

CAR PILOTS NOW HAVE SORE FEET

Physicians Are Treating Victims Who "Step on Gas" Too Long Without Rest.

CLAIM EFFECTS NOT SERIOUS

Disease Usually Follows Long Trip Through Which Driver Has Remained Continually at Wheel.—Origin Easily Traced.

It is not all smooth sailing for the driver of a "gasoline wagon," according to physicians, who report that many motorists are returning from long trips with a decidedly noticeable limp. It is the new foot disease, but don't be alarmed; it is not at all serious.

The disease is always acquired in the accelerator foot, the appendage that shows the car over the road at a fast clip. Continued pressure of the foot on the accelerator button causes a displacement of the metatarsal bones, declare physicians who have diagnosed cases that have been brought to their attention. Its effects are not serious. Rest is the only cure. One Day Turns Trick.

More than one motorist returns home limping in one day, doctors aver. Long trips cause strains on the car and the driver. The strain on the accelerator foot sets up a nervous irritation that results in pain, and as a result the driver abandons his car with a limp every time he walks. The disease is commonly known as the "motor foot," but is technically called the "metatarsal displacement."

The limp usually develops in the right foot, for few drivers are "left-footed." The disease usually follows a long overland trip, through which the driver has remained steadily at his post, and never has thought to give the pedal exerciser a rest.

Swell Doctors' Coffers. The coffers of the chiropractors and orthopedic surgeons have taken on a silver lining since the arrival of the new hoof affliction. Many motor vacationists return to receive treatments. Massages and rest are said to cure the pains as rapidly as other treatments.

Motorists accustomed to long drives scoff at the idea of the disease. If there is any such ailment, they declare, it easily can be thwarted by shifting feet.

Some doctors call the ailment "acute foot strain." The origin of the disease is easily accounted for, they say. Releasing the tension of the accelerator spring, followed by more moderate driving, will diminish the prevalence of the ailment, physicians say.

FIRE reaps a harvest of ruin and loss. Carelessness sows the seed—carelessness about removing fire hazards and in failing to protect against every loss by fire.

THE HARTFORD FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY

East Nashville, Tenn.—The efficiency of The Hartford's Black-Draught, the genuine, herb, liver medicine, is vouched for by Mr. W. N. Parsons, a greaser of this city. "It is without doubt the best liver medicine, and I don't believe I could get along without it. I take it for sour stomach, headache, bad liver, indigestion, and all other troubles that are the result of a torpid liver."

"I have known and used it for years, and can do highly recommend it to every one. I won't go to bed without it in the house. It will do all it claims to do. I can't say enough for it."

Many other men and women throughout the country have found Black-Draught just as Mr. Parsons describes—valuable in regulating the liver to normal functions, and in cleansing the bowels of impurities.

The Hartford's Black-Draught liver medicine is the original and only genuine. Accept no imitations or substitutes. Always ask for The Hartford's. E. F.
