WINDSHIELD LIABLE TO LEAK

Where Water Seeps Through Between Two Panes Trouble May Be Obviated by Lapping Them.

With the slanting type of windshield water is liable to leak through the slight opening between the two panes of glass when a heavy storm is encountered. This trouble may be obviated by making one of the panes overlap the other, which, of course, calls for the fitting of a new upper or lower half.

SAYS CAR RUNS BEST AT NIGHT

Authority on Engineering Explains Effect of Cool Atmosphere on Motor.

COMBUSTION MORE PERFECT

Evening Air Estimated to Make Difference of About 5 Per Cent in Power of Engine—Produces More Powerful Impulse.

Speaking in a general sense, a motor ought to run better at night than in the daytime. Whether it does so or not has been a matter of argument between motorists ever since motorists existed, and one readily remembers columns of discussion that lasted for years in almost all the early automobile magazines.

Really, the thing is very simple, says that engineering authority, A. Ludlow Clayton, in Motor Life. One is liable to forget that two things are burned in a gasoline motor—gasoline and air. Neither can burn without the other. Also to get the best and most powerful combustion the proportions of gasoline to air cannot vary very much. To one cylinder full of air just so much gasoline and no more can be added.

Cylinder Full of Air.

To one cylinder full of air! What is a cylinder full? The answer is that it all depends upon what you fill it from. Everybody knows that when driving in very high altitudes the rarefied air causes a noticeable loss of power; anyone who has driven at 5,000 feet elevation cannot fail to have observed this.

Now, the real reason for the loss of power is that owing to the rarefying effect of the altitude, the piston can only suck in a smaller amount of air which will only carry with it a smaller amount of gasoline, and so will only produce a more feeble explosion. Of course, the volume of air taken in on the suction stroke is just the same whatever the altitude, but its weight is less in proportion as the altitude increases and the ratio for best combustion is between the weight of the fuel and the weight of the air necessary to insure reasonably complete combustion.

Heat Rarefies Air.

Other things have the same effect as altitude. For instance, heat rarefies air by expanding it so that on a hot day the air charge which an engine can breathe in is smaller in weight than it would be on a cold day. In testing airplane engines it is an invariable practice to make an allowance for the temperature of the atmosphere because the difference in power is quite appreciable. With a 300 horsepower engine a variation of 15 horsepower or more can easily occur by reason of nothing else but change in the air temperature.

Here is one of the principal reasons why an automobile motor does run better at night. Night air is almost always cooler than day air, so at night the engine can get a heavier charge and so produce a more powerful impulse at each explosion.

ANTI-SKID CHAIN INVENTED

Flat Plates With Lugs or Projections Serve to Prevent Slipping of Motor Vehicle.

In illustrating and describing an anti-skid device, the invention of E. Benjestorf, Fernwood, Saskatchewan, Canada, the Scientific American says: In connection with tire chains for the wheels of motor vehicles the inventor provides relatively flat plates

Anti-Skid Tread Plate for Tires.

With lugs or projections which serve to prevent skidding of the vehicle. Owing to the fact that short lengths of chain pass between the lugs the possibility of clogging of the lugs with mud is removed.

TO KEEP WINDSHIELD CLEAR

New York Chauffeur Utilizes Piece of Chamolite Skin and Clean Rag or Paper.

Louis George, who has for twelve years been a chauffeur in New York, writes that for the last two years he has been keeping his windshield clear on rainy days in a very simple manner. When the windshield is first wet he takes a piece of chamolite skin, a clean rag or, if he has nothing else handy, a piece of newspaper, and rubs the glass with it, pressing quite hard, and he says the glass stays clear so long as the rain lasts.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

Keep watch on the spokes of the wheels, especially if the car is an old one. If the spokes can be shaken, tighten the bolts on the flanges of the hub.

In cases of chronically squeaky springs, try jacking up the car so that the weight is removed from the springs and then soaking these latter with kerosene.

SAVINGS SERMONETTE

Number Twenty-Two.

THE NEWLY WEDS

A happy future is assured to those who commence their married life with a savings account. It provides for emergencies which are bound to arise at times in every life. Prepare for these emergencies by putting aside a portion of your income regularly. Be frank with your wife; tell her exactly the amount of your salary or income and ask her to help you to set aside a certain sum to be saved every month. Get in the habit of feeling that this amount must be saved. The time will come, as it does in every one's life, when a good savings account will enable you to take advantage of an exceptional opportunity or enable you to meet trouble bravely.

Don't put off starting your savings account—do it at once, and by this time next year you will have an account to be proud of.

We invite your account and will be interested in its growth.
