OPENING OF PUBLIC SCHOOL.

The public school opened Monday with an enrollment of 253 in Covington.

The places made vacant by the resignation of Miss Sidonia McDaniel, of the first grade, and Miss Julia Elder, of the third grade, were filled by Mrs. Cora Clark Young and Mrs. H. R. McCullough. The resignations were due to the fact that these teachers were unwilling to accept a salary lower than some of the other teachers were unwilling to accept a salary later salary was agreed to in their contract. They are both considered excellent teachers, as are the teachers who are to take their places.

The faculty consists of Prof. H. R. McCullough, principal; Misses Olive Mather, Salome Seiler, Daisy Morrison, Alma Maece, Eliza Stockton, Gertrude Mather, Miss Pemble, Mrs. Cora C. Young and Mrs. H. R. McCullough.

The examination of the teachers for certificates of qualification, held here Friday and Saturday, was in some respects the most rigid held here in some time. Out of nine white applicants for first grade certificates three passed approved examinations, and two were given second grade. Of eight applying for second grade certificates only two passed. Of the nine colored persons all failed. Five colored persons, graduates of the Southern University of New Orleans, taking only the one subject, "Theory and art of teaching," qualified as first grade teachers.

RECEPTION TO TEACHERS.

A reception was tendered the teachers in the public school by the School Improvement League, at the Southern Hotel, Saturday afternoon. Mrs. S. W. Pruge, president of the league, introduced Prof. H. THAT TERRIBLE WOMAN BANDIT

A lot of old women, who have nothing better to do than to tell bugaboo stories and frighten each other, may find something stimulating in the woman bandit, by consulting the reports of the respondents of the daily papers. They may make good space-fillers, but there is one patent fact, which is, that we must have a set of very inefficient officials if these stories are true, for there does not seem to have been a woman bandit, who is pictured as being a conspicuous figure anywhere, and fierce and terrible enough, with her pistols and dirks and hold-ups, to turn the whole populace loose in armed conflict with her. We have questioned officers of the law in regard to her, and have been unable to trace to a reliable source any deeds of violence by this woman. There would be no particular objection to these sensational stories were it not that some timid people, both strangers and home folks, take them seriously and stiver when they are left alone at night in the house or on the street. Perhaps the poor bandit herself would be frightened to death if she knew of them.

As far as we can learn the woman is harmless, and has gained her notoriety from having served a term in the penitentiary for misdeeds of this character in Tangipahoa parish. The worst deeds we can trace to her now is the asking of alms. She is now to be pitted than feared, and if the mill hands at Houltonville are held up, it will likely be through some genius of a desperado who will take advantage of his stature, disguising petticoats, and the fear inspired by the alarming stories of correspondents, to strike terror into the hearts of the brawny toilers. Sheriff Brewster is too well known as a diligent and competent official to allow any apprehension of such a state of affairs in this parish. If any one believes that such escapades of the woman have been as the New Orleans band could not be secured.

THREATENED THE LIVES OF HIS FAMILY.

J. Clement Arrested on Complaint of His Family, at Abita Springs, by Marshal Oalman.

Some excitement was occasioned at Abita Springs, last Saturday evening, when J. Clement was arrested by Marshal Oalman on the complaint of his wife and daughters that he had threatened their lives. Clement was brought to Covington and was afterwards released on $100 bond. A small unloaded pistol was found on his person, and it does not seem that he was prepared to carry out his threat of personal violence. It is said that the trouble arose from the refusal of his wife to remain in Abita, where Clement had conducted a butcher shop. His wife wished to go back to New Orleans while Clement wished to remain here. The case will come up in the District Court on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

A NEW VENTURE.

Messrs. Seller and Elchinger have opened up an oyster saloon in the Seller Building, next to the Jewel Cafe, where oysters are served in any style desired. To meet a popular demand, it has been determined to extend the service so that ladies also may be served. For this purpose it will be necessary to refurbish the apartment to some extent, in order that in convenience it may be modern and up-to-date and give satisfaction to the most delicate taste. This will be done within the next week, when it will be thrown open to the ladies of Covington, with confidence that they will appreciate the effort that is made to please them.

SLIDELL DEPARTMENT.

News Gathered by Our Slidell Correspondent, Social Events, Etc.

Many strong braven men wept the words, Good bye old friend," tears of true sorrow, for a number of them had grown up with him since boyhood days and realized that the death had robbed them of a loyal friend. Two of the beautiful emblems of the burial services of the Red Men is the white dove, denoting peace, and the evergreen denoting that the war is over; victory is won. Which is really the case in the death of every Christian. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the grief stricken family.

Mrs. E. Byland, of Bogalusa, was a recent visitor here as the guest of her sister, Mrs. John Solberger.

Miss Ollie Swetnam, of Biloxi, is the guest of Mrs. Ed. Gause at Fern Cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Landry, Mr. J. N. Landry and Mr. Wm. Landry, of New Orleans, attended the funeral of their relative here Wednesday, Mr. E. J. Perillieux.

Slidell High School opened last Monday, September 5, with an enrollment of 288 pupils. Several others have entered since that time, and there is no doubt that by the 1st of October about 300 children will be enrolled. The faculty is Prof. C. E. Hooper, of McComb City, Miss., principal; Mrs. N. Harris, high school department; Miss M. Shuler, physics, chemistry, art and music; Miss Nora Smith, sixth and seventh grades; Miss Byrl Travis, fourth and fifth; Miss L. McDaniel, second grade; Mrs. E. Siler, primary department.

Adolph Peterson, one of our bright young men, met with an accident Tuesday, which came near being fatal. The young man was near the railing of the gallery on the second story of the Red Men's Hall, when the railing broken and he was thrown to the ground, a distance of nearly twenty-four feet. With the exception of a sprained ankle he sustained no injuries.

Died—Tuesday, September 6, at 11:30 a. m., Edgar J. Perillieux, age 39 years and eleven months, a native of New Orleans, but a resident of Slidell for the past twenty years. For a number of years Mr. Perillieux was the junior member of the firm of E. F. Perillieux & Company, later, with his father, he embarked into the liquor business, building the large brick building near the depot. About five years ago they sold out to Harry Hoyle, of Gulfport, and returned to his old line of business, general merchandise. Of this business he had made a splendid success. Mr. Perillieux was well known and highly respected in commercial circles, where he was known as a shrewd, clever business man. Quiet and unassuming in his manner, he won a host of friends. For the past six months Mr. Perillieux has been ill, and his death, while it was a great shock to his relatives and friends, was not unexpected. Mr. Perillieux is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Perillieux, his wife, who was formerly Miss Emma Swetnam, of Biloxi, Miss., and five children. The funeral took place from the Catholic church, the Rev. Bernard Keating officiating. Deceased was a member of the Bonfouca Tribe of Red Men, and the entire lodge was present. The funeral was one of the largest seen here in some time. The religious services were held at the church and the Red Men's burial services were held at the grave. After the appeal to the Great Spirit to care for the departed brave, each member in turn dropped his sprig of green into new made grave, each repeated
