SHALL STATE BE RULED BY DEMOCRATS OR REPUBLICANS?

Hon. Harry K. Wilson. Mr. Wilson reviewed the Parker platform, showing the fallacy in the promise for easy money to the farmers, the effect of the short ballot and the constitutional convention. He showed that the carrying out of these policies would make Parker the biggest boss the State has ever known. That all this cry about the power of Bob Ewing was buncombe. That he was able to secure only 1800 votes for his candidate, Aswell, in New Orleans. He also showed that the charge that the sheriff of Tangipahoa parish is getting $12,000 to $13,000 a year was without foundation. The law specially prohibited sheriffs from receiving more than $8,000 as tax collector, and he was confident that the sheriff and clerk of court of St. Tammany parish would be willing to accept a salary of $3500. That fees that were paid to these officers did not come out of the state treasury but were paid by the people. That if he got married he would have to pay for his license; if he bought a piece of property he would have to pay for the transfer and the recordation.

Mr. Wilson gave a particularly ludicrous description of the pink ticket fraud charge of Ferd. Claiborne. He said that it was nothing more nor less than a sample ticket, sawing how to vote, and could not be voted itself. That Mr. Claiborne was himself on the pink ticket and that he was the greatest lover of the Regulars of them all until he failed to get the votes.

He charged Parker with deserting Hall after he had picked him up, and with making the statement that he would not vote for any man who voted in the Democratic primary. That Parker only wanted the vote of the men that were loyal to the Progressive Party. Mr. Wilson showed that with the powers Parker was making plans to surround himself he would be in complete control to do whatever he wished. That he could hold the whip over the head of the attorney general and command or prevent prosecutions.

Col. T. Samuela Jones. Col. Jones carried the attention of the audience throughout a long and interesting speech. He spoke of the probability of Harvey E. Ellis being the next congressman from this district, complimenting him highly and speaking of him as the son of one of the greatest orators the State ever produced, the "silver tongued orator of the South."

He said that Parker was no Democrat. Not a Democrat by principle. That he was an aristocrat. Says he is a Progressive in fact is a Republican. He is the candidate of a handful of men in the sugar district. That the Progressive Party was dying of infantile paralysis and John Parker was called in as an expert. That the party will be swallowed up, as soon as the convention meets in Chicago, by Republicans. That it took twenty-five years to reach the position where we would be able to name our State officers. If Parker could be elected, never would we have the privilege of naming our own attorney general, or who should occupy any other State office. The short ballot means that we may elect the governor and then go home and let him do the rest.

Parker's proposition for the constitutional convention was to elect twenty-five delegates, two from each district and nine at large, which would mean twelve parishes unrepresented in the convention. Don't think St. Tammany parish would be among the represented, for it would not.

As for the establishment of rural banks by Parker, that was all nonsense. It would require millions of dollars to do this, and it was a matter for the United States government and was being considered and would ultimately be put in force.

As for the pink ticket, Parker was the first man to send out pink tickets, which he did to secure votes for Hall. That Parker was the biggest boss ever. He had been trying to name mayor for New Orleans since he was a boy. That he turned both Foster and Hall down because he could not dictate to them.

Mr. Jones said that the effect of the Parker plans, if put into execution, would inevitably result in bringing the negro back into politics. That it would give the balance of power to the negro. It was a dangerous proposition and should be shunned.

Mr. Jones concluded with a plea for Democratic loyalty. If there were wrongs, they could not be corrected by going outside the party. They should be corrected within the party. All that Louisiana possesses came from the Democratic party. We need expect nothing from the Republicans. The Democratic party had given this parish one congressman, and it may give another one (referring to Mr. Ellis).

Hon. Geo. K. Favrot. Mr. Favrot said that this campaign was a contest between parties, not candidates. That it was an attempt by Parker to overthrow the Democracy of Louisiana. He referred to the rule of the Republicans during the days of reconstruction and the struggle of the white men of Louisiana to rescue the State. He said that the present battle should rally to the standard of the Democratic Party every white man in the State from Arkansas to the Gulf.

stitutional convention meant eight delegates from New Orleans and seven from the other thirty-three parishes. He said he did not claim that Parker wished to re-establish the negro, but the effect would be to do so, by bringing him back into politics. When election is anywhere close, with a split in the party, there is always a mad scramble for the vote. That twice in his experience this situation had arisen, and in both instances the support of negro turned the table.

The audience was an appreciative one and the speakers were frequently applauded, and there was hearty applause when the name of Mr. Ellis was mentioned as the probable next congressman.

Dates of Speaking And General News In Col. Pleasant's Campaign.

New Orleans, March 29th.—The week beginning Monday, April 3d will see several democratic speaking parties on the stump, covering practically every section of the state. Col. Ruffin G. Pleasant, democratic nominee for governor, will speak from one end of the state to the other, his itinerary including East Feliciana, Ascension, St. Charles, St. James, Avoyelles and DeSoto parishes. The following week he will spend three days in the Florida parishes, visiting St. Helena, Livingston and St. Tammany. During the coming week Col. Pleasant will be accompanied by Hon. John Overton, of Rapides parish.

Congressman J. B. Aswell will return to Louisiana April 6th and will resume his speaking tour in the Florida parishes, visiting Washington and Tangipahoa parishes. The final week of the campaign he will be in the eighth district, visiting the parishes of Grant, Winn, Avoyelles, Rapides, Sabine, LaSalle and the parish of Jackson in the fifth district. Dr. Aswell will be accompanied through the Florida parishes by Delos R. Johnston, recently nominated for the state senate. Mr. Johnston will also speak with Col. Pleasant in his senatorial district.

Hon. John T. Watkins, of the fourth congressional district, will be in his tour of the fourth district at Bosshatta, Red River parish, Monday, April 3d, and will be accompanied by L. E. Thomas, chairman of the democratic state central committee, and Hon. John Paul Jones, of Ousland, member of the state senate.

Congressman L. Lazaro, of the seventh district, will begin a tour of his home parish, visiting every district, and starting Saturday, April 8th and running up to Monday night, April 17th. He will open in Acadia and close in St. Landry. Hon. John Overton, of Rapides, and Hon. L. Austin Fontenot, of Opelousas, will accompany the seventh district congressman.

Other speaking parties will include Judge A. V. Cook, nominee for attorney general; Hon. Jas. J. Bailey, nominee for secretary of state; Lieutenant Governor Thos. C. Barrett;

Hon. Fernand Mouton, nominee for lieutenant governor; Hon. Harry D. Wilson, nominee for commissioner of agriculture; T. Sambola Jones, Geo. K. Favrot, James Wilkinson, former Governor J. Y. Sanders, and scores of other leading democrats in all sections of the state.

One of the features of the campaign during the present week was the appearance on the stump of Lieutenant Governor Barret, defeated in the recent primary, who spoke at Leesville, Vernon parish, Monday night, in behalf of his successful opponent. He dwelt largely upon the obligation of the primary, declaring that the man who participated could not with honor refuse to support the nominee. Mr. Barret's splendid example will have a splendid effect on those who followed him in the primary contest.

The Louisiana Supreme Court, in a decision on this point, said, in the case of LaBaue vs. Michel, 12 Louisiana.

"That the voter, by participating in a primary, implicitly promises a BINDS HIMSELF IN HONOR to support the nominee, and that a statute which exacts from him any express promise to that effect adds nothing to his moral obligation and does not undertake to add anything to his legal obligation."

In other words, the men who will not pay a debt unless he is forced to do so by law, failing to consider his moral obligation in the matter is in much the same category as the man who refuses to carry out his political obligation simply because there is no law to bind him to do so. Moral obligation is much higher and stronger than legal obligation with a scrupulously honest man, and no sort of argument can convince an honest man to the contrary. This is the sentiment expressed by Lieutenant Governor Barret in his Leesville speech Monday night.

On Saturday, April 8th, the anniversary of the Battle of Mansfield, Col. Pleasant, Lieut. Governor Barret and Congressman John T. Watkins will be the speakers at a great democratic rally to be held in the DeSoto parish metropolis. It is expected that visitors will be drawn from all over northwest Louisiana for this occasion—the first and only time the successful and the defeated candidate in the primary will speak from the same platform.

Senator Robert F. Broussard's denunciation of Senator Joseph E. Ransdell and Col. Robt. Ewing on the floor of the United States Senate Monday, has failed of its intended purpose, and is not turning any third district votes to the Bull-Moore candidate for governor and lieutenant governor.

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

J. S. Cullinan ON CITIZENSHIP.

Mr. J. S. Cullinan, President of the Texas Economic League, in inviting the people to study and discuss citizenship and to give special attention to the problems of government, said in part: "Before we can intelligently study so important a subject as citizenship we must first define it. What is citizenship? Who is the best American citizen? Search the statute books for a definition of citizenship and unless one is a member of the legal profession we immediately become entangled in a labyrinth of confusing and oftentimes contradictory laws seeking to promote or restrain most every form of human activity, much of them good, some of them bad and others indifferent. But laws come and go; the Constitution is permanent. The preamble of our Federal Constitution states that our government is organized to give its citizens liberty and happiness. Read the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States and one cannot escape the conclusion that the best American citizen is he who is most free, patriotic, just, happy and active and who hands down to posterity a civilization more capable than he found it. The spirit of our country is freedom and no man can become a true American citizen unless he is free."

Turning a moment from documents of State perhaps the best authority on citizenship, and one universally accepted by the public, is Webster's International Dictionary, which defines a citizen as "A member of a State; a person, native or naturalized, of either sex, who owes allegiance to government and is entitled to reciprocal protection from it." Further: "A citizen as such is entitled to the protection of life, liberty and property at home and abroad."

We now have before us the authoritative definition of citizenship by both government and society and in order that the most humble citizen may feel perfectly free to enter into a study and discussion of this subject I will briefly outline my conception of what citizenship involves for the work of the Texas Economic League will be in vain if the most lowly citizen does not feel free to give serious thought and expression to his obligation to government and his responsibility to his fellow men.

Applied to able-bodied adult males, with which I take it we will have chiefly to do, a citizen's duty, in return for the rights, privileges and protection outlined above, would seem to be: First, to expend sufficient labor in production, or auxiliary occupations, viz., manufacture, transportation and distribution, to support himself and his family in comfort. Second, conform to all laws framed in the interest of society under the Constitution. Third, contribute his just proportion to the maintenance of government in personal time, payment of taxes or, if need be, bearing arms in the defense of the nation.

In reaching the above conclusions I have assumed that under our system of government citizens are owners in common and are entitled to the rights and benefits of government during the term of their natural lives and for such period only.

No. 2 FREE BILL FOR ALL PARISH FAIRS.

Secretary Louis N. Bruengerhoff of the La. State Fair of Shreveport, has prepared a bill known as the Free Fair Bill, and which he desires introduced at the coming session of the General Assembly with a view of said bill becoming a law.

In order that all officials of parish and district fairs of this state may become acquainted with this bill he has issued a call for two meetings to be held next month, one for Shreveport for Thursday, April 6th and the other for Baton Rouge Tuesday, April 11th. The reason for the two meetings is that those living nearest either city can attend where most convenient.

He has included in his invitation in the call all officials of parish fair and district fairs, demonstration agents, agricultural high school superintendents, parish superintendents and members of police juries and especially those where no fair is held and all officials connected with the Louisiana State University, junior extension service, livestock extension bureau, state experiment stations, all newspapers, etc.

In addition to the discussing of this bill, dates for all the fairs will be set so as to arrange several circuits throughout the state with a view of not having any fairs conflicting with each other. Uniform premium lists will be prepared and a general discussion as to how best to conduct fairs will be held.

Every person interested in fairs or organization of fairs is hereby invited to participate at either meeting. For further information write to Secretary of the Louisiana State Fair of Shreveport, and also advise him which meeting you will attend.
