THE DEVELOPMENT OF ST. TAMMANY PARISH.

It has been tiresome to walk with the average citizen and hear the remark that the Lord has done much for us, but we have done nothing for ourselves.

AND WHAT MAKES IT DISCOURAGING IS, THAT THIS STATEMENT EXPRESSES A FACT.

Thousands of acres of land denuded of its wealth, warmed by the sun in winter and cooled by the rains of summer, depending upon Nature to force the early shoots of tender grass that fattens cattle that have kept alive in winter by nosing in the undergrowth. Its only product is free range and its only community value has been taxes.

We at home admit that we are laughing in the face of opportunity, without making any effort to realize on an asset of acknowledged value. But the traveled stranger comes among us with the full view of the opportunist. His senses are not dulled by long years of contact with a policy of "watchful waiting." He picks the ripe fruit while we are waiting for it to fall. This is not simply our experience, it is the experience of all sections of the country. It is the man from the outside who is seeking opportunity, while we are waiting for it.

HE FINDS IT FIRST.
But the necessity for developing our agricultural interests; the necessity for making our thousands of acres of tax producing lands produce something that will outgrow the taxes and smother the weeds of idleness; the necessity for keeping abreast of the wonderful development that has sprung up all around us has materialized in a meeting of prominent citizens in Covington, last Tuesday, at which the St. Tammany Parish Association of Commerce was organized. Its object is the development of St. Tammany parish. It has behind it the best business brains of this and adjoining parishes. It will be on a good financial basis from the start. Its organization is the result of the united action of the banks of the parish. Mr. Eugene Arnett, of Chicago, who has recently become a large property holder here and who has great faith in the opportunity offered for investment here was present and joined the Association. The movement should receive the aid of every property-holder.

The Covington Association of Commerce has done excellent work, also, and is just attaining a financial standing that enables it to do things.

It will shortly announce the establishment of several new industries that are taking shape and are almost positively assured; among them a paint factory. It is working constantly for the farmer's interest as well as the merchant's. Every member who has paid a dollar into its treasury will be glad to know that he assisted to that extent.

The Parish Fair Association has also a share in the honors of progress. It is reaching a point where its stock will be a good investment financially, as well as philanthropically.

Powdered Soap For the Finest Linens

Table linens cost a lot of money. More now than ever before. You can't afford to rub the life out of them on a washboard. You can't afford to take chances with a gritty soap that will just eat them up.

Wash them with Grandma's powdered Soap. Table linens, laces and all delicate fabrics are just the things that powdered soap washes beautifully.

Grandma's Powdered Soap is the finest kind of cake soap—powdered up. Takes the place of washing powder and bar soap. Does the work of both. Just a spoonful in your water and then, marvelous bursting suds that clean without rubbing. Just try Grandma's Powdered Soap and you will never wash with anything else.

Order a package of Grandma's Powdered Soap to-day.
