The first model "T" Ford motor was completed October 1st, 1908; number 1,000,000 left the assembly line December 10, 1915; and number 5,000,000 came through May 28th, 1921. ### A CO-OPERATIVE COMMISSION COMPANY IN SIOUX FALLS

The establishment of a new co-operative live stock commission to be affiliated with the National Live Stock Producers' Association has recently been announced by the South Dakota Farm Bureau Federation.

SELLING RICE CO-OPERATIVELY.

According to B. E. Chaney, president of the Arkansas Rice Growers Co-operative Association, the success of that organization in marketing rice co-operatively is only an indication of further good to be accomplished by co-operative rice marketing associations in the rice-growing states.

The Arkansas Rice Growers Co-operative Association has more than 80 per cent of the rice acreage in the state and 50 per cent of its rice on hand. The organization has sold more than 150,000 pockets of clean rice at a decided advance over any price they could have gotten during the preceding sixty days.

Mr. Chaney says the successful operations have been made possible because the members have signed long term iron-clad contracts covering all crops produced and based on the principal of organization of the commodity and not the locality.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.

The following extract from a letter to Mr. Frank Giordana from a Chicago house will be of interest to farmers:

In reference to watermelons: it would not pay to ship them unless by carload, and they are loaded in cars according to weight. There is what they call 22 pound average, 25 pound average and 28 to 30 pound average. These are melons weighing at this weight and they are usually loaded in cars sorted according to their weight. For instance, load a car with 22 pound average piled with 5 tiers. A car usually contains 1000 melons with the 22 and 25 pound average melons and 800 to 900 melons with the 28 and 30 pound average. From our market report you will observe the 22 pound average is quoted at $4.00 per car, 25 pound average $5.50 and 28 to 30 pound average $7.50. Unless the melons are loaded as above described it is a hard matter to sell them, so in the event you load any melons we would advise you load them in a way so that you will know what average weight to the melons are in the car, also how many of them.

666 How We Cleared Our Summer Home of Rats, by Mrs. Perry.

"When we opened our summer home last May, it was alive with rats. They'd gnawed all the upholstery, we cleaned them out in a week with RAT-SNAP. I prefer this rat killer because it comes in cake form, no mixing. Saves dirtying hands and places. 25c, 65c, $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by Smith Hardware Co. and Schonberg's Pharmacy."

BRIGHTENING NEW HAMPSHIRE STREET.

The Schonberg Pharmacy has newly painted window signs and a handsome electric hanging sign has been placed in front. The effect is very pleasing and it helps to brighten the appearance of New Hampshire street, which presents a busy appearance on the arrival of the evening trains and the distribution of mail. Autos line up till it looks like State Street in Chicago.

COTTON SHORTAGE FEARED.

Falling production and increased consumption of cotton are causing concern as to the supply of the staple. The world cotton crop decreased last year 6,000,000 bales and consumption increased 4,000,000 bales, according to the figures which are causing British brokers deep anxiety.

The American Farm Bureau Federation has queried its state units in the cotton belt regarding the situation and finds that although rains and cold weather have retarded planting, there is no fear of a famine. Floods are today presenting a dire problem to thousands of farmers in the South.

Late Season and Flood. The Texas Farm Bureau Federation says: "Fifty per cent of our cotton is yet to be planted. Late planting always gives the boll weevil a better chance to destroy the crop. Floods and rain have retarded planting. Cotton, however, always does the unexpected."

Undoubtedly a Scarcity. The Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation reports: "Owing to floods and lateness of season we do not think the crop can exceed that of last year. Overflow and abandonment have about offset the increase in acreage. The question of a cotton famine is one of demand for the near future. If the demand continues as now, there will undoubtedly be a scarcity of good cotton."

The query found the ten directors of the Georgia Cotton Growers' Association in session, and nine of them concurred in the following: "Georgia conditions indicate a crop equal to last year's. Acreage has been increased somewhat. Weather prospects are perfect in South Georgia. On the basis of this state a cotton famine is not probable."

The Department of Agriculture reports that the world's visible supply of American cotton is now 3,241,992 bales as compared with 4,540,422 bales at the same time last year.

TWENTY-EIGHT DAIRY CO-OPS IN TEN SOUTHERN STATES

Dairy farmers were the earliest group to form co-operative marketing organizations. Co-operative cheese factories were the first types of dairy marketing associations to be undertaken.

E. B. Heaton, secretary of the Farmers Dairy Marketing Committee of Elmore, and director of the Dairy Marketing Department of the American Farm Bureau Federation has compiled a list of all co-operative marketing organizations in the United States. Mr. Heaton found that there are 1,408 dairy marketing organizations run on a co-operative basis, 417 co-operative cheese factories. In the South, Virginia and Texas have five co-operative dairies each. There are twenty-eight co-operative dairies in ten of the Southern States. Wisconsin and Minnesota together have 822.
