SHE BEAT HER RESCUER.

Saved Her Life but Spoiled Her Marketing.

It happened in Harlem, says the New York Press. An old woman carrying a basket of groceries started across the street just as a trolley car came along at a clip that would have made a stop within ten car lengths apparently an impossibility. The old woman possibly was deaf, for she walked to the center of the tracks, and the motorman evidently hadn't thought she would do it, for he made no effort to check his car until the old woman stopped. Knowledge of her position suddenly burst upon her but she couldn't move, and the car was so close by this time that her death appeared inevitable.

Whether he had a more powerful brake than ordinary or such superhuman strength that he was able to accomplish what didn't seem possible, but at any rate the motorman brought his car to a sudden stop within a foot of the old woman. So sudden was it that passengers were jerked from their seats and the brake handle was so far out, and the motorman, with both hands on it, had leaned so far forward that he was tumbled over the dashboard and fell on the woman he had saved.

The old woman was knocked to her hands and knees, but not injured by the motorman's fall, and the motorman, too, escaped even a bruise, but crushed the basket of groceries beneath his weight. The old woman saw this first, her precious eggs, meat and vegetables ruined in the dirt, and scrambling to her feet, she made violently for the man who had saved her life but destroyed the family fodder. Rattled and dazed he ducked her clawing fingers, and ran twice around the car with her in wild pursuit before a man on the street stopped laughing long enough to seize the belligerent old lady and enable the motorman to jump on the platform, turn on the power and escape the fury.

"I guess she wouldn't have been so fighting mad if I'd killed her," was the way the motorman described it in speaking of the reward she had given him for saving her from death.

Pneumatic Tube Story.

An aged colored man who had business in the Baltimore News office ambled into the editorial rooms—yes, ambled in the world. He sat for several minutes gazing at the pneumatic tube stations set up like horns of an orchestra at the desks of the city and telegraph editors. There was a buzzing sound as a copy boy pulled a lever, and the old man smiled, as if expecting something pleasant, then took on a look of disappointment. A few minutes later the boy sent another piece of copy whirling upstairs, and again the visitor's expression passed from anticipation to disappointment, then bewilderment. Finally he accosted the telegraph editor:

"Scuse me, sah, but mout I ax yo' what dem things is?"

Certainly he might and was enlightened.

"Well, I 'clah t' goodness!" he exclaimed; "I thought dey was some sort o' music box t' entertain yo' gemmens whilst yo' worked!"

The Voice Admired.

The voice that is heard without raising the natural speaking tones is the well-modulated voice which impresses one with its calm and its sincerity.

Train the ear to recognize pleasant-sounding, agreeable voices and listen to your own critically.

A shrill, parrot-like voice makes the most beautiful woman a trying companion.

Just as the touch of a woman's hand should be a warm caress, so should her voice fall upon the ear with pleasantness.

A course of instruction in vocal culture will create a decided change many times, but a vast improvement may be found in deep breathing and careful attention.

Past talking and loud talking ruin the voice.

It is the well-poised woman who receives the admiration and respect.

Nature Fake.

Ants are really very long-lived, considering their minuteness. A naturalist had two minutes under observation for ten years and one of Sir John Lubbock's ant pets lived into her fifteenth year. Ants are very tenacious of life after severe injury. Following the loss of the entire abdomen they sometimes live two weeks, and in one case a headless ant, carefully decapitated by aseptic surgery, lived for 41 days. A carpenter ant, after being submerged eight days in distilled water, came to life upon being dried, so that they are practically proof against drowning. They can live long periods without food; in one case the last lasted nearly nine months.

When the Heart is Touched.

It is an exquisite and beautiful thing in our nature that when the heart is touched and softened by some tranquil happiness or affectionate feeling the memory of the dead comes over it most powerfully and irresistibly. It would seem as though our better thoughts and sympathies were charms, in virtue of which the soul is enabled to hold some vague and mysterious intercourse with the spirits of those whom we dearly loved in life.—Dickens.

"I'm an American citizen now," triumphantly announced the Irish artist, who has been over only a little while. "I renounced my allegiance to the king one day last week."

"I didn't know the Irish owned up to any allegiance to the king," said he.

"I mean," he corrected, "that I renounced my right to throw a bomb at him."

Hans Tooted.

"But, Gretchen," protested the dignified mistress, "you should be more dignified and not call your fiance 'tootie.'"

"But he was a 'tootie,'" replied Gretchen, blushing all the way up to the roots of her flaxen hair.

"How do you make him a 'tootie'?"

"Why, you see, ma'am, he blows der biggest horn in der German band."

SETTING THE BRIDE AT EASE.

"Widder's" Sympathy Went Out to Fellow Passenger.

A couple recently married had just entered the train that was to bear them to the mountains on their honeymoon, when they became aware of the close scrutiny of them by a female passenger, who had evidently "spotted" a bride and groom. The young wife, on opening her handbag, let fall some rice on the floor, and the woman smiled. The other passengers regarded the couple with interest. Seeing that the bride was every moment becoming more flushed and uncomfortable by reason of their scrutiny, the woman in the goodness of her heart, leaned across the carriage.

"Never mind, my dear!" she said. "I'm a widder now, but by this time next week I'll be in the same fix myself!"

NO RELIEF FROM ECZEMA

For Over Two Years—Patent Medicines, Quack Cures and Doctors Fail—Cuticura Succeeds.

"I was very badly afflicted with eczema for more than two years. The parts affected were my limbs below the knees. I tried all the physicians in the town and some in the surrounding towns, and I also tried all the patent remedies that I heard of, besides all the cures advised by old women and quacks, and found no relief whatever until I commenced using the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent. In the Cuticura Remedies I found immediate relief, and was soon sound and well. C. V. Beltz, Tippecanoe, Ind., Nov. 15, '05."

Depends on the Dogs.

Asa Goddard, of the American Automobile association, was recounting in Worcester some of his touring adventures.

"One summer morning," he said, "the approach of a great flock of sheep obliged me to pull off the narrow country road. I halted my car, and watched with interest the passage of the sheep, the intelligent dogs and the shepherd."

"I had a short talk with the shepherd about his odd and difficult trade."

"Look here," I said, "what do you do, driving sheep like this on a narrow road, when you meet another flock coming in the opposite direction?"

"Well," said the shepherd, "ye just drive straight on, both of ye, and the one that has the best dogs gets the most sheep."

No, Not as a Rule.

George P. Angell, Boston's brilliant and powerful defender of animals from cruelty, was talking about nature faking.

"My friend, Will Long is no nature faker," he said, "but I admit that many of our myriad nature writers are. These men's idea of a lie seems too closely to resemble that of a little boy I know."

"The boy's teacher said from her desk one afternoon:

"I want every pupil who has never told a lie to hold up his hand."

"There was a doubtful pause. Two or three hands were raised. Then my little friend piped out:

"Teacher, is it a lie if nobody finds it out?"

Nathan Straus, an eastern philanthropist, has established in New York City a series of milk bottles where pure sterilized milk is sold to the poor for one cent a bottle. Absolute antiseptic cleanliness is required by him in all branches of the enterprise. In cleansing the milk bottles he uses two things—hot water and BORAX. The glistening bottles testify to the effectiveness of this method.

What Did She Mean?

Mrs. Armitage had a negro servant who continually prated of certain Mrs. Reed for whom she formerly worked. Weary of hearing Mrs. Reed quoted so often, the mistress asked one day:

"Well, Samantha, what kind of work did you do at Mrs. Reed's, anyway?"

"Well, honey, I cooked for huh, I did, an' I cleaned for huh, an' swep for huh, an' I washed huh pussoneal appearance!"—Lippincott's.

"Yes," snarled the eminent Oetopus who had just returned to him what Shakespeare sarcastically called "trash." ### SKIN DISEASES HUMORS IN THE BLOOD

When the blood is pure, fresh and healthy, the skin will be soft, smooth and free from blemishes, but when some acid humor takes root in the circulation its presence is manifested by a skin eruption or disease. These humors get into the blood, generally because of an inactive or sluggish condition of the members of the body whose duty it is to collect and carry off the waste and refuse matter of the system. This unhealthy matter is left to sour and ferment and soon the circulation becomes charged with the acid poison. The blood begins to throw off the humors and acids through the pores and glands of the skin, producing Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum and skin eruptions of various kinds. Eczema appears, usually with a slight redness of the skin followed by pustules from which there flows a sticky fluid that dries and forms a crust, and the itching is intense. It is generally on the back, breast, face, arms and legs, though other parts of the body may be affected. In Tetter the skin dries, cracks and bleeds; the acid in the blood dries up the natural oils of the skin, which are intended to keep it soft and pliant, causing a dry, feverish condition and giving it a hard, leathery appearance. Acne makes its appearance on the face in the form of pimples and black heads, while Psoriasis comes in scaly patches on different parts of the body. One of the worst forms of skin trouble is Salt Rheum; its favorite point of attack is the scalp, sometimes causing baldness. Poison Oak and Ivy are also disagreeable types of skin disease. The humor producing the trouble lies dormant in the blood through the Winter to break out and torment the sufferer with the return of Spring. The best treatment for all skin diseases is S. S. S. It neutralizes the acids and removes the humors so that the skin instead of being irritated and diseased, is nourished by a supply of fresh, healthy blood. External applications of salves, washes, lotions, etc., while they soothe the itching caused by skin affections, can never cure the trouble and forces out every particle of foreign matter and restores the blood to its normal, pure condition, thereby permanently curing every form of skin affection. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write. S. S. S. is for sale at all first class drug stores.
