

Medicine of Bamboo Sap.
In India the sap of the female bamboo tree is used for medicinal purposes. "Tabasheer" or "banslochan" is sold in all Indian bazars, as it has been known from the earliest times as a medicinal agent. It is also known in Borneo, and was an article of commerce with early Arab traders of the east. Its properties are said to be strengthening, tonic and cooling. It has been analyzed and has been shown to consist almost entirely of silica, with traces of lime and potash. From its remarkable occurrence in the hollows of bamboos the eastern mind has long associated it with miraculous powers.

CUP THAT CHEERS

TEA REQUIRES MUCH CARE IN THE MAKING.

Delicious Beverage Is Too Often Spoiled by Careless Handling—Right Way to Prepare Cocoa and Chocolate—Vanilla Flavoring.

To Make Tea.—Scald the pot and never place it over the fire. A china, granite, or earthen pot is the best. Allow one teaspoonful of tea to a pint of boiling water. Add the tea to the hot pot, pour on the boiling water and cover with a tea basket or cozy, as anything that will keep the heat in the pot while it is steeping is desirable. The infusion will always be heavier at the bottom of the pot, which makes it better to stir the tea before pouring, or the first cup will be weak and the last too strong. Boiled tea is very injurious, more so than boiled coffee, as it is rich in tannin.
Cocoa and chocolate are made from the cocoa bean. These are ground, mixed with sugar, and frequently arrow root and starch. To some preparations cinnamon or vanilla is added. Chocolate is made from the bean, but contains a much larger proportion of fat than the cocoa products. The fat obtained from the cocoa bean is cocoa butter. Cocoa and chocolate differ from tea and coffee, as they contain nutriment as well as stimulant. Theobromine, the active principle, is very much like caffeine and theine in its composition and effects.
As cocoa and chocolate contain starch it makes boiling a necessity in the preparation. If milk is added and boiled with the cocoa it is less digestible. Both chocolate and cocoa should be boiled in water and the milk simply scalded and added last. Good cocoa should be reddish brown, very fine and free from fat. Cocoa when boiled in water with scalded milk and whipped cream added is more digestible than chocolate, although chocolate would be still more digestible if it were made with water and used without cream.
A cup of chocolate with a piece of whole wheat bread makes a good breakfast for a school child.
To Make Cocoa.—Moisten four teaspoonfuls of cocoa with four tablespoonfuls of hot water, stir until smooth, then add half a pint of boiling water, bring to the boiling point, then add two tablespoonfuls of sugar and half a cupful of good milk. Take from the fire and add a few drops of vanilla, if liked. Serve at once with whipped cream.
To Make a Pot of Chocolate.—Put four ounces of chocolate in a double boiler and allow it to melt; then add a quart of boiling water and stir constantly until the water in the boiler boils for five minutes. Add a quart of scalded milk and beat well with an egg beater. Serve plain or with whipped cream. A drop or two of cinnamon or half a teaspoonful of vanilla may be added if desired.

How to Make Prune Pie.
Prune pie can be made now with a little lemon peel to give it flavor. Grate the peel and stone the prunes. Raisin pie is nice, and dates even can be made into our great American dish. Long before cherries are here nice pies can be made from canned cherries. And canned currants make a pie—that one never gets nowadays, somehow. Yet why not? Currants grow, and are brought to Philadelphia markets in generous amounts; yet they are only used sparingly for currant jelly. Currant jam is delicious for little tarts. Spiced currants are fine. The trouble is that currants come when city housekeepers have already gone, and so none are put up. From the strawberries that are preserved in the spring to the autumn fruits there is a long gap—Philadelphia Lodger.

To Make Indian Muffins.
Sift and mix together a pint and a half of yellow Indian meal and a handful of flour. Melt a quarter of a pound of fresh butter in a quart of milk. Beat four eggs very light and stir into them alternately (a little at a time of each) the milk when it is quite cold, and the meal, adding a small teaspoonful of salt. The whole must be beaten long and hard.
Have the muffin rings buttered and heated before pouring the batter into them for baking. Send the muffins to the table hot and split them with the fingers for eating, as cutting with a knife will make them heavy. Eat with butter, molasses or honey.
Swiss Steak.
Get a round steak, about three inches thick; salt, pepper and flour it; take a meat pounder and keep pounding the flour in for about half an hour; use just as much flour as can be pounded in the meat. Put butter in pan, and after it gets hot put meat in and brown on both sides; then add hot water and let cook slowly, closely covered. Keep adding water until tender. If onions are liked, boil six or eight onions in salt water until tender. About 15 minutes before taking up the steak pour the onions with the liquid over the meat; cover and simmer.
Rice With Mutton.
Line a buttered baking dish with a wall of rice an inch in thickness. Fill the center with cold roast or boiled mutton, chopped small and freed from bone and gristle. Season to taste. Add a little onion juice and moisten with gravy. Cover with a layer of rice and bake, covered, in a moderate oven for half an hour. Then remove the cover, spread lightly with melted butter and let stay in the oven until delicately browned. Serve hot with a tomato sauce. Chicken or veal may be used instead of the mutton.
Orange Jumbles.
One-half cup butter, one cup sugar creamed together. Add one beaten egg, one-third cup of milk, one teaspoonful orange extract. Beat together, then stir in three cups of flour, in which has been sifted one teaspoonful of soda, two of cream tartar and a little salt. Roll on a floured board very thin, cut with a doughnut cutter, sprinkle with sugar and bake in a moderate oven.

HOW HE BROKE A RECORD.

Peak Last Jump from Forgotten Rubber Home Plate.

Billy Powell, greatest hurdler the west has produced, was referring to his college days on the Berkeley track.
"There were five in the race. I drew the extreme outside lane, which gave me a bad finish stretch. But I got a peach of a start, swept the curve like a yacht on her beam ends and came down the straight taking the jumps in beautiful style. I felt I had a varsity record in me at that clip, and I threw all my power into the final strides. Springing for the ninth hurdle I fairly flew through the air, and dashing to the finish, broke the tape, the world's record for the low hurdles, for the 220-yard, and for the running broad jump, the time being 21 flat, and my last jump over two hurdles at once, clearing 43 feet and some inches.
"Whew!" exclaimed Olie Snedigar, "why weren't the records ever allowed?"
"Well," continued Powell, "when they went to measure that leap, Col. Edwards started to shove his cane in, to indicate my foremost spike mark, and the stick jumped out of his hand. They scraped the short grass away and found a solid rubber home plate imbedded where the varsity battery used to practice."—San Francisco Chronicle.

A Sad Mistake.
In my father's native village lives Mr. S., a very old man. During the summer months he lets his spare rooms to some of the many pleasure-seekers who frequent the place, says a Boston Herald writer, and one day last summer, while Mr. S. was in his garden, a young man of the village chanced by, and the following conversation took place:
"Good morning, Mr. S."
"Maw'nin!"
"You've got your house full of boarders this summer."
Mr. S. was picking potato bugs off from his plants, but he managed to stop long enough to answer, "Yes."
"Some nice looking young ladies among them," continued the young man.
Mr. S. stood up and eyed the potatoebugger critically, then answered:
"Well, they'd ought to look purty good. I just picked two quarts of bugs off 'em."
Hard to Realize.
"Mother," said a college student who had brought his chum home for the holidays, "permit me to present my friend, Mr. Specknoodle."
His mother, who was a little hard of hearing, placed her hand to her ear.
"I'm sorry, George, but I didn't quite catch your friend's name. You'll have to speak a little louder, I'm afraid."
"I say, mother," shouted George, "I want to present Mr. Specknoodle."
"I'm sorry, George, but Mr. — what was the name again?"
"Mr. Specknoodle!" George fairly yelled.
The old lady shook her head sadly.
"I'm sorry, George, but I'm afraid it's no use. It sounds just like Specknoodle to me."—Everybody's Magazine.

Plety.
In a recent number of a German magazine a writer offers a variant of the tale lately published in a book of children's true sayings, which relates how two small girls tried to sit on one stool, and one of them remarked: "If one of us was to get off the stool, there would be more room for me." The Teutonic version tells how a German sat by the bedside of his dying wife and murmured piously: "If it pleases the good God to take one of us, I shall go to Berlin."

Famous Moslem Bell.
On the watch tower of the Vela, at the Alhambra, Spain, there is a shivered bell which the Moslems used to ring as a signal to let on the water in the gardens and the fountain in the city below. Its sound can be heard at Liga, 39 miles away. The maiden who strikes it to-day is sure of a husband before the year is out, and of a good one if she rings loud enough. On certain festive days it is lively for the bell.
Fine-Looking Royal Couple.
The king and queen of Denmark are indeed a regal-looking couple. King Frederick is a giant in stature, while his consort is the tallest royal woman in Europe. She is also the richest, having inherited a great deal of property from her father, the late King Charles of Sweden, besides the immense fortune of her mother, who was one of the richest heiresses of the nineteenth century. Her majesty is deeply religious.

CHILDREN SHOWED IT
Effect of Their Warm Drink in the Morning.
"A year ago I was a wreck from coffee drinking and was on the point of giving up my position in the school room because of nervousness.
"I was telling a friend about it and she said, 'We drink nothing at meal time but Postum Food Coffee, and it is such a comfort for having something we can enjoy drinking with the children.'
"I was astonished that she would allow the children to drink any kind of coffee, but she said Postum was the most healthful drink in the world for children as well as for older ones, and that the condition of both the children and adults showed that to be a fact.
"My first trial was a failure. The cook boiled it four or five minutes and it tasted so flat that I was in despair but determined to give it one more trial. This time we followed the directions and boiled it fifteen minutes after the boiling began. It was a decided success and I was completely won by its rich delicious flavor. In a short time I noticed a decided improvement in my condition and kept growing better and better month after month, until now I am perfectly healthy, and do my work in the school room with ease and pleasure. I would not return to the nerve-destroying regular coffee for any money."

A WONDERFUL GAIN.

A Utah Pioneer Tells a Remarkable Story.

J. W. Browning, 1011 22d St., Ogden, Utah, a pioneer who crossed the plains in 1848, says:
"Five years ago the doctors said I had diabetes. My kidneys were all out of order, I had to rise often at night, looked sallow, felt dull and listless and had lost 40 pounds. My back ached and I had leg pains. I was suffering from rheumatism and dizziness. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me of these troubles and have kept me well for a year past. Though 75 years old, I am in good health."

Great Cricketer's Simple Tribute to His Own Worth.
In 1885 there was a great celebration in London in honor of Dr. Samuel Johnson, and among those in attendance was the Australian "crack" cricketer, Bonner, then at the height of his fame.
As one of the guests, says the compiler of the recently published "Letters" of the late Dr. George Birkbeck Hill, Bonner's health was proposed. His response was noteworthy.
"After seeing the way in which Dr. Johnson's memory is revered," he said, with great simplicity, "I am not sure that I would not rather have gained my own greatest triumph in cricket."

SORES AS BIG AS PENNIES.
Whole Head and Neck Covered—Hair All Came Out—Cured in Three Weeks by Cuticura.
"After having the measles my whole head and neck were covered with scaly sores about as large as a penny. They were just as thick as they could be. My hair all came out. I let the trouble run along, taking the doctor's blood remedies and rubbing on salve, but it did not seem to get any better. It stayed that way for about six months; then I got a set of the Cuticura Remedies, and in about a week I noticed a big difference, and in three weeks it was well entirely and I have not had the trouble any more, and as this was seven years ago, I consider myself cured. Mrs. Henry Porter, Albion, Neb., Aug. 25, 1906."

Where He Met Him.
He was one of those smart men who like to show their cleverness.
"Watch me take a rise out of him," he said, as the tramp approached. Then he listened solemnly to the tale of hard luck.
"That's the same old story you told me the last time you accosted me," he said, when the vagrant had finished.
"Is it?" was the answering question.
"When did I tell it to you?"
"Last week."
"Mebbe I did, mebbe I did," admitted the tramp. "I'd forgotten meeting you. I was in jail all last week."

Royal Scion Does Good Work.
The duke of Abruzzi, now a visitor in this country, pronounces it as though it were spelled "Ah-broo-tee-zee," with the accent on the second syllable. Although only 34 years old, he has done a deal of hard work and has had many hazardous experiences. He is the son of a Spanish king who abdicated under pressure. The son early in life took service in the Italian navy. Then he went in for exploration and mountaineering and in such pursuits has traveled all over the world. The duke has written acceptably of his wanderings and has won honors for several scientific societies.

In Hard Luck Indeed.
She—He has a most extraordinary figure, hasn't he?
He—That's so. I believe an umbrella is about the only thing he can buy ready made.
Identified.
"Your man," said the promoter of a feast, "is a 'has been.'"
"And yours," retorted the whipper-in for the rival show, "is a 'never was.'"
Thus, by a chance bit of repartee, was the identity of the stellar attractions made clear enough.

EACH HAD WEDDING PRESENT.

Mutual Surprise in Confidences Following Marriage.

Last Christmas a middle-aged typewriter worker married a widow whose acquaintance he had made but a few weeks before while working some little distance away from home.
"Sarrah," he said, nervously, after the guests had departed, "I have a wedding present for you."
"What is it, John?" said Sarrah with a smirk.
"I 'ope ye won't be fended, Sarrah," said John, more agitated than ever, "but it is—er—er—it is five of 'em."
"Five children?" asked Sarrah.
"Five children!" blurted out John, desperately, anticipating a scene. "I didn't tell ye I 'ad children—five of 'em!"
Sarrah took the news calmly; in fact she appeared relieved.
"Oh, well, John," she said, "that do make it easier for me to tell ye. Five is not so bad as me, whatever. Seven I 'ave got!"
"What!" howled John.
"Seven," repeated Sarrah, composedly. "That is my wedding present to ye, John."—Ladies' Home Journal.

MOTHERHOOD
The first requisite of a good mother is good health, and the experience of maternity should not be approached without careful physical preparation, as a woman who is in good physical condition transmits to her children the blessings of a good constitution.
Preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from native roots and herbs, more successfully than by any other medicine because it gives tone and strength to the entire feminine organism, curing displacements, ulceration and inflammation, and the result is less suffering and more children healthy at birth. For more than thirty years
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standby of American mothers in preparing for childbirth. Notwithstanding Mrs. James Chester of 427 W. 35th St., New York says in this letter:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I wish every expectant mother knew about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A neighbor who had learned of its great value at this trying period of a woman's life urged me to try it and I did so, and I cannot say enough in regard to the good it did me. I recovered quickly and am in the best of health now.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly a successful remedy for the peculiar weaknesses and ailments of women. It has cured almost every form of Female Complaints, Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation, Ulcerations and Organic Diseases of Women and is invaluable in preparing for Childbirth and during the Change of Life.
