Unightly Face Spots

Are cured by Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment, which heals all skin eruptions. No matter how long you have been troubled by itching, burning, or scaly skin humor, just put a little of that soothing antiseptic, Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment, on the sores and the suffering stops instantly. Healing begins that very minute. Doctors use it in their practice and recommend it. Mr. Allen, of Littleton, Pa., says: "Had eczema on forehead; Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment cured it in two weeks." Guaranteed to relieve or money refunded. All druggists or by mail. Price 50 cents. Pfeiffer Chemical Company, Philadelphia, and St. Louis.

HOW TO CURE PEA HAY.

Begin mowing when the peas turn yellow in the pods. Mow in the mornings till noon; if possible, run a tedder right after the mower to keep the hay tossed up and hasten the wilting. Rake into windrows that afternoon. Next morning turn the windrows with arake while the mowers are running on other parts. This afternoon put the hay into cocks as narrow and tall as will stand well. Then, as soon as you can take a handful of the hay and twist it and can wring the sap to the twist, haul the hay to the barn and let it settle with its own weight without tramping, and then let it alone and it will cure all right. If it heats some, let it heat. If you go to stirring it to cool it you will let in germs of mold from the air and will have moldy hay. Now, I have cured it in this way many years and never made any moldy hay, but had it come out with the leaves on and green in color, and far better fed than the usual assortment of sticks that many make by letting the hay lie in the sun to bleach and the leaves to get dry and crisp. In fact, I have found curing peavine hay as easy as any other hay if you simply let it cure and do not "monkey" with all sorts of seafoams and contrivances that merely dry the hay and lose the leaves, the best part of the hay.—W. F. Massey, in the Progressive Farmer.

It is no profit to us to know that malaria is only transmittable to man by a certain kind of mosquito, if we do not effort to protect ourselves from the attacks of this carrier of disease which works only at night. Screens on the doors and windows are of little value while we are sitting on an unscreened porch, offering ourselves as victims to the carrier of malaria germs. He steals quietly up to his victim in the dark, as many another evil-doer does, and if we are wise we will screen the porches or not sit on them after dark when mosquitoes are present. Before we drain or put oil on their breeding places.—The Progressive Farmer.

HOW TO GET RID OF THE FLIES.

Try as you may, you can't get all the flies. Even the most careful and cleanly householder will have too many flies to risk having no screens on his doors and windows. As for the large majority of farmers, who are as yet unwilling to take the pains to remove the manure weekly and trap or poison the remaining flies, they will have these pests literally by the thousands.

Now, there may frequently be some good excuse for not hauling out the manure, or not trapping or poisoning the flies, but ignorance, indolence and poverty combined are not enough to excuse a man for not screening his windows and doors. No, it is not expensive to screen your house. It will cost you from ten to twenty cents to tack mosquito netting over the outside of each window frame. Is that expensive? If you say it is, what do you mean life and health? Mosquito netting will last for a year, and I really better than wire screen because the little fibers protruding from the threads make the mesh fine enough to keep out mosquitoes as well as flies. Ordinary wire screen has a mesh of to the inch. It takes 18 mesh wire to keep out the mosquitoes. So far as expense is concerned, when we consider the fly-borne typhoid fever, and the first and second year babies that the doctors have been polite enough to say died of summer complaint, instead of fly complaint, we find that we cannot afford not to screen our doors and windows.—W. H. Booker, in the Progressive Farmer.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation. —AGV.
