ORDINANCE NO. 80.

An ordinance to define "Intoxicating Liquor"; to prohibit the manufacture, sale, transportation or possession thereof; to provide for search and seizure, and to fix penalties for the violation of this ordinance.

Section 1. Be it ordained by the Mayor and Town Council, That the term "Intoxicating Liquor" as used herein shall be construed to include alcohol, whiskey, brandy, rum, gin, beer, ale, porter, wine, or whatever named known or called, containing one-half of one per cent or more of alcohol by volume; and in addition thereto the term "Intoxicating Liquor" shall also include any alcoholic concoction, preparation or compound, whether medicated, proprietary, patented or not, containing one-half of one per cent or more of alcohol by volume, when manufactured, sold, transported or possessed for beverage purposes.

Section 2. Be it further ordained, etc., That the manufacture, sale, transportation or possession of intoxicating liquor is hereby prohibited in the limits of the Town of Covington, except this ordinance is not meant to prohibit the enjoyment of a bona fide United States Government permit, nor to prohibit acts authorized by the Act of Congress commonly known as the "National Prohibition Act," or the regulations issued thereunder.

all paraphernalia, etc., found on or about the premises and shall arrest and bring before the court all persons found therein and all those responsible for the operation of such place, including the owners, operators, tenants, employees, watchers, etc. The officer to whom the search warrant is issued shall make the usual returns thereon within thirty-six hours after it is issued.

Section 4. Be it further ordained, etc., That any person found guilty of violating this ordinance shall for the first offense be fined not less than fifty ($50) dollars and be imprisoned not less than ten days; and for the second or subsequent offense shall be fined not less than one hundred ($100) dollars and be imprisoned not less than thirty (30) days.

Section 5. Be it further ordained, etc., That all ordinances or parts thereof inconsistent with the provisions hereof are hereby repealed.

Upon a vote being taken the following voted yeas: H. A. Mackie, A. R. Smith, Emile Frederick, C. H. Sheffield, M. P. Planche.

Nays: None.

And the ordinance was adopted.

XX SURE CURES

"OLD JINGLESON says he can cure any disease by drinking hot water," announced the bald boarder. "He has had every disease that is officially recognized by the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons and has banished them all by that simple means."

nothing did him any good until he got a horse chestnut and carried it around in his pocket. Then the rheumatism disappeared, and hasn't played a return engagement since. I have talked with Jasper often, trying to point out the folly of his claim, but he refuses to yield an inch. "I used to have all kinds of rheumatics before I got that horse chestnut," he says, "and now I haven't a single one. Who would ask better proof than that?"

"And echo answers who, my dear Mrs. Jiggers. It may be that a horse chestnut in the hip pocket is a specific for rheumatism. It isn't safe to denounce any theory as a false alarm."

"Ira Grifway used to be always groaning about his diseases, until it became unpleasant to meet him. He couldn't talk about anything else. He ignored the crops and regarded the weather with contempt, and devoted all his great energy and talents to a discussion of the things that were hurting him. Then all of a sudden he began boasting of how hale and hearty he was. He explained that the road to health was absurdly easy, and there was no excuse for sickness anywhere. All a man had to do, he said, was to get up early in the morning, before sunrise, and draw in a hundred long breaths of the crisp morning air."

"He made the discovery himself, and it was more important than any modern invention. His sincerity is shown by the fact that there was no possible graft connected with it. A man can't sell the morning atmosphere at so much per breath. Ira's great discovery was free to everybody. If I were going to invent a cure for anything I'd compound something that could be put up in bottles and sold at a dollar a throw. The man who invents a fresh air cure is running benevolence into the ground."

"His cure was so cheap that I decided to try it, as I was suffering from a broken heart and a sluggish liver at that period. I set my alarm clock for an hour before sunrise, and got up in the pale, bleak dawn, and put my head out of the window to inhale the prescribed hundred breaths. I had reached the twenty-seventh breath when a dissipated bee or wasp, on its way home from a night of revelry, stung me on the nose, and I was in such haste to put a porous plaster on that organ that I didn't finish the treatment, and never tried it again."

"But I knew many people who claimed they were cured of everything from the mumps, hoof and mouth disease, by the hundred-breaths treatment."

"There was a spring on my father's farm, and I doped it with sulphuric acid and a few other wholesome ingredients, and then began selling the water to the afflicted for ten cents a jug. Some marvelous cures were effected. Men hobbled there on crutches to buy the healing fluid, and when they left they threw their crutches away."

"For a brief session I had more small change than any boy in the county, but my father returned home from a visit, and when he found out what I had been doing, he interviewed me with a hickory pole, and for a year or two I was busy paying back the money I had collected from sufferers. The people who had been healed suffered a relapse as soon as they heard the water was faked; which goes to show, Mrs. Jiggers, that we are entitled to a better quality of butter on this table."

Way of Escape.

Flatbush—"That's a funny thing about a bow-legged man. Bensonhurst—What's that? "Why, when he meets a mad dog in a narrow alley he's more bow-legged than ever."

Just Like the Old Home.

Mr. Scrapeleg—Can you give my daughter a home such as she has been accustomed to? The Sutor—Well, I've got a bull terrier and a fighting cat and a parrot and if that won't do it I know where I can get a chimpanzee.

The Dear Girls.

Dora—Did you see the way that man smiled at me? Doris—Yes, dear. Let me have a look at your face. Perhaps you've got a smut on your nose!

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE AND FAMILY

Here are six visible reasons at least why the famous T. R. and the new Secretary of Agriculture, Henry C. Wallace of Des Moines, Ia., were great personal friends. It is those six sturdy Wallace children, three boys and three girls. Two of the boys and one girl are to remain in Des Moines and run the Wallace Farm papers while dad and mother go to Washington to live. Mrs. Wallace and the girls always did all of their own housework.

TESTED AND PROVEN.

There is a Heap of Solace in Being Able to Depend Upon a Well-Earned Reputation.

For months Covington readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, and read about the good work they have done in this locality. What other remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit? Ask your neighbor!

Charles Heintz, constable, Boston street, Covington says: "My trouble was mostly backache and a dull throbbing ache right across my kidneys caused me a lot of distress when I stooped. The way my kidneys acted showed me these organs were in a disordered condition and I commenced to use Doan's Kidney Pills. They brought me immediate relief and soon rid me entirely of this trouble. I have had a few slight returns of the trouble since, but a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills have always given the same prompt relief."

Alliteration.

Alliteration occurs sometimes in the writings of the ancients, but not, it is supposed, designedly, as they regarded all echoing of sound as a rhetorical blemish. Cicero, in the "Offices," has this phrase: "Sensim sine sensu aetas senescit;" and Virgil in the "Aeneid," has many marked alliterations.—William Mathews.
