

UPHOLDING COTTON

In the past eleven years the cotton crops of the South sold for $13,236,000,000.

If the cotton growers had banded together eleven years ago—as they have now in the American Cotton Association—they would have driven out the poverty, the privations that have been forced upon them by low prices and the domination of speculators who have profited at their expense.

But, thanks to the American Cotton Association, cotton is at last free from economic and speculative slavery that has bound it for years.

Today the South is a unit—farmers, merchants, bankers—in upholding cotton for the good of all.

This Bank is for the cotton grower first, last and all the time. Whatever it can do to boost the prosperity of the cotton grower, it will do. And it believes that economic freedom for the whole South is coming through the American Cotton Association.

Know all there is to know about the South's new freedom. It will pay everyone of us this year!

Little House Keeper will tell you each week how to furnish your home properly.

Dear Friends:--

In our "Little Housekeeper" you recognize MARY JANE who is BUSTER BROWN'S little sister as she appears in the big newspapers.

She will be in this paper each week for a long time and advertise our furniture store.

Advertising is merely telling you WHO we are, WHERE we are, WHAT we have to offer and what we ask for it, and WHEN we have it. It is the easiest way for us to tell you about our business—a thing you all desire to know.

We know you will read what "Little House Keeper" has to say.

Respectfully yours,

THE KEY TO SUCCESS.

The Sure Road to Happiness Clearly Pointed Out by Our Postmaster.

If you wish to know whether you will be a success or failure in life, there is a simple, infallible test. Can you save money if you can you win. If not, you lose.—James J. Hill.

The fathers and mothers of this community wish to make sure that their children are successes and Mr. Hill has shown how this can be done.

The time to form the saving habit is while the children are young. They enter into the spirit of thrift with enthusiasm and if taught it now and the habit is fixed while the mind is young and plastic it will follow them through life and prove a blessing to all concerned.

In this connection Postmaster Jacob Sellen reminds us the week of March 22-27 will be Thrift Week in the Southeastern States composing the Sixth Federal Reserve District and he urges every teacher and every parent in this community to take advantage of this opportunity to establish the habit of saving, which means so much to their children.

"Every parent in town," said the Postmaster, "should see that his or her child has a Thrift Card and is encouraged to fill it out with stamps. Twenty-five cents is not a large sum to pay for a Thrift Stamp and if the habit is formed and the Stamps regularly bought and placed upon the card it will not be long before the child will have enough to buy a War Savings Stamp, which bears four per cent interest. This, in time, will grow into a $100 Savings Certificate if the purchase of Stamps is continued."

"If a boy of fifteen buys one Savings Stamp a month until he is twenty-five, he will have $700, including accrued interest, and with this nest egg he can, on a reasonable salary, largely increase his savings and by the time he is thirty have $1500 or $2000 to invest in business.

"If a father and mother, at the birth of a child, will buy two Savings Stamps a month they will have enough to send the child to college by the time it is sixteen years old. By that time the principle and interest will amount to $2500, which will pay several years' expenses in college."

"Practically all great fortunes were founded on thrift, which means working and saving. Washington, Franklin and all great men practiced it. Since the time of Joseph in Egypt there have been fat years and lean years and those who were wise like Joseph in laying aside something during the good years to meet the years of adversity, have been the happy and prosperous people."

"Thrift Stamp Week gives you a good chance to start your boy or girl on the road to independence and happiness."

Any teacher can secure from the Postmaster thrift cards on which the pupils can paste their Thrift Stamps.

TO RID CABBAGE OF WORMS.

An old, but a very effectual way to rid cabbage of worms, eggs or other pests, is as follows: Take one-quarter pound of washing soda (sal-sodium), dissolve in a small quantity of hot water, then add enough of cold water to make volume of two gallons. Put in water can and sprinkle leaves of plants. Two applications are usually sufficient. Should worms re-appear, repeat remedy. The above will not injure plants or people eating same.
