A Good Kansas Story.

The following true Kansas story is from the Kansas City Journal: Many years ago when Gen. Archie Williams was attorney general of Kansas he had occasion to make a trip East and borrowed an annual pass over an Illinois road from an old friend, Jack Smith. It happened that the conductor in Illinois was a former schoolmate of his and recognized him, but Williams did not recognize the conductor. "Mr. Smith," said the conductor, after working his train and returning to have a chat with his passenger from Kansas, "I see you are from Topeka. Did you ever know a man out there by the name of Archie Williams?" "Yes, I knew him very well," responded Smith after struggling hard to regain his composure and steady his nerve. "Yes, Williams is considerable of a fellow out there; he's attorney general of the State." "Who, Williams? Attorney general? Well, I'll be d—d!" ejaculated the conductor. "What kind of people are they out there in Kansas to elect a chucklehead like that for attorney general? Why, sir, I used to know Williams back here in Illinois—grew up with him so might say—and of all the dundie-pated, slab-sided, step-on-himself-and-fall-over-fellows you ever saw, Williams was the worst. That man attorney general? Why! if you'll believe me, Mr. Smith, he didn't know law enough to wad a shotgun. He was run out of here!" "Stop it! Stop it!" yelled Williams springing to his feet. "There is your blankety blank Smith pass; take it up and collect fare if you want to, but you can't abuse me any longer!"

Philosophical Johnny.

Little Johnny had been gazing thoughtfully at his book of animal pictures when he suddenly called out:
"Say, pa, does it cost much to feed a lion?"
"Yes."
"How much?"
"Oh, a lot of money."
"A wolf would make a good meal for a lion, wouldn't it, pa?"
"Yes, I guess so."
"And a fox would be enough for the wolf, wouldn't it?"
"Yes, yes."
"And a fox could make a meal off a hawk, eh, pa?"
"I suppose so."
"And the hawk would be satisfied with a sparrow?"
"Of course."
"And a big spider would be a good meal for a sparrow, wouldn't it, pa?"
"Yes, yes."
"And a fly would be enough for the spider?"
"Sure."
"And a drop of molasses would be all the fly would want, wouldn't it?"
"Oh, stop your chatter."
"But wouldn't it, pa?"
"Yes."
"Well, pa, couldn't a man keep a lion more'n a year on a pint of molasses?"
But just at this point it was discovered that it was time for little Johnny to go to bed.

Something That Will Do You Good.

We know of no way in which we can be of more service to our readers than to tell them of something that would be of real good to them. For this reason we want to acquaint them with what we consider one of the very best remedies on the market for coughs, colds, and that alarming complaint, croup. We refer to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. We have used it with such good results in our family so long that it has become a household necessity. By its prompt use we have no doubt but that has time and again prevented croup. This testimony is given upon our own experience, and we suggest that our readers, especially those who have small children, always keep it in their homes as a safe guard against croup.—Camden (S. C.) Messenger. For sale by V. H. Frederick, druggist.

George T. Angell, in Our Dumb Animals, says:
"Dr. Edward Everett Hale never said in his whole life a truer word than recently, this: 'We have a secretary of war—what we want now is a secretary of peace.'
"That is precisely what is wanted to-day for the good of our country and the world.
"A secretary of peace,' with a liberal congressional appropriation, and whose duty it shall be, to the utmost of his ability, through our colleges and schools and in every other possible way to promote measures for the prevention of wars, and to hasten the coming of peace on earth and good will to every harmless living creature, both human and dumb."
Mayor Low has decided that it is good politics not to insist on a too rigid enforcement of the Sunday law. New Yorkers will have their "refort" in homeopathic doses only.
Mr. Wheeler Got Rid of His Rheumatism.
"During the winter of 1898 I was so lame in my joints, in fact all over my body, that I could hardly hobble around, when I bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. From the first application I began to get well, and was cured and have worked steadily all the year."
