

The World's Wonders

STRANGE THINGS FOUND IN VARIOUS PORTIONS OF THE EARTH

Most Famous Buddhist Cave

Near Lonauli, two hours' journey from Bombay, is a famous Buddhist cave temple hewn out of the solid rock at Karli in the Western Ghats. Its architecture strangely resembles the Gothic. This is considered one of the largest and most complete specimens of Buddhist "chaitya" in India, and its excavation is ascribed to the Maharajah Bhutia, B. C. 78. As one enters its cool dark recesses it strikes one as being not unlike a Christian church in form, consisting of a nave and side aisles terminating in an apse. Fifteen pillars separate the nave from the aisle, and the capital of each is richly ornamented with the figures of two elephants bearing a man and a woman or two female forms. Under the semi-dome and where the altar stands in our churches is the "dagoba," a dome-like structure. This was originally intended to hold relics, and the outside was formerly ornamented and draped and surmounted with a huge wooden umbrella, of which little now remains. The interior of the cave is grand and solemn and the mode of lighting perfect, an undivided volume of light coming through a single opening overhead and falling on the altar, leaving the rest in comparative obscurity. The entrance consists of three doorways and the whole end of the hall is open, forming one great window of horseshoe shape.

BIG TORTOISE OF CEYLON

The giant tortoises of the Galapagos islands and other lands are known to be exceedingly long-lived, but they probably are not older than the monster tortoise that is kept near Matara, on the island of Ceylon. This great creature is known to have been in existence towards the end of the eighteenth century, and since then his continuous existence has been certified by successive governors of Ceylon and others.

WOMAN RUNS A MOUSE FARM

Why is the average woman more afraid of a mouse than of her husband's wrath over her milliner's bill? Why at the sight of a weevil, insectivore rodent, will she fly screaming to a table or chair to the accompaniment of a reckless display of hosiery? And can anybody under the sun explain why the nifty young woman who will grapple with and capture a burglar and turn him over to the police, will pull off a lovely fainting fit if anybody shouts, "Look at the mouse!" Absolutely for the first time in befuddled womanhood, a real, live and normal woman has advanced to the firing line with answers to the foregoing question. This daring woman is Miss Abbie E. C. Lathrop, the owner of a successful mouse farm at Granby, Mass. She raises yearly from 8,000 to 10,000 rats, and mice for medical laboratories.

"Woman's fear of the mouse," says Miss Lathrop, "I believe dates back to the Garden of Eden. There can be no possible doubt about it, for as far back as I have been able to go in the history of the world, women have hopped, skipped and jumped at the sight of a mouse."

In her rodent family, Miss Lathrop has mice of ten different colors and 20 combinations of color. White is ordinary and black is not startling, but when it comes to cream-colored mice or orange mice, one is surprised.

PRAYER CAUSED LIBEL SUIT

If one might not be irreverent in saying so, there is a strong humorous flavor in an extraordinary libel suit, in which Rev. R. Fisher, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Neoga, Ill., has been sued for $5,000 by a member of his congregation, named Jacob Strohl. The cause of the trouble was a prayer: "O, Lord, make Brother Strohl a better man; cause him to pay his debts and have him cease scolding," fervently supplicated the minister in front of a startled congregation. Other "faults" of the parish-er were recited in the prayer, and divine interference was asked for, to rectify them. Naturally, Jacob requested such special mention, and requested the minister either to make another prayer and sort of clear his character before Providence, or be sued for libel.

QUEER RESCUE OF A BATHER

VICAR HAS STRANGE CALL

Rev. Thomas Eddleston, formerly rector of High Roding, Essex, Eng., recently commenced his duties as vicar of Braintree, and in an address from the pulpit explained why he had transferred from the one living to the other, thereby sacrificing about $500 a year.

He said before he knew that the Braintree living was vacant he woke up in the middle of the night at High Roding, and heard a strange passage of Scripture ringing in his ears: "Take this child away and nurse it for me, and I will give thee thy wages."

The vicar said he thought there must be a child in distress at High Roding, and he searched about the parish for two days to see if there was anyone being neglected, but he could find no one. Then he received the offer of the living at Braintree, and regarding it as a direct call from God, he accepted, as he considered it his duty to undertake the nursing of the children of Braintree.

COSTERS IN COMPETITION

American visitors at the recent international horse show at Olympia, London, were especially interested in the novel costers' competition. The donkeys, costers and donahs, attired in dresses of bright-hued colors, entered the arena to the tune of "Knocked 'em in the Old Kent Road." Many of the drivers had their clothes literally covered with "pearlies," recalling a type which is now rapidly dying out. Their presence certainly added to the picturesqueness of the show.

JILTED LOVER GOT REVENGE

A young Swiss couple at Davos were to have been married shortly, but the girl jilted her lover because he had shaved off his beard. Though he pleaded for several weeks she refused to see him or reply to his letters. Then during the night he pasted all the love letters he had received from his fiancée on the walls of her residence. In the morning a crowd collected before the house and was busily engaged in reading the letters when the fiancée discovered the affair. While a gendarme kept back the crowd, the servants, armed with brushes, soap and water, scrubbed off the love letters from the walls. "Cart-ess girl, I return you your letters," was written in large letters above the correspondence.

Summit of Beautiful Fuji

Fujiyama, the highest and most famous of the mountains of Japan, appears so repeatedly in the art of that country that it is familiar to all the world. The summit, which looks so flat and smooth from the plains below, is covered with enormous crags burnt to every color of the spectrum. In places great cliffs of slag tower a hundred feet or more above the crater's lip and completely encircle the great pit, which is more than 500 feet deep and a third of a mile across.

DEAD DOG MADE TO BARK

An interesting demonstration, in which a dead dog was made to bark by the application of a feeble electric current to certain muscles of the throat after the lungs had been artificially inflated, took place recently before the French Academy of Sciences. Howls were produced by multiplying the experiment, and from this it is argued that the so-called log of voice by singers may be counteracted by electricity applied to restore muscular activity of the larynx.

SPEND HONEYMOON IN PRISON

A strange love drama was enacted at Hamburg recently, where a sailor and his sweetheart determined to commit suicide owing to their marriage being opposed by the girl's parents. With this object in view the couple went to a field outside the city with two pistols, sat down opposite one another, and each aimed at the other's hearts. They fired simultaneously, but only succeeded in

TERRIBLE CASE OF GRAVEL

Baker City, Ore., Man Suffered 25 Years.

Charles Kurz, 1618 Center St., Baker City, Ore., says: "For 25 years I suffered agony from gravel. So intense was the pain when the stones were passing, that I had to lie on my back and brace my feet, often being forced to scream. On one occasion two stones became lodged and I could not pass the urine for two days. I spent hundreds of dollars in vain without relief. At last I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They are the only remedy that wards off these attacks."

Remember the name—Doan's. For sale by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Sign of Recovery.
"If when the devil is sick a monk he will be," said Rose Stahl sagely, "then the devil gets well in double quick time. Witness that young 'devil' with the ladies," my kid cousin. Last winter he was ill, so ill he didn't have any sense of humor left, not any sense of humor left, and when I went in to look after him he virtuously remarked that his room was no place for a 'Chorus Lady' and promptly shooed me out. (A few years ago I spanked that kid.) Then he got scared and sent for a doctor and the doctor sent for a trained nurse. For several days I got bulletins of his progress from the chambermaid. The fourth morning she set my mind completely at rest.

"Sure, ma'am," said Maggie, "an' I think he do be gettin' along very well. The nurse was settin' on his lap this mornin'!"

KEEP BABY'S SKIN CLEAR

Few parents realize how many estimable lives have been embittered and social and business success prevented by serious skin affections, which so often result from the neglect of minor eruptions in infancy and childhood. With but a little care and the use of the proper ointments, baby's skin and hair may be preserved, purified and beautified, minor eruptions prevented from becoming chronic and torturing, disfiguring rashes, itching, irritations and chafings dispelled.

To this end, nothing is so pure, so sweet, so speedily effective as the constant use of Cuticura Soap, assisted, when necessary, by Cuticura Ointment. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole proprietors, Boston, for their free 32-page Cuticura Book, telling all about the care and treatment of the skin.

Tuberculosis in the Prisons.
The fact that 100,000 prisoners are discharged from the jails and prisons of the country annually, and that from 10 to 15 per cent. of them have tuberculosis, makes the problem of providing special places for their treatment while they are confined a serious one. So important is the problem that the Prison Association of New York in co-operation with the State Charities Aid Association, is preparing to inaugurate a special campaign for the prevention of tuberculosis in the penal institutions of the state, and will seek to enlist the co-operation of all prison physicians and anti-tuberculosis societies in this work.

Excellent Definition.

"Bjornstjerne Bjornson, in his hotel fronting the Tuileries gardens, received a few friends up to the last in Paris," said the continental agent of a typewriter firm.

"I had the honor to be among those friends and I never wearied of the great Norwegian's wit and wisdom."

"The last thing he said to me, in cautioning me not to give an important provincial agency to an easy-going man of the world, was this: 'Beware the easy-going man. An easy-going man, you know, is one who makes the path of life very rough and difficult for somebody else.'"

A Specialist.

"I don't see you on the messenger force any more, Jimmy," said the lad with the envelope in his hand.

"No; I've got a good job with a dog-fancier," replied Jimmy, as he puffed a cigarette.

"What a dog-fancier? What do you do—feed the dogs?"

"Naw! When a lady comes in and buys a pet dog I teach 'er 'ow to whistle."

Important to Mothers.

The Kind You Have Always Bought.

A Fake Camera.

"Yonder is a beach camera fiend," said the first bathing girl. "They are disgusting, I think."

"This one is particularly disgusting," declared the second bathing girl.

"After I had posed all morning for his benefit, he ate his lunch from that box."

INFECTED IN THE PRISON

Peculiarly Favorable Field There for the Spread of the Scourge of Tuberculosis.

Only twenty-one prisons in fifteen states and territories have provided special places for the treatment of their tuberculous prisoners. These institutions can accommodate, however, only 800 patients. In three-fourths of the major prisons and in practically all the jails of the country the tuberculous prisoner is allowed freely to infect his fellow prisoners, very few restrictions being placed upon his habits. When the congested mode of prison life is considered, the danger of infection becomes greater than in the general population. New York and Massachusetts are the only states where any systematic attempt has been made to transfer all tuberculous prisoners to one central institution. The largest prison tuberculosis hospital is in Manila, where accommodations for 200 prisoners are provided. The next largest is Clinton prison hospital in New York, which provides for 150.

On Some Ministers.

The worst of these herd shepherds is, my boy, that they regularly turn the heads of all the young lads about here. Lord bless their little hearts, they think it's all right, and don't know no better; but they're the victims of gammon, Samvel, they're the victims of gammon. Nothin' else, and not aggregates me, Samvel, 's to see 'em awastin' all their time and labor in making clothes for copper-colored people as don't want 'em and taking no notice of flesh-colored Christians as do. If I'd my way, Samvel, I'd just stick some of these herd lazy shepherds behind a heavy wheelbarrow, and run 'em up and down a 14-inch plank all day. That 'ud shake the nonsense out of 'em, if anything' would.—Mr. Weller, Quoted by Charles Dickens.

Where Millions Are Entombed.

The catacombs at Rome were the burial places of the early Christians. They are about 550 miles in extent and are said to have contained 6,000,000 bodies. During the persecutions of the Christians under Nero and other Roman emperors the catacombs were used for hiding places. Under Diocletian the catacombs were crowded with those for whom there was no safety in the face of the day. The art of the catacombs is unique and most interesting. Simple designs are etched in the slabs which seal the tombs. Now and then are small chapels whose paintings are to be found. All are Bible illustrations, so that the catacombs may be said to be a pictorial Bible in effect.—The Christian Herald.

Selfish Youth.

"Youth is apt to be selfish," said Mrs. Mary E. Wilkins-Freeman, the distinguished novelist, at a Matuchen picnic.

"Woman in her youth," she went on, "is especially apt to be selfish. I never forget the story of the young man from Boston who stood in the center of Boston common in a downpour of torrential rain.

"As he stood there, soaked to the skin, a little boy in a mackintosh accosted him.

"Excuse me, sir," said the boy, "but are you the gentleman who is waiting for Miss Endicott?"

"Yes," the young man answered.

"Well," said the boy, "she asked me to tell you she'd be here just as soon as it clears up."

Real Modesty.

"An actor should be modest, and most actors are," said James K. Hackett at a luncheon in Pittsburgh. "But I know a young actor who, at the beginning of his career, carried modesty almost too far.

"This young man inserted in all the dramatic papers a want advertisement that said:

"Engagement wanted—small part such as dead body or outside shouts preferred."

Gussie, in Fancy Costume, Astonished the Doorkeeper for a Moment.

Gussie was knock-kneed, angular and round-shouldered. He had a terrible squint, and a mouth like a steam roller. All the same, he reckoned on making something of a hit at the fancy dress ball, and his costume was as elegant as his figure was unlovely. With fast-beating heart he stepped jauntily from his automobile outside the town hall, where the ball was being held. The hall porter stepped backward at the unsightly apparition.

"Great Christopher Columbus!" he gasped as he regarded Gussie.

"No, no, my good man!" chirped Gussie, as he tripped through the portals. "Chawles the First, my dear fellow—Chawles the First!"—London Answers.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to The World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.
