Remember while it's cheap, to get some of that good Alfalfa. Another carload arrived this week. J. A. Domergue & Co.

When business is dull is the time to advertise, and the bigger the better. There is nothing like a big and showy advertisement to stir up business and cause the manager and clerks to get busy.

Winter has come at last. There was frost and thin ice Tuesday morning. The cool, bracing weather is causing everybody to feel better, after the unseasonably warm winter weather we have had.

Bring the children to the Macy Concert at Amusement Hall next Wednesday night. A high-class entertainment at a low price.

Who was that asking about rock salt? J. A. Domergue & Co. have it.

We understand that Covington has gone dry for the past two Sundays, and liquid refreshments were not to be had at any price. This is an innovation to visitors from the city.

NOTICE—All complimentary tickets of The Amusement Co. will be suspended on the night of January 30, 1907.

Patecock, the tailor, will make you a suit to order, or if you wish a ready-made suit he will sell you one and make any necessary alterations free of charge.

The Industrial Institute Liquidators' meeting was held last Monday, according to notice, and they were authorized to advertise the land and improvements for sale at public auction, within the next twenty days.

FARMERS wanting to dispose of syrups, write WOGAN BROS., New Orleans.

Mardi Gras is near at hand, and the event should be appropriately celebrated in Covington. At least we should have a grand reception and masquerade ball, to be in keeping with the times. Many will go to the city; but can't get away should get busy in perfecting their arrangements for a grand time.

Sheriff Brewster's report for the last quarter was one of the best made by any sheriff in the State, which is the record he has made in previous years, and one which reflects credit upon him and the able management of his office as Sheriff and Tax Collector.

Horrah! Horrah! what's all right? Dinky and Hunk! what, and all other feed, at J. A. Domergue & Co.
