JAPANESE COLONIES IN LOUISIANA.

The colonizing of Japanese farmers from California on Louisiana lands is meeting with considerable opposition, and in the discussion arising, both for and against the proposition, it is comforting to note that the admission is made that the Louisiana farm lands are the finest to be found anywhere.

DISTRICT COURT

A number of cases in the District Court of more or less importance were decided by Judge Lancaster, Friday, among them being the suit against the town of Slidell, in which an injunction was prayed for to prevent the town from purchasing property for the purpose of opening up Front street.

Another case that attracted considerable interest was the case of Robt. Stern vs. Houlton-Johnson Co., to enforce the cashing of trade tickets that had been issued by that company, marked as good for 80 cents, but that were redeemable at the store for one dollar in trade.

Following are the cases decided: Robt. Stern vs. Houlton Johnson Co. Decision for plaintiff. Lemuel W. Purvis vs. New Orleans Great Northern Railroad Co. Asking for value of cow lost en route from Franklinton through mismanagement. Judgment for plaintiff for $75.00.

E. P. Dunham and G. G. McNeil vs. Town of Slidell, et al. Suit enjoining town from purchasing property from J. W. Decker et al., for the purpose of opening up Front street. Injunction granted. S. A. Woods Machine Co. vs. Sun Lumber Co., Ltd. Suit to compel company to pay for matcher and planer purchased from plaintiffs. Defendants claimed that purchases were not as represented in contract. Judgment for plaintiff.

Douglas Farris vs. New Orleans & Northeastern Railroad Co. Suit for $25,000 damages for death of Ferdinand Parris, killed at Fremont street crossing by switch engine. Judgment for defendant.

LOUISIANA BOARD OF HEALTH.

New Orleans, April 12, 1915. To Whom It May Concern:

Yesterday a committee representing the law abiding water-craft shipping interest, called at the office of the State Board of Health and entered a vigorous protest against existing laxity in fumigation regulations. This committee advised that certain boats, launches and other water-craft leave the port of New Orleans without a certificate of proper fumigation from the Federal authorities; that few if any of the Health Officers at landing points outside the parish of Orleans ever request certificate or ask whether the boats have these credentials.

Special men have been detailed for this service by the State Board of Health, and in future the captain mate or person in charge of every boat, launch or other water-craft for the transportation of passengers or freight of any character failing to secure proper certificate from the Federal Health Authorities, clearing from the port of Orleans will be prosecuted by the District Attorney under the Sanitary Code, State of Louisiana, as amended at the February meeting 1915.

Health officers are requested to comply with the law or advise their reason for failure to see that these regulations are obeyed in their respective jurisdiction.

Yours very truly, OSCAR DOWLING, President St. Board of Health.

WHO CARRIES THE LOAD IN ST. TAMMANY?

In answer to the last call from the State Bank Examiner under date of March 16, 1915, the Deposits and Loans and Discounts as reported by the banks of St. Tammany Parish were as follows:

Table showing deposits and loans for Covington Bank & Trust Co. and other banks. Total deposits: $401,600.48. Total loans and discounts: $419,588.03.

As will be seen from the above figures, while the Covington Bank & Trust Co. carried only practically half of the total deposits in the parish (49 1/2 per cent to be exact), they carried 54 per cent of the loans, or $62,000 more than all the other banks combined.

This statement is not made in a spirit of boasting, but rather to answer the charge made by a few of our friends who say that our bank is too conservative and will not loan its money. Being conservative does not prevent the loaning of money. Being conservative does protect the depositor. If a man has means to secure a loan, he should not object to putting it up; if he has no security to put up, he should not expect accommodation.

We would just as soon make a good loan as to receive a deposit.
