BORN.—To Mrs. Jas. L. Reed, at Abita Springs, Monday May 3, 1909, a fine boy.

Call on Hainer, Alford Co., when in town. They will treat you right. We are successors of J. F. Doty.

Bring your watches, clocks, photographs and jewelry to Hainer, Alford Co., where it will be neatly and quickly repaired.

The regular meeting of the W. P. U. will be held at the residence of Mrs. Dr. B. Warren next Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

There is to be an entertainment and ball given by the Abita Mystic Club, at the pavilion at Abita Springs, May 15, at 8 o'clock, for the benefit of the pavilion fund. The admission will be 25 cents.

There was a meeting of Chemical No. 1, Sunday afternoon, at which the report of the Treasurer was read and accepted.

It was ordered to purchase fifty feet of new hose.

Plans for erecting an engine house on the Courthouse lot facing New Hampshire street will shortly be placed before the Police Jury for approval.

The pupils of Mrs. K. K. Flanders, entertained her at the residence of Mrs. Mathews last Friday evening. Games and other amusements afforded the pleasures of the evening. Refreshments were served.

In the guessing contest, Monroe Simmons was the winner.

Those present were: Geo. Sears, Jr., Felix Bacheman, Jr., Monroe Simmons, Sidney Burns, Logan Pigott, Eloi Girard, Geo. Smith, Geo. Caspenter, Sadie Pigott, Bertha Perreand, Irene Girard, Grace Blossman, Lucy Ray, Jeanne Blandin, Marion Watkins and Elmire Theriot.

Louisiana Bar Association

Announcement has just been made of the program prepared for the convention of the Louisiana Bar Association which is to be held at Alexandria, May 28 and 29. The feature of the convention will be a symposium on Revision. Practical issues are expected to follow the discussions and the broadening of the scope of the association since a special effort has been made to have the judges of all Louisiana courts as well as the practicing lawyers participate in the work of the convention. With this end in view, the Bar Association, the Code Commission and Governor Sanders have suggested to the judges of the State the wisdom of adjourning their courts during the meetings of the convention, and a majority have already agreed to do so.

At the suggestion of the Association, the Code Commission submitted subjects it deemed most worthy of study and discussion and the committee in charge drew largely upon these suggestions for its program. Some of the most learned and prominent lawyers in the State will lead the debates with short addresses.

Judge Eugene D. Saunders, of New Orleans, will discuss the question: "Should the laws requiring the convocation of family meetings for certain purposes be repealed, and if so what other proceedings, if any, should be substituted?"

Hon. J. E. Theus, of Monroe, will point out the laws that should be required to compel registry of changes in the title to real estate, when the title comes through a succession or through the community.

Hon. H. Garland Dupre will discuss the legal status of married women. The enlargement or contraction of the rights of illegitimate children will be discussed by Hon. H. H. Randolph, of Shreveport.

Hon. Joseph Blair, of New Orleans, will talk on Louisiana's community laws.

The divorce law of Louisiana is the subject allotted to Hon. M. H. Carver of Natchitoches.

A paper prepared by the late Hon. E. Howard McCabe on the subject, "Should the scope of transaction and compromise as fixed in the code be enlarged, and if so to what extent?" will be read by a friend of Mr. McCabe's.

For the first time in the history of the association the regular election of officers will be held in connection with the convention. It is also proposed to submit to the convention an amendment to the charter so as to increase the number of vice presidents from one to four, to be elected from the four supreme court districts of the State.

Specially low railroad rates have been obtained for the benefit of those who wish to attend the convention, and it is probable the gathering of prominent lawyers and judges will be the largest ever held in the State.

Hovace L. Bougere.

The remains of Horace L. Bougere, who died in San Francisco, April 25, 1909, were brought to Covington for burial Sunday morning and were accompanied by Miss Fannie Bougere, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Bougere, Of La Place; Dr. and Mrs. R. Murphy, of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Schmidt, Miss S. Helluin, relatives of the deceased.

A detachment of Troop C, of which deceased was formerly a member, escorted the remains to the Presbyterian Church, where Rev. J. M. Williams conducted the funeral ceremonies.

Interment took place in the Covington Cemetery. The pall bearers were: Claude Champagne, Percy Ventress, Numa Hebert, J. L. Smith, Lawrence White and John Robinson.

In accordance with the rites of military burial, three volleys were fired over the grave and taps sounded. Massive tributes of flowers covered the grave, and evidence of esteem and respect marked the last sad duties of the living to the dead.

Unveiling of Monument.

The unveiling of the monument of Sovereign J. A. Planche, of Violet Camp, W. O. W., occurred at the Covington Cemetery Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock. Holly Camp, of Covington, and Violet Camp, of Ramsay, participated in the ceremonies, members from Mandeville, Madisonville, Franklinton and Zona also being present. J. M. Rollins was master of ceremonies; Council Commander, H. H. Sudduth, of Holly Camp, and W. W. Ulmer, of Violet Camp. The oration was delivered by Past Council Commander J. B. Lancaster and was an able exposition of the usefulness and benefits of the order.

State Medical Association

Dr. J. F. Pigott and Dr. L. M. Thomson were delegates from St. Tammany Parish to the State Medical Convention in New Orleans.

Tuberculosis of the lungs was the principal topic of discussion at the afternoon session, the paper on the subject read by Dr. Wallace J. Durel, of New Orleans, having evoked considerable discussion. Dr. Durel declared that no ideal climate could be found for consumptive patients and that he did not consider climate indispensable in the treatment of tuberculosis. He placed emphasis on dietetic treatment, particularly condemning the practice of feeding unlimited supplies of milk or eggs, as overfeeding was as dangerous as a lack of nourishment. He considered fresh air next in importance, saying that patients should be in the open air at least from eighteen to twenty hours a day. Following the necessity for open air he considered rest the important requisite, and did not advise exercise in the early stages of treatment of severe cases, but as the patient improved exercise was necessary. He read statistics showing the success of the sanitarium in Covington in treating the disease and said there were no deaths recorded in the institution.

Dr. Durel said that he would consider medicine necessary, but admitted that in this connection tuberculin and creosote had been used with some success. He said the sending of patients to some climate supposed to be beneficial and telling them to do nothing but rest there should be considered as criminal malpractice.

Dr. Stork took issue with him on the benefits of climatic influences and said a good climate was a great help. He placed emphasis on dietetic treatment, particularly condemning the practice of feeding unlimited supplies of milk or eggs, as overfeeding was as dangerous as a lack of nourishment. He considered fresh air next in importance, saying that patients should be in the open air at least from eighteen to twenty hours a day. Following the necessity for open air he considered rest the important requisite, and did not advise exercise in the early stages of treatment of severe cases, but as the patient improved exercise was necessary. He read statistics showing the success of the sanitarium in Covington in treating the disease and said there were no deaths recorded in the institution.

Dr. McGhee commented on what he believed was a general slowness on the part of physicians to pronounce cases of tuberculosis. He said he thought it was due to kindness of heart more than anything else, but it was a mistake. In rebuttal to objections raised Dr. Durel read statistics to show that sanitariums located in climates supposed to be detrimental to the cure of the disease showed a larger per cent of cures than those in climates believed to be beneficial.

An interesting paper was read by Dr. S. K. Simons, of New Orleans, on the subject of "The Hyperacid Stomach." In which he ably discussed the various conditions of that organ in different stages of disorder.

Dr. C. C. Bass, of New Orleans, in discussing the "Diagnostic Value of Blood Examination," said there was an increasing demand for clinical laboratory diagnosis, not only among practicing physicians but among the laymen. He demonstrated practically, with the assistance of a brother physician, the best manner of obtaining drops of blood, and how easily they could be examined, particularly for the presence or absence of anemia, by comparing the blood with colored plates showing the various percentages of purity. Dr. Patton had something interesting to say on the subject.

In the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Louisiana—in the matter of Henry Q. Parker, bankrupt, No. 1271 in bankruptcy—All the creditors of Henry Q. Parker, of Tallisheek, La., adjudged a bankrupt on the 23d day of April, 1909, on his petition in the District Court of the United States for the Eastern District of Louisiana, are hereby notified that the first meeting of the creditors of the said bankrupt will be held before the undersigned Referee at his office, Room 308, Denegre Building, No. 219, Corondelet Street, New Orleans, La., on the 11th day of May, 1909, at the hour of 3 o'clock p. m.

Whereat said creditors shall present and prove their claims, elect a Trustee, and fix the amount of his bond; shall determine in what manner and at what time the property of the bankrupt's estate shall be sold, and shall take such other steps as are pertinent and necessary for the promotion of the best interest of the said estate, and shall do such other things as the law may require and as may be brought before them.

MEETING OF PRESS ASSOCIATION.

Dr. A. C. Gribble, of Covington, made an appeal for agitation of the question of comp's r. examination of the teeth of children attending the public schools.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, the Postoffice Department of the United States has adopted a policy of soliciting through advertisements and other means the printing of personal return cards on envelopes, selling them at a price which barely covers the cost of same, thereby coming into active competition with the printing industry of the United States, and

Resolved, that the Louisiana Press Association, in annual convention assembled, does hereby request the Senators and Congressmen of this State to use their influence and support in behalf of the bill now pending before Congress, with a view of prohibiting the Government from competition or interfering with the printing industry. Be it further

Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be furnished to each and every Congressman and Representative of this State;

That we heartily indorse the educational campaign now being carried on by the Louisiana Antituberculosis League, promising its support and assistance in the dissemination of information for the prevention of the spread of the white plague;

That we would ask the State Board to enforce a strict compliance with the law regarding the gathering of vital statistics in the country parishes.

The convention will meet in Opelousas in 1910.

After adjournment the members were taken for a carriage ride over the town by Mayor Richard.

About 100 persons were present at the banquet in the evening at the Southern Hotel. Secretary L. E. Bentley acted as toastmaster. Following were the speakers: "Local Folklore and History," Harvey E. Ellis; "The Southern Press," J. M. Rollins, of the Times-Democrat; "A Message from North Louisiana to South Louisiana," Robert Roberts, Jr., of the Minden Democrat; "The Future of Louisiana," Jas. M. Thompson, of the New Orleans Item. Hon. John Dymond, of the Sugar Planter, spoke of the "Ozone Belt," and concluded with a humorous speech in which he presented Judge W. T. Holland with an ozone belt in blue with immense buckles and ozone belt in large gilt letters surrounding it. As Judge Holland had been looking for the "Ozone Belt" since his arrival in Covington, much merriment resulted from the presentation, as well as from the apt and impromptu response of the ever ready and humorous Hon. John Dymond, who with laughter and applause, and induced Mr. Bentley to remark that he would leave it to anyone if Judge Holland was not entitled to the belt.

Mayor Richard responded to the toast, "Health Conditions in the Ozone Belt from Personal Experience." While he had prepared an address on another subject, in consideration of the importance of letting all know of the wonderful curative properties of our atmospheric climate, he made the following remarks: Members of the Louisiana Press Association, Ladies and Gentlemen. As Mayor of the town of Covington I feel as though I owe you an apology for not being here yesterday, at the opening of your session. It was not that I did not care to be with you, but due to illness in my family as well as personal indisposition. I found that it was impossible for me to do so.

Some eight or ten years since I applied for medical care in the Ozone Belt, and I have never since been ill. I have not only been able to do my work, but to no avail. Finally, after consulting with the best talent, I was sent to Asheville, N. C., where they claimed I might be benefited. I remained in Asheville, under the most eminent physicians of North Carolina, but at the end of seven months the doctor, realizing he could do nothing for me, ordered me back to New Orleans. My people, ever persevering, decided to call on Dr. Matas, and he with others decided that by going to Covington it might prolong my life.

I was at once taken to Covington, where immediately I began to improve until today, when I am myself again. I invite those who like myself and are afflicted with tuberculosis to come to Covington, and they too will reap the same benefits.

I express my sincerity and loyalty to a community where not only the virtue of pure and wholesome water, but only the virtue of pure and invigorating atmosphere, but also where the true and kind hospitality of a people had equally contributed. I end by wishing that the ladies and gentlemen of the Press Association in returning to their homes and to their people may carry with them happy and pleasant recollections of Covington and St. Tammany Parish.

Battleship Mississippi.

New Orleans, May 7.—The United States first-class battleship Mississippi, one of the newest, largest and most formidable in the United States Navy, of 14,000 tons displacement, and drawing 26 feet of water, entered the Southwest Pass yesterday morning at daylight, passed Quarantine at 8:10 o'clock, stemmed the powerful current in the Mississippi River at a rate of 15 miles an hour, and anchored at the Jackson Street wharf at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

"We passed through the Jetties, ascended the river and anchored at the New Orleans wharf this afternoon without a hitch."

This brief message, in substance, went to the War Department at Washington last night from Captain John C. Fremont, Commander of the Mississippi, as his official report. The telegram from Captain Fremont, without his knowing it, was a complete vindication of the local commercial bodies and public-spirited citizens who argued with the War Department that the Mississippi could ascend the river with ease and safety, when it was first announced that she would receive the silver service at Horn Island, outside the gulf, because of the alleged danger of bringing her up the river.

That was one of the chief points of interest to the entry of the grim fighting machine. Bigger ships have entered the Passes and come to New Orleans. The battleship Louisiana is considerably larger, but the Department at Washington seemed to have some apprehension about sending the Mississippi up the river. Yesterday's performance vindicates the position assumed by the local people, and shows that battleships can be easily handled through the river's mouth.

On next Tuesday Mr. Villere, President of the Cloverland Dairy Co., will be at the Southern Hotel, where he wishes to meet the dairymen and others interested in establishing dairies to have a talk over ways and means of the Cloverland getting all its milk from Covington. It would mean a great thing for the business of the town if we could ship from 1500 to 2000 gallons a day.

If you want to feel well, look well and be well, take Foley's Kidney Remedy. It tones up the kidneys and bladder, purifies the blood and restores health and strength. Pleasant to take and contains no harmful drugs. Why not commence today? Sold by Theo. Strain.
