Political Qualifications Required.

Many parties and committees are discussing the political qualifications of a voter in the coming primary. It is easy and simple. The State committee fixed the rule and the law was followed, as it is written. It is not a white primary, but a Democratic primary, and its nominees will be entitled to the party emblem. Where the question of the right of a man to vote occurs if he is registered and has paid his poll taxes, the following oath is administered by one of the commissioners. If he can qualify under this oath, he votes. If not his vote is rejected: "I, _____ do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I am a white Democrat; that at the last State or Congressional election in which I participated I voted for the Democratic candidates who may be selected at the primary election, or at a subsequent one, should such become necessary by a failure to nominate at the primary election, so help me God."

This affidavit shall be attached to the ballot which shall be deposited in the ballot box.

Wonderful Nerve.

Is displayed by many a man enduring pains of accidental Cuts, Wounds, Bruises, Burns, Scalds, Sore Feet or stiff joints. Put there's no need for it. Bucklen's Arnica Salve will kill the pain and cure the trouble. It's the best Salve on earth for piles, too. 25c. at the City Drug Store, J. L. Watkins, proprietor.

An Extended Paradox.

Some years ago there was a small branch railroad that ran one train a day from Reading to Slatington, the heart of the Pennsylvania Dutch country.

One morning when to everyone's surprise the train had been on time for three consecutive days, an old Pennsylvania Dutch market woman climbed aboard, deposited her basket on the floor of the car, and turned to give up her ticket to the conductor. She was a regular passenger, and he greeted her with a cheer "good-mornin'."

"Good-mornin', Benny," she replied "say, Benny!"

"Yes?"

"'Vot was it happened? You was early of late. You used to be behind before; now you was first at last." — Philadelphia Ledger.

Saved from Terrible Death.

The family of Mrs. M. L. Bobbitt of Bargarzet, Tenn., saw her dying and were powerless to save her. The most skillful physicians and every remedy used, failed, while consumption was slowly but surely taking her life. In this terrible hour Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption turned despair into joy. The first bottle brought immediate relief and its continued use completely cured her. It's the most certain cure in the world for all throat and lung troubles. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free, at the City Drug Store, J. L. Watkins, proprietor.

Domestic Troubles.

It is exceptional to find a family where there are no domestic troubles occasionally, but these can be lessened by having Dr. King's New Life Pills around. Much trouble they save by their great work in Stomach and Liver troubles. They not only relieve you, but cure. 35c. at the City Drug Store, J. L. Watkins, proprietor.

Dave.

That's his name. Just a horse, but he is one in a thousand. It is not his name, nor his size, nor his strength, nor his beauty that makes him so different from the other 999. It is his spirit. When under the saddle or hitched to a vehicle he will travel all day at an astonishing speed, with head and tail lifted proudly and at every opportunity he will dance and prance to the admiration and wonder of all beholders. Not long ago he met with a serious accident to one of his feet, an accident that would have disabled for a long time, if not permanently, an ordinary animal—but not Dave.

He refused to admit his injury, but stepped as firmly and proudly on that foot as on the others, to the amazement of the surgeon.

We do not suppose Dave is a Christian Scientist, but he certainly demonstrated in a wonderful degree the power of mind or spirit over matter.

The average man has about the same spirit as a rabbit. When the whisky devil grows, he runs.

When the boodling politician threatens, he hunts cover.

The man who never knows when he is beaten, and whose enthusiasm for his work increases with its difficulties, is a leader and a winner.

Andrew Jackson, "Old Hickory," the Hero of New Orleans, a man of magnificent nerve and indomitable will, never surrendered. His motto—"Till all is done, nothing is done"—won success time and again, when defeat seems assured.

Dave is only a horse, but he has a splendid spirit. Maybe he has the "horse sense" we have heard about. It wouldn't hurt most of us if we had a little more of it in our own personalities, or if we should steadily strengthen our stock of sense and spirit.

Dave is a sure enough horse and lives in Covington. He is owned by Poole Bros., the livery men. An acquaintance with him is an inspiration.

Cows and Their Product.

At the New Jersey Experiment Station during the past five years they kept an account of the cost of producing milk.

They had twenty-five to thirty-five cows on hand all the time. The average yield per cow was 6,479 pounds of milk.

The average cost of the cow per day was 12 1-3 cents, or more closely stating it, 12.32 cents.

The cows received 6.11 cents worth of feed per day that had been raised on the farm.

They also received 6.21 cents worth of feed which cost the cash paid out.

The average cost of each quart of milk was 2.38 cents, or 9.52 cents per gallon.

Alice Rides Astride.

Miss Alice Roosevelt has discarded the side-saddle and conventional riding habit and now rides in a divided skirt. The announcement that she was receiving instructions in the new style riding caused a flutter among the conservative Washingtonians, but the President's daughter and Mrs. Rider, her teacher, now pass through the park-mounted astride without causing unusual comment. Miss Mason, daughter of former Senator Mason, of Illinois, was the first woman prominent in Washington society to adopt the more natural style of riding.

Two men were disputing over churches. One was a Methodist and the other a Baptist. Finally one of them called to a neighbor who was passing by and asked his opinion as to which was the only church in which to be saved.

"Well, neighbors," said he "son and I have been hauling wheat to mill nigh on forty years. Now there are two roads leading to the mill. One's the valley road and the other takes over the hill. Sometimes I go one and sometimes t'other. And never yet friends has the miller asked me which road I took, but he always asks: 'Is your wheat good?'" —E.
