Miss M. Singer and two little daughters, of New Orleans, are spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. L. Egan.

Miss W. L. Lehinger and daughter, of New Orleans, spent a short time with Mr. and Mrs. L. Franz.

Miss Irma Inard is stopping at her aunt's, Mrs. C. G. Segond, for the rest of the summer.

Messrs. Joe Hyland and Robert Onby spent the day in Covington, Thursday.

Mrs. L. L. Morgan and two children returned home Sunday night, after a delightful time spent in Asheville, North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Domergue and family and Mrs. J. B. Wortham are spending some time in Mandeville.

Mr. Maurice Planché is now manager of the St. Tammany Ice and Manufacturing Company.

Miss Margaret Davis, who has been the guest of Mrs. J. Lacroix, returned to Orleans, Sunday.

Miss Olga Lagrange, of New Orleans, who has been spending awhile with Mrs. Geo. Menestre, returned to her home Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Norman and her sister, Miss Lucille Couderc, have returned from their visit to Biloxi, Miss.

Miss Ruby Walsh, who has been spending some time in Covington, returned to New Orleans, Sunday.

Mr. Jake Seiler and his mother, Mrs. M. Seiler, are absent at Asheville, N. C., where they have been for a week or so. They write that the weather is quite cool and warm clothing is comfortable in afternoon.

Mr. E. A. Beaulieu, who came to St. Tammany for his health, has been so much improved that he announces his intention of remaining here permanently.

St. Joseph's Seminary will open Wednesday, September 6, at St. Joseph's Abbey, Ramsay. The business department, which has been detached, will open at the college on the old Dixon Academy grounds on Wednesday, September 13.

J. B. Mansfield, manager of the Columbian Iron Works, was in Covington Friday looking over a plan of Covington in anticipation of making a bid for the institution of water works in Covington. According to his estimation, a suitable plant could be installed for about $50,000. He will make a report as to the cost ready to be placed before the meeting of the Commercial League next Monday.

Mr. Wm. Gorman gives the following recipe for making a preparation that will drive away ants. We have first had it tried to prove its efficiency, and it pronounced excellent: "Tartar emetic, 10 cents worth; 1 cup of sugar; mix in 1 quart of hot water. Put in saucers and place about the places to be protected from the ants."

The supreme regent, Miss Mary L. McKennan, has appointed Mrs. J. A. Alfonso district deputy of the State for the Daughters of Isabella. Mrs. Alfonso has been active in Catholic work and the responsibilities of her new position will be met with the same ability that she has shown in her other work. This will place within her jurisdiction not only the State of Louisiana but sections of nearby states that are unprovided for.

Just before noon Friday a small blaze was discovered in an out house at the residence of Mrs. Dr. Marrero. The fire was caused by the yard boy removing hot coals from a furnace and placing them in a barrel. The fire was extinguished before it had made any headway.

The St. Peter's Parochial School and the St. Scholastica's Academy are going to begin a new session on Monday, September 4.

Parents who wish to do their full duty toward their children to have them, besides a solid instruction, educated as good Catholic Christians, are invited to send them without delay.

BASEBALL

Reuben Stars Defeat Covington. Last Sunday the Reuben Stars defeated the Covington team, 7 to 6. Cooter showing fine form on the slab. The Stars have won seven games out of eleven. Manager Rayne will try and organize a basketball team shortly.

WHY THE BRIDGE WILL PAY.

Covington, La., Aug. 30, 1911. To the People of St. Tammany Parish: For the benefit of the people of St. Tammany parish, especially those that have a doubt that the bridge will be built, I will write a few of the reasons why I do not only think that the bridge will be built, but that it must be built.

For the city of New Orleans to prosper, she must break up the monopoly that about three of the railroads now have, all other roads running over their tracks and entering their stations must pay enormous percentage of their earnings and therefore they must charge high rates to exist, or whatever they are commanded to pay, and therefore, New Orleans is losing trade every day and the population decreased eleven thousand between 1908 and 1910.

The people of New Orleans do not want any one or two railroads to build the bridge that would remedy the evil. They want a bridge where on every road wishing to enter New Orleans can cross at as cheap a rate as possible, so that they can give cheaper passenger and freight traffic, and then New Orleans will prosper and grow, and will not have to be afraid of us taking 45,000 or 50,000 people away from her, and if we did, she will gain 100,000 in place of losing every year. The business people and progressive people of New Orleans are now united and will do all they can towards remedying all that stands in the way of their prosperity, and now when all the business people and progressive people of St. Tammany get united and work together, with the people of New Orleans, then we can all prosper, with the help of God.

So now, let our greeting be: "The bridge will and must be built," and we to all doubting Thomases.

DUDELY WEAVER A LIFE SAVER

Presented by Admiring Friends With A Gold-Lined Silver Cigarette Case in Appreciation of His Deeds of Heroism.

Heroic deeds always win the admiration of the people. To endanger one's life to save a fellow human being, especially where there are no blood ties to urge the risk and blind the mind to the danger, brings to view those many qualities that win the approval and cheers of the public. It frequently happens, however, that deeds of heroism pass unnoticed because the modesty of the hero keeps him from the limelight, and it is thus that it is not generally known that we have in our midst a young man who on four different occasions has saved human life at the risk of his own. This young man is Dudley Weaver, son of Capt. H. T. G. Weaver, owner of the steamer "Josie." Dudley inherits his bravery, for Captain Weaver is known as one of the most fearless of the lake captains.

In appreciation of his saving the life of Frank Crane, 18 years of age, from a watery grave in Lake Pontchartrain, at Mandeville, on August 6, Mr. John Adams, as spokesman for the admirers of the brave deed of Mr. Dudley Weaver, came before the curtain during the performance of the Twentieth Century Minstrels and presented him with a gold-lined silver cigarette case, inscribed with a few lines commemorative of the deed. At the time Mr. Weaver made the rescue the water was very rough. Mr. Crane was taken with cramps and could not keep his head above the water. Mr. Weaver plunged in and brought him safely to the boat.

Attention is called to the advertisement of Ostendorf & Patecek on the second page. They have some excellent bargains to offer in boy's clothing, and you may be sure that the goods are just as represented.

DIED.

NAPP—In Covington, at the residence of her son-in-law, Peter Pabacher, Sunday, August 27, 1911, Mrs. Wm. Napp, aged 73 years.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

A narrow escape from a serious accident occurred on the road between Abita and Covington last Saturday afternoon. An automobile driven by Theo. Dendinger, Jr., and containing besides John Diendorf, cashier of the St. Tammany Banking Company and Savings Bank, W. E. Wood, cashier of the Madisonville Bank and Mrs. Case, who was sitting with his arm resting on the edge of the seat. Mr. W. N. Keen and son Dan were driving on the road when the auto approached and the horse became frightened and jumped the driver. Just as the auto passed, Mr. Dendinger glanced back to see if anyone had been hurt in the buggy, and as he did so the machine veered off at the side of the road and Mr. Case's wrist was caught between the body of the machine and a telephone pole. The flesh was torn from his wrist, his cuff button being broken off and embedded in the telephone pole. Fortunately no bones were broken, though Mr. Case's wound was very painful. It is also fortunate that no one was injured in the buggy.

A WAR CLOUD.

Berlin, Aug. 30.—Members of the Pan-German Union held a packed mass meeting to-night and adopted a resolution demanding either France's complete recognition of the Algecras act or Germany's acquisition for similar rights in West Morocco as France claims in the other district. The resolution strongly condemned intervention in the dispute by a third power.

An inspiring article in the Lokal Anzeiger also protests vigorously against what it terms the unjustifiable threatening attitude taken by Great Britain. It declares moreover that Germany never was desirous of obtaining a footing in Morocco, and hints that the details of an agreement would occupy a long period, even should the French proposals, about to be presented by M. Cambon, be generally acceptable to Germany.

DAUGHTERS OF ISABELLA.

Court maid of Orleans of the National Order of the Daughters of Isabella, held its first initiation at 2 o'clock p. m., Sunday, the 27th, at St. Scholastica's Hall. Nine enthusiastic candidates were introduced into the mysteries of the order. Accompanied by the members they assisted at high mass, where an eloquent sermon was preached by Father Augustine Unser of St. Paul's College, and a fine musical program was rendered. Mrs. C. C. Kornfeld gave one of his choice violin solos, and Miss Susie Bokenfohr, one of the members, sang inspiringly Millard's beautiful Ave Maria.

Mrs. C. J. Schopp, of New Orleans, was the gifted organist at the initiation.

The degree work, which was under the supervision of the recently appointed District Deputy, was impressively and beautifully exemplified by the various officers, with even more flattering success and prompt response than expected.

At the conclusion a delightful banquet was enjoyed by everyone present. The court has not yet completed its second year of existence. Considering the local conditions, it is considered an impossibility, still it has proven a success, for to-day it stands firm and assured of a bright future. It has just been specially honored by the national house, an appointment of its organizer and Grand Regent to the office of District Deputy. The actual officers are: Mrs. I. A. Alfonso, D. Deputy; Mrs. J. B. Lancaster, G. Regent; Mrs. J. Bokenfohr, V. G. Regent; Mrs. L. Champagne, Prophetess; Mrs. H. Wallis, Lecturer; Mrs. L. Hawkins, Secretary; Mrs. B. B. Warren, Treasurer; Mrs. H. Ostendorf, Monitor; Miss N. Hennessy, I. Sentinel; Mrs. E. D. Kentzel, O. Sentinel; Trustees: Mrs. W. J. Warren, Miss Jessie Evans, Mrs. N. Trepanier, Mrs. E. J. Frederick, Mrs. Bachernin, Mrs. L. J. Heintz, Mrs. Bear, Mrs. M. Planché, Guides, Mrs. J. Coltra, Mrs. A. J. Planché.

Father Augustine Unser, O. S. B., preached the sermon. He gave an eloquent pen-picture of the glorious and victorious army of the Spanish and Granada. The central figure of the gorgeous and magnificent procession was Queen Isabella; the inspiration of that holy crusade, the glory and boast of Spain, the joy of her people. The speaker further referred to the success of the noble Daughters of Isabella, principally due to Isabella's innate wisdom. Great prudence and wise counsel. This patent historical fact again demonstrates beyond the shadow of a doubt this historic verity.

In the political, moral and religious economy of the world, nothing great and good and lasting can be accomplished without the cooperation of noble womanhood. Referring to the Christian Home, the orator pointed out to the noble Daughters of Isabella their enabling power, wholesome influence, exalted mission and great responsibility.

"You, noble ladies make the home, you mould and direct man, you are the crowned queens by right divine of the home." The orator's words and nobility of man individually as well as the might and glory of nations depend upon womanhood. Open the pages of history and they will substantiate the correctness of my statement. To whom does a Washington, a Napoleon, an Alexander owe their transcendent greatness?

To whom do a St. Louis of France, a St. Augustine, a St. Aloysius owe their supereminence sanctity? It not to their noble, great and pious mothers. The immortal glory of classic Greece and the unsurpassed military renown of Rome are mainly due to their heroic matrons.

Then came the importance of Christian education. Stand uncompromisingly for religious education. For what pitiful type of womanhood does a Godless education produce? Women with trained minds, but uneducated hearts. What shocking freaks of nature.

A woman without a religious heart is a woman without a holy chest, and such a creature is no woman at all in the Christian acceptance of the term, because she lacks the very essence of noble womanhood; modesty, purity, sweet sympathy.

In conclusion the speaker congratulated the Daughters of Isabella on their splendid additional increase, and on the rare and priceless privilege they enjoy of having the powerful patronage, support and good will of his Grace, Archbishop Blenk. Therefore noble ladies work, agitate, organize, let your light shine before men. Be ever the noble and fair champion of the "Christian home," the "Christian school," the "Catholic Press." Love God, your religion and your country. Keep constantly before your mental vision your glorious and saintly patroness, Queen Isabella. And as she is the prime cause of beautiful Spain, most enviable surname: Catholic Spain; so let future history record the God-willed fact that the illustrious title of "Catholic America" is principally due to the noble Daughters of the Catholic Isabella.

A RUNAWAY MATCH.

Ira Ezell and Miss Florence Keating, of the second ward, were married Wednesday, August 30, 1911, Rev. J. M. Fussell officiating. The young couple came to Covington, secured a license and had the knot tied before any steps could be taken to stop them. It is said that the youth of the bride, who about sixteen years of age, was the objection to the match. When the young folks make up their minds to get married it is hard to stop them, as evidenced by several runaway matches in St. Tammany parish this summer.

THE CHICAGO LAND SHOW.

New Orleans, Aug. 30.—The initial efforts of the Louisiana Development League to interest the parishes in the plan to exhibit Louisiana lands, soil, products, climate and opportunities at the Chicago Land Show in November next, have met with even more flattering success and prompt response than expected.

To-day Secretary Graves said: "The State of Louisiana, through its agricultural department, and the experience of some of the most enterprising men in Louisiana, are helping into the movement the material affairs of the State are sure to be greatly benefited by it. Co-operation by the parishes means far more than mere cash donations. Of course, we must have cash, because the expense of the undertaking will mount up into the thousands, but the concerted effort of the people of all sections will certainly prove cumulative in its effect, and hereafter I expect to see the people of the entire State working in harmony in a big broad, and well directed effort to attract desirable home-seekers, to exploit the wonderful productiveness of Louisiana, and to interest investors whose capital we need to push development work as rapidly as possible."

Thus far the subscriptions made and promises range in amounts from $100 to $500 and have been coming from the city council of New Orleans, from the police juries of Assumption, Ascension, St. Mary, Acadia, East Baton Rouge, Jefferson, St. Bernard, St. Charles, Plaquemines, Lafourche, Terrebonne, Vermillion, Lafayette, St. Tammany, Iberville, the parish of East Feliciana; also from the banks of Lafourche, Thibodeaux, etc. Some five thousand dollars have been subscribed by individuals in New Orleans. Many land companies have signified intention to subscribe, and many parish juries and financial institutions are yet to be heard from. Letters from Emile V. Stier, manager of the Louisiana Development League, and Justin F. Demachaud, secretary of the Louisiana State Immigration Bureau, who have been visiting the several parishes in behalf of this movement, report great interest and a general desire throughout the state to co-operate to the fullest possible extent.

TO THE PUBLIC.

I wish to announce that I have withdrawn my candidacy for police juror of the first ward. At the same time I wish to thank my friends for the loyal support they have given me, and to assure them that it will always be gratefully remembered.
