"MY OWN UNITED STATES"

picturing big moments of American History picturized in Eight Dramatic Parts

"MY OWN UNITED STATES" pictures the most interesting pages of American History. It is not a War Picture, but a romantic drama showing real historical characters in events vital to the history of the Nation.

The entire picture is played against a chain of historical events, the duel of Hamilton and Burr, the battle of the famous frigate "Constitution" with the Algerian Pirates, and other scenes of equal import, each of which is enacted with utmost fidelity. By special Government permission, the original veteran of the American Navy, the "Constitution," was used in scenes transpiring on board "Old Ironsides."

"MY OWN UNITED STATES" will help every boy and girl, man and woman, in Covington to become better acquainted with the history of the great Republic on the face of the globe—the United States of America.

LOUISIANA ASKS CHANCE FOR HER SECOND SUGARS.

Louisiana has about ten million pounds of second and third sugars on hand, which were worked up in June. The sugar producers depended upon the sales of these sugars to provide much of the money for the preparation for the harvesting and conversion of the coming crop. The price fixed for these sugars is fairly satisfactory, but the planters say there has been little possibility of sale because of the sugar distribution system. With the industries cut down to the lowest notch they naturally confine purchases to the highest grade sugar so as to secure the most sweetening the law allows. The second and third sugars provide six or more degrees less sweetening and were, therefore, a drug in the market. The planters claim that the rules which come to the rescue as far as the refineries, who would not reduce their margin of profit accordingly, so that the refiners would be the only people benefited. They urge an amendment to the rules so that the second and third sugars would be admitted to the allotment on their sweetening value, instead of on the quantity basis. Geo. M. Rolph, head of the sugar division of the United States Food Administration, after refusing to make any exceptions, arguing that opening the door would have a tendency to disrupt the entire distribution system, has consented to give Louisiana a special hearing and an early conference will take place.

John M. Parker, Food Administrator for Louisiana, has in the meantime come to the rescue as far as this state is concerned. The July allotment of 10,000,000 pounds was cut to a little over 6,000,000 pounds for August. A reduced distribution was made among the dealers, bakers, eating places and other essentials. The remainder is being divided among the non-essential and less essential industries, and the outlook was that many of these would be seriously crippled. In order to give them as much sugar as possible without entrenching upon the short supply of high grade sugars, Mr. Parker avoided further cutting down in a large number of cases by permitting them to purchase second and third sugars in place of the higher grade, which gave them nearly as much sweetening as they previously had. This will work a double benefit, as the welfare of the state is to a large extent bound up with that of the sugar industry.

Official ban has been placed upon sherberts just as it was upon the "snowballs," the newboys' summer delight. There is an immense summer trade in New Orleans and other Louisiana cities. Sherbert is the cooling effect, the only food value in sherbert is the sugar contents. This sugar demand made it impossible to continue manufacture in view of the decreased allowance. Enterprising soda fountain operators thought they saw a way out by utilizing concentrated syrups instead of sugar and applied for permission to do so. The matter was referred to Washington which has ruled that sherberts be discontinued entirely without regard to the manner of their making. It also intimated that Louisiana did not spring anything new in the application. The question had already been discussed with the national refreshment industry, the use of ice as well as sugar was involved, and the National Ice Cream Manufacturers' Association has voluntarily discontinued the production of sherberts. Louisiana was, therefore, asked to smilingly do the same. Ice cream is about the last resort of the tastes which crave for combination of coolness and sweetness.

Citizens from this and other states, who recently have traveled, congratulate Louisiana upon the patriotic manner in which Washington has ruled that sherberts be discontinued. Mr. Parker, because of his office, is in closer touch with the spirit, for he has had daily callers voluntarily conveying information of sugar possession in excess of the government limit with offers to surrender the surplus. The parish administrators report many similar cases. Joseph Ramirez, Administrator for East Baton Rouge, became convinced that the Meyer Hotel, at the capitol, had more sugar than the rules permitted, and in order to find out he and W. P. Connel, the District Administrator, made a charge in the Federal Court which permitted a search warrant. It proved that not only were the hotel's returns incorrect, but that it was hoarding sugar, 1900 pounds of sugar. A hearing before E. T. Merrick, head of the Enforcement Division, at New Orleans, was marked with a frank admission of the Meyers, who said that the legislature rush had forced them to depend upon employees to look after the sugar matter and that the mixup had resulted without their knowledge. In view of their wheatless and other food conservation record, Mr. Ramirez asked them to pay a fine of $1,000 to the Red Cross and to distribute their sugar among Baton Rouge charities. The sentence has been complied with. The court charge has been dropped, its main object having been to obtain the search warrant. C. D. Kalmback, Food Administrator at Shreveport, obtained $25.00 for the Red Cross from a Greek caterer, for inducing a dealer to sell him a few pounds of sugar against a certificate which he had never obtained.

The rumored and expected change in the four rules have not eventuated, and the regulations still stand. The uniform certificates for the Southern States are about completed and will soon be issued.

Lake Charles, Aug. 7th.—Several lives were lost and property damage amounting to more than $1,000,000 was caused by the tropical storm, which swept an area thirty miles wide in this section Tuesday. Ten were killed here; four persons were killed in De Quincy; three at Big Lake; two at Gerstner Field, and at least twenty seriously injured. The list is being added to by mail and messenger, as all telegraph and telephone communication has been interrupted.

Those killed at Gerstner Field were Sergeant George Magee and Private Lester Williams. Their addresses were not announced nor were details of the manner in which they were killed made public.

Fires broke out in many buildings, which collapsed during the storm, but the flames were extinguished at many places by the hard rainfall, following the windstorm.

At Gerstner Field, the big aviation camp where hundreds of men are now being trained, every hangar except two was demolished, and the camp was damaged severely.

Nearly all of the 400 airplanes at the field were destroyed, the others being so badly damaged that the entire aerial equipment has been counted as lost. The two hangars not leveled were badly damaged.

The new Y. M. C. A. Building was destroyed, as were the officers' quarters, the barracks, machine shop and storerooms.

Besides the two killed at the field, seven were injured, some seriously. Lieut. Stagner with seventy-five soldiers came to Lake Charles to aid in maintaining order.

No martial law has been declared and Mayor Troll announces the situation will not require any outside aid, but tenders of help have arrived from many points. Messages from Governor Pleasant and John Marshall, secretary of the State Council of Defense, today offered aid in any particular desired.

After the wind had been high all day, the hurricane broke suddenly at 1:30 p. m., Tuesday, a velocity of 80 miles an hour being attained. The velocity increased to 120 miles an hour and the territory affected was about forty miles north and south and thirty miles east and west. Lake Charles, Edgerly, Sulphur and Jennings were damaged badly, but only meager reports are being received.

Twenty Years Test

Our bank has been in business just twenty years. We opened our doors for business the year in which the Maine was sunk and we sent our brave boys across the waters to Cuba, where they made short work with our enemies the Spaniards. Since then our Country has progressed, our community has progressed, our bank has progressed. During that time our resources have increased from $15,000 to practically $1,000,000. Relatively speaking, we have grown even faster than the resources of our Country at large. Our Country is now engaged in another war, a tremendous war. We have already sent more than a million of our best young men to fight on a foreign soil in order that civilization might not be destroyed. And our institution is glad to know that its large resources stand behind these men. Our bank, its stockholders and depositors all stand ready to sacrifice in order that our boys might fight successfully and be brought back to us in safety.

Gerstner Field Wrecked. That Gerstner Field, the training camp for aviators, was badly damaged and that property lost there and around Lake Charles would amount to a million dollars, was the information conveyed to the general office of the Southern Pacific in Houston late today by a conductor of the lines who made his way to Vinton from Lake Charles and reported from that place.

Railroad, telegraph and telephone communication with the outside is expected to be fully repaired in the next few hours.

Use Doan's Kidney Pills as have your friends and neighbors. Wm. Schleich, Madisonville, La., says: "My back and kidneys were giving me a great deal of trouble. A pounding pain settled across my hips and made it difficult for me to stoop or do any lifting at all. At times, the kidney secretions became too frequent and contained sediment. I had no control over the action of my kidneys. I didn't feel like myself at all, but as soon as I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills I commenced to feel better and when I had used them a short while, I felt like a different man. It is a long time since I used this remedy. Doan's deserves all the credit for giving me a permanent cure." Price 50c, at all dealers. COURTS TO CO-OPERATE TO ENFORCE VET LAW (Continued from page 1) district courts and parish officials, in rigid enforcement of the dipping law, before a recommendation for release from quarantine will be approved. A Conservative Measure. The demands of our government to conserve meats, that we may be better able to feed our allies and our soldiers at the front and elsewhere, calls for more cattle, better cattle, and the conservation of what we now have. The supreme effort to maintain conditions of sanitation, the prevention and elimination of all infectious and contagious diseases among our live stock, makes it obligatory that the cattle dipping law be rigidly enforced, for purposes of greater meat production. For innumerable years the South has been the loser of millions of dollars annually, by the presence of ticks infesting its cattle, a hindrance to their normal growth, producing tick fever and causing death. The ticks must go, and the sooner they are gone, the quicker will the parasites be relieved of the expense, and it is especially urged that the united action alone will accomplish this task.

Our cattle dipping laws were enacted for the upbuilding of an industry most essential to the aggrandisement of the Southland, its cattle owners and general prosperity. The cattle dipping laws were intended not to govern us, as a whip over our head "to make us dip," but something for us all to be governed by, for the betterment of our stock conditions.

Presuming the intelligence of man would lead him to see the necessity of eradicating a blood-sucking parasite from his live stock as a asset to his farm and giving him the means of so doing, it was expected he would, or should, avail himself of a golden opportunity. However, experience has proven in tick eradication propaganda, as in other public improvement existing in a class that is its blemished opinion interferes with the so-called "personal liberty."

This work, therefore, cannot be expedited except by united action—an incomparable resource in tick eradication—and any cattle owner who has faithfully complied, freed his cattle and premises of ticks, has a just claim for recognition by the owner him to see the necessity of eradicating a blood-sucking parasite from his live stock as a asset to his farm and giving him the means of so doing, it was expected he would, or should, avail himself of a golden opportunity. However, experience has proven in tick eradication propaganda, as in other public improvement existing in a class that is its blemished opinion interferes with the so-called "personal liberty."

For constructive legislation the cattle dipping laws are models of progressive enactment. All research by legal lights to test the constitutionality of these measures fail to find a weak link in the chain. Our progressive cattle owners are of the representative citizenship of our State, and deserving of protection against re-invasion of the destructive tick.

In accordance with Act 25, laws of 1917, the sovereignty of our courts is the force that can hasten the end to dipping, bring the cost of eradication, and reduce us the fruits of a better industry.
