THE SCIENCE OF FARM MANAGEMENT.

This is a time of progress and development. Old methods are being revised and old previously accepted facts are being examined and questioned as never before. "Every man to his own business," no longer means that the knowledge of others is to be ignored by the successful business man.

The successful business man, whether he be farmer or merchant, knows more of his business than any outsider can know; but this is no longer interpreted to mean that the successful business man may not learn many useful and profitable facts and principles from the outsider who has made a thorough study of a large number of business establishments and their methods.

In fact, there has been developed in recent years a new kind of business man. We now have the experts in business methods. Men are finding employment at large salaries who go into business houses or concerns previously unknown to them and after making a thorough study of the bookkeeping system, cost of production and of selling and the general methods employed in the establishment make recommendations for their improvement.

When successful business men, manufacturers and financiers recognize the value of outside and scientific knowledge applied to their special lines of business, it is indeed time the farmer began to recognize and appreciate the help which it is possible for him to obtain from the scientific facts and principles underlying his methods and practice.

Accordingly there has sprung up to meet this modern demand a new department in agricultural knowledge, known as "farm management." The Agricultural College and Experiment Stations have recognized the need of more knowledge of farming from a business standpoint, and have established departments of Farm Management not alone for the purpose of helping farmers, but also for the purpose of studying, investigating and collecting facts relative to the business of farming.

Taking the farm as a whole the expert in farm management makes a thorough study of all the operations of the farm, including the farm life in its best and broadest sense and with this knowledge seeks to improve the methods for the purpose of increasing the desired and desirable results.

Some of the problems with which "Farm Management" concerns itself are:

1. The size of farm best adapted to the purposes in view and the kind or type of farming best adapted to the particular section or farm in question.
2. The crops to be grown and the rotations best adapted to the soil and kind of farming followed.
3. The kind and numbers of farm animals to be kept.
4. The "layout" of the farm as regards location of buildings, rows, fields, drains, etc.
5. The kind and amount of farm machinery and equipment for the particular farm under consideration.
6. The amount and kind of labor required and methods of employing and handling the same.
7. The cost of production and methods of accounting used in determining the same.
8. The methods of marketing and the cost of same.
9. The relation of all the foregoing to the future condition of the farm life.

Anyone familiar with farming as it is done to-day, at once recognizes the necessity for more thought on these problems. The average farmer has neither the time nor the means to secure a sufficiently large number of facts relative to these matters to enable him to arrive at the best solution of the problems. He therefore, must and will receive help from the men who have the time and means to do the traveling and make the study of these problems necessary to their best solution. This will be no conflict of theory and practice, but a combination of the personal knowledge of the man who has studied a sufficiently large number of farms and knows the general facts and principles underlying the business of farming. This sort of knowledge is comparatively new, but since the investigators and Experiment Stations have given us practically all our new knowledge of farming acquired in the last quarter century, the special workers in the field of farm management will no doubt find in putting the business side of farming on a more scientific or accurate basis. The results will be most profitable to the farmers who most fully avail themselves of the knowledge accumulated by the outside or scientific workers in the field.—The Progressive Farmer.

CULTIVATE LEVEL AND SHALLOW THIS YEAR.

We have advised our readers to plant their corn as early as possible as practical. Early planted crops on damp soils, especially cotton, may start off better and a better stand may be obtained when planted on a slight ridge, or low bed; but there is no need for planting late crops on a bed. There never was any good sense in planting crops on high beds to keep them out of the water. If there is so much water on the land or the land is so poorly drained that water stands in the furrows between the rows for any considerable length of time, no crop will be made, even if it is planted on a high bed. Except to aid in getting better stand and start off in early planted crops when the weather is cool, there is nothing gained in planting on beds. The crops planted level do as well in a wet year and much better in a dry year.

For similar reasons and because the wet season of the last few months is likely to be followed by more or less dry weather, we advise our readers to cultivate so as to, as far as possible, hold the moisture in the land for the use of the crops. They are likely to need this moisture before the season is over. Level planting and level cultivation should be the rule with all crops planted after the weather and soil become warm. It may become necessary to run the turning plow in order to clean it of grass, but whenever this is done or whenever it becomes necessary,

It is proof positive that the crop has not received proper cultivation previously. Many a man seeks to justify the use of the turning plow in cultivating the crops by argument that such is necessary or best in order to kill the grass, but that is no argument at all, except in support of the charge that he has neglected properly to prepare his land or cultivate his crop after planting it. When this is stated, then up bobs the fellow with the ever-ready argument that some seasons it is impossible to keep out the grass. It is true that some seasons many people get in the grass, but nine out of ten of these are the fellows who do not break and harrow their land properly before planting and depend on the hoe and the turning plow after planting to keep down the weeds and grass. When a man follows such methods he is sure to get in the grass if the weather is at all favorable.

We must learn to use the hoe and plow less in cultivating crops. They are too slow and expensive. The man who depends upon them gets in the grass often, whereas the man who prepares his land well and uses the harrow and cultivator in the early part of the season seldom gets in the grass.—The Progressive Farmer.

CHARTER OF THE HOULTON LUMBER COMPANY.

United States of America, State of Louisiana, Parish of St. Tammany.

Be it known that on this 10th day of July, A. D. 1912, before me, Harvey E. Ellis, a notary public in and for the parish of St. Tammany, State of Louisiana, duly commissioned and qualified, and in the presence of the witnesses hereinafter named and undersigned, personally came and appeared the persons whose names are hereunto subscribed, all of full age and residents of St. Tammany parish, La., who severally declared that, availing themselves of the provisions of the laws of this State relative to corporations and their organization, they have covenanted and agreed, and by these presents do covenant and agree, and bind themselves as well as such other persons as may hereafter become associated with them, to form and constitute a body politic in law, for the purposes and objects, and under the stipulations, articles and conditions following, to-wit:

ARTICLE I.
The name and title of said corporation shall be the HOULTON LUMBER COMPANY, and its domicile is hereby established at Houltenville, St. Tammany parish, Louisiana; and under its corporate name, said corporation shall have power and authority to contract, sue and be sued, to make and use a corporate seal, and to sue to break and after at pleasure; to hold, receive, have, purchase, improve, alienate, convey, sell, borrow, pledge, mortgage and hypothecate, under its said corporate name, property real, personal and mixed; to name and appoint such officers, directors, agents and managers, and to alter, amend, interest or convenience of said corporation may require; to make and establish by-law, rules and regulations for the proper management and regulation of its affairs, as may be deemed necessary and proper, and the same to change and alter at pleasure; and all other acts and things permitted by law, and as shall be necessary and proper to carry out the objects and purposes of said corporation.

Said corporation, unless sooner dissolved, in accordance with its charter, shall exist and continue for a period of ninety-nine years from and after the date hereof.

The President, or in his absence the Vice President, or in the absence of both, the Secretary, shall be the proper persons upon whom citation and other legal process shall be served; and the President, or in his absence, the Vice President, shall be authorized to bring all suits and legal proceedings on behalf of this corporation.

ARTICLE II.
The objects and purposes for which this corporation is organized and the nature of the business to be carried on by it, are hereby declared to be, to operate and run a saw and planing mill and mills in the parishes of St. Tammany, Tangipahoa and Washington, in the State of Louisiana, or elsewhere; to manufacture, transport, buy and sell lumber and its by-products; to lease buy and sell timber lands and other real estate; to carry on a general business for the manufacture and sale of turpentine, resin and their by-products; to conduct a general mercantile business or businesses; to build, own or lease and operate barges, lighters, sail, gasoline and steam vessels; to construct, maintain, own or lease and operate turnpikes or toll roads and generally to do all things that are necessary, incidental to or connected with the carrying on of said businesses and the objects and purposes hereinabove set forth.

ARTICLE III.
The capital stock of this corporation is hereby fixed at the sum of Five Hundred Thousand and No One Hundredths ($500,000.00) Dollars, divided into and represented by Five Thousand (5000) shares of the par value of One Hundred and No One Hundredths ($100.00) Dollars each, which stock may be issued at not less than par cash, or in payment or exchange for property or rights actually received or purchased by said corporation, provided that all stock shall be paid for in full within six months after same shall have been subscribed for, and no stock shall be issued unless the consideration therefor has been received by said corporation.

All stock certificates shall be signed by the President and Secretary of said corporation, and all transfers of stock shall be made on the books of said company, at its offices on the surrender of a certificate.

No stockholder shall have authority or right to sell or otherwise dispose of his stock in whole or part, without first giving the Board of Directors ten (10) days written notice of his intention or desire to dispose of any of his stock or a part thereof, and allowing the Board of Directors or in its default, any stockholder, the first opportunity of purchasing the stock.

This corporation shall commence doing business as soon as Three Hundred Thousand and No One Hundredths ($300,000.00) Dollars of its capital stock shall have been subscribed for, as above provided.

ARTICLE IV.
The corporate powers of this corporation shall be vested in and exercised by a Board of Directors, which shall consist of three (3) stockholders; a majority of whom shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. Said Directors shall be elected annually from among the stockholders on the 1st day of January of each year, commencing on the 1st day of January, 1913.

Notice of such election shall be given by two (2) publications in a newspaper published in St. Tammany parish, La., within fifteen (15) days, immediately preceding said election.

At said election, and at all other meetings of the stockholders the voting shall be by ballot, and each share of stock shall be entitled to one vote by the owner in person, or by written proxy.

Any vacancies occurring in said Board of Directors shall be filled by the remaining members of the Board for the unexpired term, at a meeting called for that purpose, after five (5) days notice in writing, sent by mail to said directors at their last known residence.

The said Board of Directors shall have the power to make all by-laws, rules and regulations for the proper management and conduct of the affairs of this corporation, and to change, alter, amend, and amend the same at pleasure, and shall have and exercise all the powers conferred by law on this corporation, and as set forth generally above.

The said Board of Directors may also delegate any of said powers in the transaction of the business of this corporation, to committees of their own body or to the officers and agents of this corporation.

The first Board of Directors of this corporation are hereby declared to be William L. Houltou, Fred A. Lewis and Richard G. Latta, with William L. Houltou as president, Richard G. Latta as vice president, and Fred A. Lewis as secretary-treasurer, who shall hold their respective offices until the first day of January, 1913, or until successors are duly elected and qualified.

ARTICLE V.
This corporation may be dissolved by a vote of three-fourths of the capital stock thereof present at a general meeting convened for that purpose after forty days advertisement in newspaper published in St. Tammany parish, La., immediately preceding said meeting and written notices of the objects of said meeting sent to each stockholder thirty (30) days immediately prior to said meeting, at his last known place of residence.

Whenever this corporation is dissolved, whether by liquidation or otherwise, it affairs shall be liquidated by two liquidating commissioners, to be elected at a general meeting, and in case of death or disability of any of said commissioners, the surviving commissioner shall appoint a successor from among the stockholders, and together they shall continue said liquidation to its termination.

ARTICLE VI.
This charter may be changed, altered or amended, and the capital stock increased or decreased, by a vote of two-thirds of the capital stock issued, at a general meeting called for that purpose, after thirty (30) days prior notice in writing having been sent to each stockholder at his last known residence, stating the object of said meeting, and forty (40) days advertisement in a newspaper published in St. Tammany parish, Louisiana, in which the object of the meeting is also stated.

ARTICLE VII.
No stockholder shall be held liable or responsible for the contracts or debts of this corporation in any further sum than the amount he has paid of the company on shares of stock owned by him, nor shall any mere informality in the organization hereof have the effect of rendering this charter null, or of exposing any stockholder to any liability beyond the unpaid balance due on his stock.

This done and passed in a new paper published in St. Tammany parish, Louisiana, in the presence of W. A. White and J. Emmett Williams, competent witnesses who have hereunto signed their names with the said signers and me, notary, after reading of the whole.
