MORE EVIDENCE BUSINESS END OF FARMING COUNTS

Air and Water Cannot Occupy the Same Space at the Same Time.

HOW SOUR SOIL MAY BE FORMED

Other Matters That Will Be Interesting to the Business Farmer.

(By A. E. Briggs)
There are two principal effects of drainage: (1) It removes water standing on the surface; (2) it lowers the depth of standing water. Some of the benefits derived are thus described in U. S. Farmers' Bulletin No. 805 concerning underdrainage (or tile drainage):

"It is manifest that air and water cannot occupy the same space at the same time and that water, being heavier, will crowd the air out of the soil pores. It is well known that for proper plant development the presence of air in the soil is as important as a supply of moisture. When underdrainage is installed and the excess water moves downward, the air is admitted into the soil and the proper balance between the air and moisture content is restored.

"When organic matter decays in the absence of air, as in water-logged soils, gases and other substances are sometimes formed which are injurious to plants. This is avoided by underdrainage, which enables the air to enter the soil.

"It takes much more to raise the temperature of a given volume of water one degree than it does to raise the temperature of the same volume of air to the same extent. Underdrainage makes possible a warmer soil. This result is of importance at all seasons of the year, but particularly so in early spring. Underdrainage induces earlier germination and the season is made both earlier and longer.

"Another really spring advantage of underdrainage is that plowing may be done much earlier and with greater ease.

"Underdrainage improves the texture of the soil itself by developing its drainage pores, promoting root development, permitting deeper cultivation, etc.

"Underdrainage increases available depth of soil, which is equivalent to increasing the available acreage without adding materially to the amount or cost of manipulation.

"Underdrainage increases the available moisture in the soil itself instead of decreasing it, as is feared by many. This is due to the fact that the plants develop a deeper and more complex rooting system which comes in contact with a greater number of soil particles and consequently a greater surface of water film area.

"For the same reason, underdrainage increases the valuable quantity of plant foods.

"Deep rooting in the spring also insures against drought. Plants growing on drained soil are not so liable to injury due to water shortage in the summer.

"Beneficial bacterial activity is largely suspended in cold, wet soils, and such activity is necessary to the manufacture of plant food and its conversion into available form. Underdrainage increases the zone and intensity of such bacterial activity."

Several similar statements concerning the advantages of drainage have been printed in these columns from other authorities on the subject. In brief what are the profits from drainage as shown by the scientific statements just quoted?

(1) Drainage acts like fertilizer, for by giving the plants air and removing injurious substances and by making more available the food already abundantly in the soil, it greatly increases the crop yield.

(2) By deepening the soil it brings a better return to the farmer than if he planted a greater acreage of crops, for he gets better crops without an increase in labor; and this is the principal reason why farmers used to good farming want well drained lands. (3) As drainage lightens the labor of tilling the soil and enables the farmer to keep the land constantly producing crops, because farming operations are not stopped very materially by wet ground following wet weather, the farmer uses his labor to better advantage.

(4) Because of the fact that drainage warms the soil, the crops may be planted earlier and they grow faster and earlier and more turly earlier than on soils not so well drained. And this is why drained lands are so much more valuable than undrained lands. If we are going into the business of profitable farming and if we are to grow valuable field crops, we must have drainage.

In preceding articles I have shown the great advantage of drainage in growing velvet beans (which is the best of green fertilizers and one of the very best of stock feeds), the sweet potato (most naturally adapted to our soils, a valuable forage crop and also a valuable market crop which can be fed in the field), oats in winter growing crop, valuable in the late winter and early spring for pasture and later harvested for its grain), cowpeas (a most valuable crop in rotations as it can be grown successively and advantageously year after year on the same

LACOMBE DOES ITSELF PROUD IN SCHOOL RALLY

Merchants of Lacombe and Oaklawn and Patrons Donate Provisions

FIFTEEN BOXES AUCTIONED OFF

A Cake for the Prettiest Girl Was Put Up at 5 Cents a Chance.

The rally given for the benefit of the school at Lacombe last Friday, was a big success. Provisions were donated by the merchants of Lacombe and Oaklawn and refreshments were donated by the patrons. The refreshments were sold by Mrs. Herman Krentel, Mrs. Tom Keller, Mrs. John Derr and Mrs. O. R. Mitchell.

Fifteen boxes were auctioned off, each represented by a pretty miss. Enthusiasm ran high among the young men and this was the biggest part of the rally. A cake also was put up for the prettiest girl and was taken at five cents per vote. Five young ladies participated, and Miss Dubarry, of Oaklawn, won the cake.

The night was an ideal one for an entertainment and a large crowd was present. People from Mandeville, Oaklawn, Slidell and St. Tammany were present. Everyone was under the spell of the evening—just one of those romantic Southern nights in springtime, when a full orb moon shrouded the earth with a silvery-silken veil of light. The breeze hummed merrily through the trees and the swaying of the branches danced their shadows upon the ground and before anyone realized the time had passed on into the small hours of the night. Even the music had a peculiar enchantment.

Mrs. Borey, of Mandeville, chaperoned the young folks from that town, and also a number of young folks from Slidell were present. Mr. J. T. Keller and Mr. Farnk Fogz, of St. Tammany, were there with a number of young folks from that community.

The romantic waters of Bayou Lacombe wind lazily southward, and on a blunt overlooking the bayou, where the lilies drift sloily by to the sea, is the town of Oaklawn, with its houses standing out against the deep forest like so many castles. From here hailed the little lady that won the cake put up for the prettiest girl. So, let us pay tribute to Oaklawn. Mr. and Mrs. E. Dubarry, from the same town, were also present.

ground and at a season when it is not usually crowding out other crops), and the corns and sorghums (particularly the latter, giving a cash crop in syrup and also valuable stock feed, especially when fed with legume hay); but everyone of these crops is directly benefited by drainage to such an extent as to make drainage mark the difference between success and failure in farming. When the saving of a single crop will pay the entire cost of drainage, and without drainage there are few years which pass without the loss of some crop on account of adverse weather conditions in the South, there can be no question that drainage is a necessary improvement. But the evidence in favor of drainage becomes greater with the addition of each important crop which may be benefited by it.

Peanuts
The peanut is a Southern crop, the production and use of which has grown in the past twenty-five years from the insignificant to enormous proportions. In the healthy reaction from one-crop cotton to diversity of crops in the South, the peanut is playing an important part. "Soils that will not produce more than one-fourth of a bale of cotton to the acre can be made to yield a fair crop of peanuts at a very low cost for growing."

Soils and Drainage for Peanuts
"As a rule the peanut does best on a sandy loam with a well-drained clay subsoil, but the crop may be grown under a wide range of soil conditions. Soils that become hard and compact are not adapted to peanut growing, owing to the inability of the pod stems or pegs to penetrate the surface. Soils that are poorly drained or saturated are not suited to the peanut. The ideal soil consists of a sandy loam containing a reasonable amount of humus, or

FLIVER TRAINS NOW HAUL FARM PRODUCTS IN WEST

Fliver trains, both passenger and freight, are the newest in transportation developments. They have been adopted by folks of the West and mid-Western States as a logical way to overcome high operating costs of railroads, and they are serving their purpose. All that is needed is the proverbial "stroke of fate," then "lizzie" is equipped with flanged wheels and some trailers hooked on behind. Of course, as the photographs show—the passenger car is a bit more pretentious, nothing like our modern Pullman cars—but it "gets there just the same," say the community folks who ride and haul their farm products thereon.

WORKING FOR WILL LECTURE AMUSEMENT AT IMPROVEMENT OF RIVER IN CAUSE OF IRELAND THE SULPHUR SPRINGS

The Covington Association of Commerce has received a letter from Hon. Geo. K. Favrot, member of congress from this district, that he will do what he can in the matter of an appropriation for the dredging of the Techefunct river. It will be remembered that there was put about $3000 of the original appropriation for this purpose, and the Jancke Company, which was to have undertaken the dredging of the river, stated that this sum was not sufficient.

The undertaking of the Association to raise money to carry on the work of the farm and club agents has terminated by the resignation of Mr. Bachemin and the announcement of Mrs. Davis that she would not remain here after July 1. The money raised for this purpose has been provided for the month of April and the balance will be returned to the donors.

A talk before the Association at a recent meeting by Mr. J. P. Rausch was very much enjoyed and brought out strongly the value of earnest, whole-souled co-operation and disinterested effort. The duty we owe to ourselves and our town and parish and the reward that that performance brings was logically impressed. It was a fine, effective talk.

BACHEMIN SENDS RESIGNATION TO STATE DEPARTMENT.

Covington, La., April 26, 1921.
Dr. W. R. Perkins, Director of Farm Demonstration Work, Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

My Dear Mr. Perkins:—Owing to the recent decision of the Honorable Police Jury of this Parish to discontinue the further services of the County Agent it becomes necessary for me to offer you my resignation, taking effect April 30, 1921, in order to enable me to devote all my time to my present business.

I regret very much to have to offer you my resignation after having had the pleasure of working under you for these past four years, and with the farmers of this parish for a little over two years, including the time spent here before being transferred to Webster Parish. My work here has been met with the hearty co-operation of the farmers, and I assure you it has been a pleasure to me to work with them.

Very truly yours,
FELIX BACHEMIN, JR.

A very important lecture will be delivered in the courthouse this Saturday night, April 30, at 8 p. m., by Mr. M. J. Cousins, of New Orleans, southern organizer for the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic. Admission free. Mr. Cousins will explain Ireland's case for recognition by the United States Government and prove beyond doubt that Ireland has a right to take her place among the free nations of the world. Everybody is cordially invited to attend and hear the truth, for Mr. Cousins says "The Truth will set Ireland free."

BASEBALL.

Covington will take on the Dameron-Pieron team from New Orleans to-morrow, Sunday, at 2 p. m., at the Fair Grounds. This is one of the best teams in New Orleans, and with the brand of ball being put up by the Covington team a good game is assured.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are authorized to announce the following ticket for the election to be held in June, 1921:

For Mayor, Robert W. Badon.
For Aldermen, Emile Frederick, M. P. Planche, A. R. Smith, C. E. Schonberg, H. A. Mackie, Chas. H. Sheffield.

Mr. Ed. W. Demison, who is at the Southern Hotel, represents the Cooper's Well and Hotel Company, an organization which Senator E. M. Stafford and his associates in Louisiana and Mississippi have projected for the overhauling, re-furnishing and enlarging of the famous old Mississippi summer resort. It is said that many of the residents of this section have been benefited by the water from Cooper's Well in the elimination of stomach disorders.

CORRESPONDENCE VITAL TO COVINGTON.

Dr. Stevenson:—Do you know of any one whom I could interest in the standard bred poultry business, commercial egg production and day-old chicks? I have taken a special course in the poultry industry, and in standard bred horses and cattle. I want to move to your parish.

F. J. CLEMMER, Donaldsonville, La.

Dr. Oscar Dowling, State Board of Health:—Your complaint that local toilets contribute to disease has been answered by the Board of Health, of which I am chairman. Personally, I believe that sewerage would be a great gift to Covington, but our people will not take the initiative in demanding it. They believe that it would impose a burdensome tax, but the town and community, in spite of the ever present menace of epidemics, is prosperous and healthful, and can provide every necessary improvement. I trust that the State Board can see the necessity for, and the wisdom of, ordering a sewer system.

Dr. Stevenson:—The Boy Scouts have an offer of a free site at Bogalusa. So Covington will have to get a move on itself to keep them.

ATHLETIC CLUB ENTERTAINMENT.

The Covington Athletic Club is giving an entertainment at Parkview Theatre, Friday, May 6th. Proceeds will go for the benefit of the High School Gymnasium. Attend and help a good cause along.

The Sulphur Springs Amusement Company will open a dancing pavilion at the bathing grounds May 8th where there will be good music and dancing. As this company will open their new bath rooms to the public, where every accommodation will be offered bathers, including an attendant to lock up and take care of valuables, furnishing bathing suits, etc., the outlook seems to be that Sulphur Springs will be one of the most attractive bathing spots this summer. Even before this crowds have been drawn there in summer, both from residents and town visitors. With the facilities that are being put up by this company, the place will win a new popularity that will keep it crowded day and night. It is a beautiful spot, nature having given advantages that need little artificial improvement. Refreshments will be sold and those who do not wish to enjoy the bathing may provide themselves with shoes, comforts and watch the bathers or dance or enjoy themselves in the many ways offered by beautiful woodland walks and attractive scenery.

BIG DANCE AT ABITA.

There will be a big dance at Abita Springs, Sunday, May 1. Music will be furnished by an eight-piece jazz band. Come where you always have a good time. Come one; come all.

ST. TAMMANY NOTES.

The announcement in St. Tammany notes last week of the engagement of Miss Annie Ezell to Mr. W. Simpson was made without authority or knowledge of the parties concerned. Both have written to us that there is no foundation for such a statement.

Some correspondents do not realize the seriousness of such misstatements and others make them maliciously. We are always glad to get news notes and social doings of the towns, but the difficulty of distinguishing between authentic announcements and mischievous or malicious reports will result in cutting out most of the social doings, especially engagements and weddings, unless the communities can fix upon some correspondent they are willing to stand sponsor for. We regret the annoyance that Miss Ezell and Mr. Simpson have been put to in this matter.

BORN:—To Captain and Mrs. J. W. Kern, at Mandeville, April 11, 1921, a girl, weighing 10 pounds.

RAILROAD AND PEOPLE MEET IN FRIENDLY DISCUSSION

Covington Association of Commerce Entertains N. O. G. N. Officials.

DINNER SERVED AT MUTTI HOTEL, ABITA

Mandeville and Abita Join Covington in Booster Demonstration

Yesterday the officials of the N. O. G. N. Railroad were the guests of the Covington Association of Commerce. Usually when these officials have been invited to meet in Covington it was in view of some demand that meant either compliance or a fight before the Railroad Commission. However, as we grow older and brush against the world more, we learn that a co-operative spirit and consideration of each side of a question brings better results and cements a friendship that should exist between people who have interests that should bind them together and as a business proposition will bind them together in the absence of bad feeling or antagonism. Therefore the meeting with these officials yesterday was intended to make the railroad officials better acquainted with the resources of the parish and to show them the advantages of the parish and of Covington as a farming section, as a health resort, and to make them acquainted with the fact that the opportunity for development had sufficient strength to warrant the railroads in taking some risk financially in laying the foundation.

The officials were welcomed to Mandeville by Mayor VanZandt, where his party joined the officials on the train for Abita Springs. All then adjourned to the popular Mutti Hotel, where dinner was served, and it was such a dinner as only Mr. Mutti knows how to get up. We venture that even in New Orleans the culinary art has not reached greater perfection than in the kitchen of the Mutti Hotel.

Those attending the dinner were: W. E. Farris, Manager of N. O. G. N. N. R. R.; M. J. McMahon, Traffic Manager N. O. G. N.; J. L. Goud, Superintendent N. O. G. N.; E. M. Miller, Attorney N. O. G. N.; G. E. Wade, Auditor N. O. G. N.; Robt. W. Badon, Mayor of Covington; J. H. Warner, President Covington Association of Commerce; A. L. Millington, Conductor N. O. G. N.; Alfred A. Aubert, F. L. Alexander, Hardy H. Smith, Harvey E. Ellis, A. E. Briggs, Dr. W. E. VanZandt, Mayor of Mandeville; L. E. Bethea, Wm. Shiell, R. M. Ickes, F. P. Peters, Rev. F. C. Talmage, Dr. F. F. Young, E. R. Moses, C. J. Schoen, Jos. Rauch, Treasurer Town of Abita Springs; E. Burkenstock, Police Jury member, 10th Ward; D. H. Mason, Editor The St. Tammany Farmer; Geo. H. Koepf, H. B. Collins, H. Cassaigne, Barney Carey, G. S. Strank, Alderman Abita Springs; Frank Brown, Alderman Town of Abita Springs; Will J. Morgan, Alderman of Town of Abita Springs; Lewis L. Morgan, Capt. J. W. Kern, Steve C. Abney, Mayor of Abita Springs; Wm. P. Minekler, Secretary of Covington Association of Commerce; J. P. Rausch, Jos. Bordes, Alexander Mutti, A. O. Foss, Clerk Town Council of Abita Springs; L. Sire, Marshal of Abita Springs.

Mayor Steve C. Abney of Abita Springs, was the only one called upon to say a few words at the dinner. He was introduced by Mr. J. P. Rausch. Mr. Abney welcomed the visitors to Abita, and said the occasion was one of special pleasure to him because it made history for Abita Springs. It was the first time in which three towns had united in booster work. He believed that co-operation would bring greater results than could be accomplished otherwise, and he was sure that other speakers would enlarge upon this sentiment in language more forceful that he had at present at his command.

After the dinner the party was driven to Covington in cars and taken to various points of interest, including Riverside Drive, St. Paul's College, the High School, St. Scholastica's Academy and Ozonia. At Ozonia, Mrs. Morgan, with her usual hospitality and knack of making everybody happy and comfortable, served delicious refreshments and showed the guests over the place, after which the party gathered at the rooms of the Covington Association of Commerce for a little business talk.

President Warner requested Mayor Badon to preside, and expressed his appreciation of having the officials of the N. O. G. N. with us.

Mayor Robt. W. Badon welcomed the guests. He then called upon Mr. Lewis L. Morgan for a talk. Mr. Morgan stressed the fact that there must be a recognition of the unity of interests of the railroad and the community. That the best service would be gained by co-operation, our wonderful atmosphere and healthful surroundings. He stated that the one thing, more than any other, that retarded the growth of this section was the length of time in going to and from New Orleans. When this was corrected, growth would follow.

Mayor Badon then called upon Mr.

Altogether, Field Day at St. Paul's has been looked forward to with the anticipation of a good day in outdoor sports and will no doubt be largely attended.

W. E. Farris, manager of the road, who spoke plainly of the disadvantages under which railroads were being operated to-day. He said that since January 1 his road had lost ten thousand dollars a mile in operating. That they were struggling to keep their heads above the water and it was impossible at this time to undergo added expense. It was the desire of the railroad company to work in harmony with the people and to do all in its power to advance the interests of this community. That the service on the Shore Line had not been contracted, in spite of the difficulties under which it was being operated. Rulings of the Labor Board, wage conditions, Government agreements and other matters that tied their hands made railroad operation difficult.

Mr. Farris said that he thought, however, that arrangements might be made to change the Sunday schedule and to put on a cheap rate excursion that might help ease. As time was limited, there was no other speaking. Sandwiches and coffee were served, after which the return trip was made to Abita and Mandeville and the railroad officials took the train for New Orleans.

As a get-together meeting, the affair was an acknowledged success and will bear fruit in friendly feeling and co-operation.
