FESTIVAL DAY.
Large Crowds Flock to Covington to Witness the Parade.

Contest for Most Popular Lady Won by Miss Eoudousquie, 10,930 to 8,974.

Thursday, November 5, the day set apart for the Park Festival and Entertainment for the raising of funds for the new town park, dawned with a clear, bright sun and a bracing atmosphere, after several days of threatening weather that frightened us with the possibility of failure instead of success.

By 11 o'clock the streets were thronged with strangers and townspeople who lined the thoroughfares on the route of the parade enthused with a desire to do honor to the occasion and to aid in the worthy endeavor for improvement.

The parade formed about 11:45 a. m. and marched over the chosen route in the following order:

 On the termination of the parade at the park an address of welcome was delivered by Mayor Richard, who then introduced Hon. Lewis L. Morgan as orator of the day. Mr. Morgan spoke appreciatively and commendatory of the efforts of the administration to advance the interests of Covington, and appealed to people to put their shoulders to the wheel, shove all together and force victory over all obstacles. He said that by co-operation only could the people expect to achieve success. Abolition of factionalism and the sacrifice of self-interest to the betterment of the whole community was the keynote to prosperous conditions and the upbuilding of the town. Mr. Morgan interspersed his address with some very humorous anecdotes to impress his arguments, and his remarks were warmly received and applauded.

At the close of Mr. Morgan's address Mayor Richard paid a very pretty compliment to the organization of Covington women, by stating that while he appreciated the praise bestowed by Mr. Morgan upon himself and the Council, he desired to note that the credit was due to the noble women who had entered so heartily into the effort to improve Covington, who had worked so hard and accomplished so much.

Immediately after the speaking and after the blessing of the Chemical and Hook and Ladder by Rev. W. Kooger, the christening took place. Mrs. William Boebender was sponsor for the Chemical Engine and her maids were Misses Seymour and Edna Champsang and Winnie White. The engine was christened "Covington's Pride," after which Mrs. Boebender read the following verses dedicated to the occasion:

It is burning metal of thy make—
 Each glistening part some glorious light
 It needs must follow in thy wake—
 Sheds out the hope we have in thee,
 Flashes the light of a newborn day,
 Turns the end of the world's way,
 Whis is thy breath and thy lurid glee.

Miss Jessie Evans was sponsor for Hook and Ladder. Her maids were Misses Anais Boudousquie, Anna Poole and Lu Lyons. The Hook and Ladder was christened "The Guardian." Their motto is, "Ever ready."

There were many features of the parade that added inspiration to the resolute and effective stand of the people for advancement and improvement. The Progressive Maidens Club, like little fairies fresh from the lily fields, waving flags of our beloved country, as they sat in their carriage, emblems of the pure and unselfish spirit that conquers the world for good and adds a gleam of light to the most darkened soul, was one. They were not idlers these pretty little maids, but workers and contributors to the fund that is to build our new park. Who could look upon them, that has not entered the fight, without a lessening of self-esteem?

The worthy little maids in question were: Marcellith Peppin, Beatrice Gribble; Hyacinth Richard, Isabel Poole, Madeline Planche, Olga Peppin, Marietta Alphonso, Lydia Kornfeld, Corinne Poole.

The hearty response of the Abita Fire Company and their unselfish assistance in making the parade a success, was another feature that could not add strength to the feeling that success finds assistance and effort its reward; and all felt like cheering as the brightly decorated truck passed by.

The new chemical engine was a pride to all, and the Covington Ladder No. 2, with its four little animated figures waving their flags made a handsome picture. The little ones were Elsie Etta Elchinger, Katie Seiler, Clair and Mirtle Mullally.

The sponsors of the maids of honor in their carriages formed a picture fair to see, and one that upholds Covington in her right to proud of her women not alone as factors in her advancement and upbuilding, but for beauty as well.

The appearance of Bucket Brigade No. 3 brought to memory the many hard fought battles and brave deeds of the Covington fire boys when the water-bucket was their only reliance. The merchant's decorated floats presented a fine appearance and were represented by Meek & McCormack, Leon Hebert, Hebert Bros., Jones & Pickett's Naval Store, E. Galmiche, L. Levy, Standard Oil, 5 and 10 Cent Store, Garcia, and Bourgeois.

Hebert's Apple Tree was probably the best float among the merchants. The Boulevard Barlequers, representing the B. B.'s, Co. No. 23, with their "field band" had a genuine "skidoo" engine with fire and smoke. An excellent imitation. They were as black as lamp black could make them.

The Cavalry boys made a fine showing and marched remarkably well considering the untrained horses. Capt. Alpuente has every reason to be proud of his company of troopers.

Among the curiosities of the parade was the first carriage ever used in Covington. It was put in the parade by C. M. Poole and son, and was in charge of Mr. Fontaine Poole. The various booths, Mr. Whit Riggs and Fox's legedomain entertainment, the wheel of fortune, the sack race, and various other features of entertainment, were a source of profit, as well as amusement and pleasure.

The shak that was fired for the test of the chemical engine was quickly extinguished, and proved that it would do efficient work in case of fire. The entertainment at Cantrelle's Hall was a grand success, and the assemblage in the hall was the largest it has ever held.

We will speak at length of this and other matters relating to the affairs of the day next week, as we have not the space in this issue, without too much sacrifice of other matter that should be published or delaying the publication of the paper.

Slidell Department

EDITED BY MRS. M. McDANIEL.

Sunday and All Saint's Day, a double holiday, was fittingly observed here. The cemeteries were beautiful with floral offerings. All nature seemed to lend her aid in beautifying the scene. Several new graves have been added to God's green acres since last All Saint's Day. Notably among those was the simple but artistically arranged grave of the late J. E. Guzman, whose accidental death caused such a shadow to come over the numerous relatives he had here.

Mrs. L. Ruchia and children, of New Orleans spent several days here with relatives. Mrs. Geo. Madison, of Pearlinton Miss., is visiting here and also inspecting the erection of her lovely new home on Robert St. which will be numbered among the nicest residences of our town.

Miss Arthimise Dubuisson, of Bonfouca spent Monday here the guest of her sister Mrs. L. Badon. Dr. P. R. Oultaw, accompanied by Master Jno. Murphy, witnessed Barnum and Bailey big show in New Orleans Saturday.

Among the social affairs of the past week was the surprise party tendered Miss Andry Vinyard at residence of her parents on the Bayou road. Quite a number of young folks were present and all report a merry time.

Mrs. Lizzie Talley entertained the Methodist Ladies Aid Thursday last, luncheon was served and quite a pleasant evening spent. A Halloween party took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Levy on Friday night, October 30, many of the young folks attended. Games were played; music and singing were the chief features of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Levy proved themselves loyal hosts.

Miss Ella Salmen attended the big show Saturday in New Orleans. A theatre party, composed of a number of our young people, witnessed the "Traitor" in New Orleans the past week. Mrs. Francis Hartman and little daughter, of Pearl River, spent Tuesday with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Pechon have the sympathy of their many friends in the severe illness of their little child. Mrs. J. G. Able returned from a pleasant trip to Columbia Junction Miss. Mrs. Lottie Guzman, of New Orleans, spent Sunday with relatives here.

Awaiting the returns of the election, a number of citizens enjoyed a sumptuous banquet at the Red Men's spacious hall. Mrs. B. P. Dunham and children took in the big show Saturday.

Mr. C. Cooper, of Sun La., was a visitor here the past week to attend the Southern Baptist Association. The many friends of Mrs. S. R. Reddin are delighted to learn of her complete recovery from her recent severe illness. Edward Liddle has returned from Chicago, whither he went as a delegate from the Tulane College Medical Students Fraternity to the national convention of the Phi Beta Pi Society. The convention of this order will meet next in New Orleans next year.

The recent Baptist convention held with the Slidell church, was the most interesting ever held, say the delegates from the New Orleans and other churches. There were ten ministers present and numerous delegates. The Association is to meet in New Orleans next October. Parish Assessor Thomas has completed the assessment of this town and the same shows the white citizens' property valued at $390,445, and colored at $17,396. A good showing for all.

An enjoyable and antique Halloween party was given Saturday night by Misses Dona Everitt, Enola O'Rourke and Gladys Liddle. There were games, ghosts, fortune tellers, lighted pumpkins, electric ghosts, lanterns, apple ducking and refreshments. There were cats, goblins, witches, and at the hour of twelve all the happy attendants departed for home with the evening to linger long in their memory.

The Knights of Maccabees have completed their organization and elected the following officers: Past grand commander, E. Elmo Bollinger; commander, Frank B. Richardson; lieutenant commander, Noeman Ellis; keeper of records, John H. Shepherd; chaplain, John Olivarie; Sergeant, Abraham Talley; Physician, Dr. P. R. Oultaw; master-at-arms, L. Collier; first guard master, James B. Howze; second guard master, N. P. Tippen; sentinel, Benjamin Houghton; picket, E. Levy. The tent was instituted and the officers were installed by State Commander M. S. Bulger. It is stated that this order contemplates taking the bonds of the town, which are to be voted on the 12th instant, for the building of the new $20,000 schoolhouse.

Mrs. L. A. Shelton and daughter Xenia, of New Orleans are the welcome guests of Mrs. Shelton's sister, Mrs. S. R. Reddin. Mrs. J. A. Bousquet is on the sick list at present. We hope for her early recovery. J. W. Cundall, the general secretary of Covington Naval Stores Co. was a business visitor here last Friday.

One of the grandest meetings that ever occurred in Slidell in the interest of education took place at the Red Men's hall Wednesday, Nov. 4, at 8 p. m. Posters were out several days in advance announcing that Harris, State Superintendent, would address the public. Opening address, Prof. R. S. Crishlowe, Song, America, the entire school. Prayer, W. G. Evans. Song, Slidell High School, composed by Prof. Crishlowe and rendered by the pupils. Supt. Harris was then introduced by Prof. Crishlowe and delivered an address such as our people have never been treated to before on the subject of education. He dwelt at length on the erection of the handsome new school building of the near future. For an hour he held the undivided attention of one of the largest audiences that ever attended a meeting here. The Red Men's hall, which is an immense building, was well crowded. Oh! the pride that swelled the heart of every true parent and citizen as two or three hundred boys and girls marched in ranks up to the front to take the seats reserved for them near the stage. Each child wore a badge of blue and white ribbon. The song, For Slidell School, Hurrah, was rendered with enthusiasm that spoke well for our future school. Great praise is due Prof. Crishlowe and the teachers for their untiring efforts to make the affair a success. That they succeeded was proven beyond a doubt. Supt. Harris won the love and esteem of our boys and girls by the comic stories he related to them which brought forth peals of laughter. What is sweeter than the clear happy laugh of a child? We hope to have the Superintendent with us again soon and also trust to greet him in the lovely new building which we are looking forward to with such great anticipation.
