MAP OF OIL AND GAS FIELDS OF LOUISIANA.

New Publication by U. S. Geological Survey Shows Precise Location of Producing Areas.

A new map of the oil and gas fields of Louisiana has just been published by the United States Geological Survey, Department of the Interior. This map, which is on a scale of 12 miles to the inch, is the second of a series of maps of the oil and gas producing states, the map of Kansas being the first to be published. It shows not only the location of the known oil and gas fields and the pipe lines, but the township net, parishes, railroads, drainage lines, and principal towns. The oil fields are outlined in green and the gas fields in red. Scattered occurrences of oil or gas that are not of sufficient importance to be classified as fields are plainly indicated; the pipe lines are shown in a distinctive color, the locations of refineries are indicated, and the names of the principal fields are given.

This map, which should be of value to producers, refiners, and others interested in the Louisiana

SHIPPERS INTERESTED IN THE STANDARDIZATION OF CONTAINERS.

To eliminate fraud in the marketing of fruits and vegetables by the substitution of short-measure packages at full-measure prices is one of the principal objects of specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture now making a study of the hundreds of different types of containers in use. For example, baskets which contain seven-eighths of a bushel are frequently used as bushel baskets, it being difficult to detect the short measure. In the Farmers' Bulletin No. 1196, from the Bureau of Markets, just published by the department, the specialists discuss the need for standard containers for fruits and vegetables and describe how the public sometimes is defrauded because of the many types and sizes of containers now in use. Multitude of Sizes Increases Cost.

The serious lack of uniformity of containers increases cost of marketing, say the specialists, because of the greater expense of manufacturing a large number of unnecessary styles and sizes and by breakage in transit, which is sometimes directly attributable to the difficulty of loading odd-sized containers. There are in common use at present about 40 sizes of cabbage crates, 20 styles of celery crates, 39 lettuce crates or boxes, 50 styles and sizes of hampers, 15 styles and sizes of round-stave baskets and marketing baskets varying in size from 1 to 24 quarts, whereas relatively few standard sizes would satisfy all demands of the trade. In many cases the 6-quart market basket, the 14-quart peach basket, the 7-8 bushel bean hamper, and the 5-peck lettuce hamper are confused with each other. Half bushel, bushel, and 1-1/2 bushel baskets.

The Federal standard barrel law and the United States container act, which establish standard containers, have done away with a large number of unnecessary sizes of barrels, berry boxes, and grape baskets and have awakened a widespread demand for the application of the same principle to other containers, says the bulletin. At present there is no standard hamper, which is one of the most widely used types of containers, especially popular in the Eastern and Central States. Almost 30,000,000 of these baskets are used annually. The sizes of hampers which are recommended by the Bureau of Markets of the Department of Agriculture as being sufficient in number to satisfy all legitimate requirements of the trade are as follows: 8-quart or 1 peck; 16-quart, or one-half bushel; 32-quart, or 1 bushel; 48-quart, or 1 1/2 bushels. It is suggested that the latter be made in two styles to meet the preference in various parts of the country. The round-stave basket, for which there is no standard, is popular in all regions except the Southern and Middle Atlantic States and on the Pacific Coast. About 20,000,000 such baskets are manufactured annually. The sizes which are recommended as standards by the Bureau of Markets are the same as those recommended for the hamper, except for the elimination of the 8-quart size. The split, or veneer, baskets, for which there are also no standards, are well known to the public as market baskets. The sizes which are proposed by the Bureau of Markets are five in number—4, 8, 12, 16 and 24 quart.—Weekly News Bulletin, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

WHY SUFFER SO.
Why suffer from a bad back, from sharp shooting twinges, headaches, dizziness and distressing urinary ills? People around here recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Ask your neighbor! Could you ask for stronger proof of merit? Mrs. S. A. Maness, 401 N. Holly street, Hammond La., says: "My back was so bad I couldn't get up or down and the most terrible pains I ever had shot through my kidneys and into my sides. I had severe headaches and they caused my eyes to blur. At times a drowsy feeling came over me and I was unable to get rid of it. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills so I got a box. They helped me very quickly and soon cured me entirely of every symptom of this trouble. It is some time since this I had the attack and have had no trouble since. I certainly owe Doan's a great deal of praise for all they have done for me." 50c. at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.
