May heaven smile on you, kind friend,
And choicest blessings to you send."

"Kind friend, why wear that knowing smile?
No sweet, you know, to put on here?"
"I'll tell you what, good neighbor John,
My hugs are fat, and no 'ten' on."

"What makes your step so quick and light,
Your hand so warm and eye so bright?"
"I've been to Martin Blackwell's store,
Where things are cheaper than before."

"And what makes Milton Burns so quick,
And John A. Baker ever on deck,
And Martin always at his stand?"
"Because good times are close at hand."

"What makes the farmer 'all the go'?"
"Because the Editor doth know,
To manage business 'on the square,'
And to live to all a deal quite fair."

I hope these lines will please you all,
Another time I'll give you call,
And in my next I'll tell you more,
So now you may please shut the door.

W. C. Heintz, Covington, Dr. E. B. Paine, Mandeville, the druggists, will tell you that no one is better qualified to judge of the merits of an article than the dealer, because he bases his opinion on the experience of all who use it. For this reason they wish us to publish the remarks of other dealers about an article which they handle. Messrs. C. P. Moore & Co. Newberg, Ore., says: "We sell more of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than all others put together, and it always gives good satisfaction."

Mr. F. Allen, Fox, Ore., says: "I believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be the best I have handled." Mr. W. H. Hitchcock, Columbus, Wash., says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy sells well and is highly praised by all who use it."
