Smith Residence Burned. The beautiful residence of Mr. M. C. Smith, on Twenty-fifth Avenue was burned to the ground Thursday evening. When the alarm was sounded, about 8 o'clock, the fire had already gained such headway that the reflection could be seen on the sky. The fire boys worked valiantly, but there was insufficient water and the chemical was out of commission. Mrs. Smith and her sister were the only members of the household on the premises at the time. Mr. Smith and his son Earl having gone to the drug store to get some medicine. The firemen and citizens saved everything in the lower part of the house, except the contents of the kitchen, which it was impossible to reach. The insurance is between $2500 and $3000, carried by the Nilson-Sears companies. The loss is probably $5000, as the upstairs of the house was very handsomely furnished.

Digging for Treasure. The Picayune correspondent of Covington sends in the following: G. C. Alexius, a prominent brick manufacturer and land owner of this section, came to town this morning and reported that treasure hunters are again busy on his property at the junction of the Abita and Bogue Falaya Rivers. They make nightly visits to this section, and put in hard work in the hope of recovering hidden treasures. They have dug several holes eight feet square and twelve feet deep through hard clay and brickbat dumps, but have left no evidence of having discovered any gold. Three years ago a similar attempt was made by persons, who armed with a divining rod, had been seen in the woods and along the river bank in that section, and after digging several large holes they left, but not until they had unearthed a large iron washtub, fully two feet deep, which is thought to have contained coin or other treasure, a copper coin having been found near the pot by a negro employed on the place. One of these excavations was made in front of Hon. Hugues J. de la Vergne. About this time $300 was found by some workmen engaged in pulling down a chimney on a property on the Military Road, the house having at one time been occupied by parties named Johnson, connected with the lands on which the adventures are now prospecting. From what can be learned of the history of these efforts to locate hidden treasures in this section, it seems that years ago a trader named Johnson and a partner named Smith came here from St. Louis on flatboats, and it became noised abroad that they were possessed of fabulous wealth and that it was hoarded in great iron chests on the bank of the river below the town. Johnson was killed while on his way to Mobile and Smith disappeared and has never been seen in this section since. These periodical efforts to locate their money are thought to be engineered by citizens of this section who have obtained in some way papers of the old firm and have some description of the location of the treasure, which it is judged from their efforts is buried in a triangle from a described tree.

Among the latest arrivals at the Swiss Cottage are Miss Taylor, of Bogalusa, La.; Miss Travis, of Martin, Tenn.; Mrs. Nanna Harris, of Palmyra, Mo.

Hammond News. Hammond, La., Sept. 13.-Practically every business house in town closed its doors this afternoon from 3 to 4 o'clock out of respect to the memory of Alfred Jackson, whose death occurred Saturday night. The floral offerings were handsome and the spacious residence of the family was crowded when Dr. Bleacker began the service. An equally large crowd followed the remains to Greenlaw and many flowers were placed on the grave.

After remaining in a condemned condition for three or four months, and after persistent kicking by the farmers, the bridge over the Tangipahoa river east of Independence is being overhauled and put in condition for travel. E. P. Aishang & Son have the contract. An Italian and his family had a narrow escape from drowning Saturday when in the act of crossing Tangipahoa river on a ferry boat. The wagon was pulled by a stubborn mule, and shortly after leaving the embankment the animal became frightened and backed the vehicle off into the water. Owing to the presence of nearby parties the woman and baby escaped death, as did also the husband and mule, although the man made no attempt to rescue his wife and baby. Preston Bennett did the life-saving act and plunged in after the helpless people, the woman being almost in a dying condition and unconsciously holding on to her infant, who was likewise in a pitiable condition from strangulation. In the excitement the harness had to be cut off the mule to release the animal from the wagon, and after every one was safe on land again, the Italian showed his appreciation of the kindness done him by asking his rescuers to provide him a new set of harness. Naturally, the request was turned down.

Hufft's BILIARD HALL 512 BOSTON. (Corner Courthouse Alley.) "Willie's Destination." "Willie, I'm going to heaven," she wrote, "and you will never see me again"-which was pretty hard on Willie. "There's nothing in physiognomy," observed the man who had been stung. "I desired to be ruler in my own household, so I married a woman with a weak chin, which she had inherited from her mother. Later I found that she also had a stubborn disposition, which she had inherited from her father."
