THE FISH, THE WATERMELON AND THE MONKEY.

Should Munchausen or even a scion of that noted club, presided over by that potentate of fabrications, Ananias, be credited with the following narration little wonder would accrue therefrom. Be it as it may, the following incident vouches for its narrators, through no emanations of distorted or disordered occipital or cerebellum. I give it thee, as given me, by all the oaths that make the deity of truth reverberate with its realism. "In premises" the dramatic personae were Mr. and Mrs. a lady companion and a little three-year-old tot of Mr. L. Sunday afternoon being warm and sultry a stroll in the forest was suggested by one of the party. No sooner projected that were their plans put in progress and they jointly concluded to stroll on that belt of forest bordering the waters of the placid Abita in the neighborhood of Sulphur Springs known for its rolling and almost primitive beauty. They started the party on that sunny Sunday afternoon and they did not fail to look to the refreshment part of the program, for they had secured a jumbo's watermelon, and provided themselves with ample supplies of paraffin, as the watermelon offered sport. They set out with light hearts and untanned faces. Mr. L., being familiar with the lay of the land selected a short cut to a place of vantage beneath the shadowy depths of the sylvan della. Once arrived at a most inviting spot hot preparations were made for a pleasant afternoon amid the luscious and velvety grass. The sport began and ere long the nimble tot had landed a goodly string of fish and during the piscatorial sport that portion of the watermelon remaining after the feast was snugly placed in a cool retired spot in the fork of a near by tree safe from insects and prowling beasts and birds.

Now came the "watermelon" the watermelon was not long gone after tucking a quantity of watermelon beneath one's girth. The little group now lazily betook themselves to securing comfortable positions and chatted volubly expatiating upon the beauties of nature and occasionally drifting into that sweet semi-unconscious threshold of Morpheus, so akin to sleep. The fish neatly gilled upon a wisp of grass were slaked in the oozing waters of a flowing spring at the base of the "watermelon" which was safely "cached." Refreshed by forty winks in that sylvan paradise, the party of amateur foresters were now of one consent and Mrs. L. in her dainty gown and slippers betook herself in quest of the hidden melon and "cached" fish. She was not long gone ere her form soon reappeared through the open brush, her voice ringing in a high "G" gasping, "mon-monk-monkey." The little group in a twinkling was in a state of ferment. The grassy "cache" was not long gone ere her form soon reappeared through the open brush, her voice ringing in a high "G" gasping, "mon-monk-monkey." The little group in a twinkling was in a state of ferment.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly falling to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. USE OF CALOMEL IS PRACTICALLY STOPPED.

Dangerous Drug Giving Way for Safer, More Reliable Remedy.

Hundreds of people in this vicinity alone have stopped the use of dangerous calomel when their liver is acting slowly, and taken Dodson's Liver Tonic instead. Dodson's Liver Tonic is always safe and has none of the bad after-effects which so often follow the use of calomel. It is a pleasant-tasting vegetable liquid that starts the liver gently and surely, and relieves constipation and biliousness and causes no restriction of habit or diet.

Many preparations have sprung up that imitate the claims made for Dodson's Liver Tonic, but remember Dodson's Liver Tonic is the tried and tested remedy that has proven such a good medicine and is so satisfactory to every user—in the reason these imitations are on the market. Dodson's Liver Tonic cannot hurt anyone and if it fails to do all that is claimed for it City Drug Store, who sells it, will give you money back with a smile. —Adv.

FARMERS WILL HOLD MEET AT MADISONVILLE

MR. HARRY WILSON WILL TALK TO TRUCK GROWERS AT MADISONVILLE.

COME PREPARED TO ASK QUESTIONS

Come Prepared with the Questions That You Wish Him to Answer.

Madisonville, La., July 16, 1913. Mr. Harry D. Wilson, of the Louisiana State Board of Agriculture, will hold a farmers' meeting in Madisonville on July 28, 1913, at 2 p. m., on truck raising. Everyone interested is invited to attend.

DO NOT BE DECEASED.

Respectfully yours, G. BAUSSIN. Sec. - Mr. Goodbee Truck Growers Association. The truck growers surrounding Madisonville have every reason to work for the development of this industry. There is no doubt that the soil is good and that there is money to be made in it. The problem seems to be the shipping of the truck produce and the lack of facilities in the market for truck produce. It is an attempt to indicate the price of truck produce and will be able to answer many questions of importance, but it must not be expected that he will be familiar with all the obstacles met by the growers of this particular section, because there are always conditions peculiar to localities. Therefore those who attend the meeting next Saturday should come prepared to ask Mr. Wilson the questions in which they are interested. He will willingly answer them but must not be expected to think of them all himself. Call his attention to such matters as you wish to be informed upon. We are sure he will be able to help you.

Webb of the United States Confederate Veterans has received the following letter from J. P. Shipp of the Quartermaster General's office, who was in charge during the Confederate re-enlistment at Chattanooga: "I have a matter which is very dear to my heart—a labor of love, and I know it will appeal to you. In our Confederate Cemetery here are buried a number of our Confederate dead—representing eleven Southern States. "I am preparing to erect memorial tablets for each of the States recording the names and commands of each comrade, for the purpose of perpetuating their names and memory. Mississippi has a large number. "On my return from Gettysburg I remained in Washington four days for the purpose of perfecting these records. I have all of the Mississippi corrected except two and am sending these to you hoping you may be able to supply the additional initial or given names. You will know how to apply this information. "I am desirous of having the tablets in place by September 15, and would thank you to let me have this information as soon as possible. "Gen. Webb states that the names wanted are: H. (?) Strong, Company F, Twenty-Seventh Mississippi; L. (?) Warren, Company H, Twenty-Seventh Mississippi. TO RESUME PROBE TODAY. It is reported that they have a mass of testimony that will be submitted to the inquirers. Several indictments are looked for before the probe is finished. A strong effort, it is said, will be made to get Col. Taylor, Montgomery, a member of the Post-mortem Board, for his part in the "famous" automobile deal. Col. Montgomery testified during the South trial that he assumed full responsibility for buying the machine. He was indicted for the same in an attempt to indict the prison trustee. Application to bring about the resignation of Col. Montgomery was resumed today with renewed vigor. "The only way they can get me out," he said last week, "is to kick me out."
