TO SECURE PLEDGES FOR 75,000 BALES OF COTTON.

of extensive work for Louisiana, and Harry P. Kay, secretary-manager of the Louisiana Farm Bureau, will also assist in the drive. An itinerary has been arranged for the speakers as follows:
W. R. Perkins, Director of Extension, Baton Rouge, La.—Franklinton, Tuesday, October 3, at 1:30 p. m.; Covington, Wednesday, Oct. 4, at 1:30 p. m.; Kentwood, Tuesday, October 5, at 1:30 p. m.; Clinton, Friday, Oct. 6, at 1:30 p. m.; St. Francisville, Saturday, October 7, at 1:30 p. m.
The 75,000 bales required to place the Louisiana association on a functioning basis is approximately one-third of the state cotton crop, estimated from 1921 production. This has been fixed by the bureau workers as the minimum number of bales required to be pledged by January 1, 1923, if the organization is to function next year.
Louisiana is the last of the southern cotton growing states to be organized under the commodity marketing plan. In nine other states of the cotton belt, 150,000 farmers have enrolled to market their cotton under the farm bureau plan for 1923, pledging 8,000,000 bales, or approximately one-fourth of the entire 1923 cotton crop for the south. This will place the control of prices in the hands of the farmers themselves, according to marketing experts, as this cotton will all be placed in warehouses, properly graded and pooled according to grade and staple, and sold by pools that they desire.
In the experience of Texas, Mississippi and Arkansas cotton associations, the greater part of the cotton sold under the pooling plan has gone direct from the producer to the spinner, eliminating the wasteful methods of sampling and selling haphazard in small lots. Agents of the spinners have expressed a willingness to pay a premium for cotton sold under the pooling plan because they are enabled under this plan to secure exactly the number of bales of a given grade that they desire.
Sales under the Texas association netted the grower more than $11.00 a bale above the street buyer's prices, according to statistics compiled by the state bureau, while in Mississippi the profit was still greater. In the latter state thousands of bales were made up of samples after the season was over, and the proceeds from the sales were turned over to the farmers in proportion to their holdings in the various pools.

Moran, a notary public in and for the Parish of St. Tammany, Louisiana, personally came and appeared before me, and declared that he is hereto subscribed, who severally declare that they do hereby form and organize themselves into a corporation for the objects and purposes following, to-wit:

ARTICLE I
The name and title of said corporation shall be "Ozone Dairy Association, Incorporated," and its domicile is hereby established at Covington, Louisiana; and under its corporate name the said corporation shall have power and authority to contract, sue and be sued; to make and use a corporate seal, and the same to break and alter at pleasure. Said corporation shall exist and continue to have succession for a period of ninety-nine years from date hereof. Citation shall be served on the president, or, in his absence, on the secretary.

ARTICLE II
The objects and purposes for which this corporation is organized, and the nature of the business to be carried on by it, are declared to be the following, to-wit:
To bore for fuel, oil, petroleum and other oils and gases; to sell, lease, purchase, improve, convey, borrow, pledge and hypothecate, under its said corporate name, property, real, personal and mixed; to buy and sell live stock and poultry and to breed and raise the same; to carry on a general farm and to buy and sell agricultural products; to buy and sell all kinds of feed stuff; to operate and conduct a commissary or store; to operate and conduct a dairy and sell dairy products; to do and perform all other things requisite, necessary or convenient to enable it to carry out the objects and purposes above set forth.

ARTICLE III
The capital stock of said corporation shall be Five Thousand Dollars, divided into and represented by one hundred shares of the sum of Fifty Dollars each, which said stock shall be paid for in cash at the time of subscription, or the same may be issued, at not less than par, in payment or exchange for property or rights actually received or purchased by said corporation, or the same may be issued, full paid, for money advanced, and for such other valuable considerations or services as the board of directors of said corporation may determine; provided, that no stock shall be issued until the consideration therefor has been received by the said corporation.

The affairs shall be managed by a board of directors, composed of not less than five nor more than ten stockholders, to be elected by the stockholders, annually, by ballot, on the first Tuesday in July in each and every year, or any subsequent day fixed by the board of directors in case of no election taking place on said day. Said board shall have the right to make all by-laws, and change and alter the same at pleasure. Each share of stock shall be entitled to one vote. The company shall begin business as soon as Twenty-five Hundred Dollars shall have been subscribed for.

The first board of directors shall be composed of J. H. Heintz, A. W. Jones, Eddie Viator, Maxwell Kézar, John Edgar, W. McWhirter, Felix Bachemin, Sr., and shall hold office until their successors are elected and take their place. They shall elect from among themselves a president, vice-president and a secretary and treasurer. At the termination of the charter or dissolution of the corporation the affairs shall be liquidated by the members of the board of directors as liquidating committee.
Thus done and passed at my notarial office in the Town of Covington, Louisiana, on the 3rd day of June, 1922, in the presence of BONNIE B. MOSES and Guy A. Smith, two competent witnesses, who hereto sign their names together with said parties and me, notary, after reading of the whole.

HERDS OF ELEPHANTS PERFORM IN JOHN ROBINSON'S CIRCUS

Circus men are now positive about all the world loving a lover, but they are absolutely certain that all the world loves an elephant. No matter how many elephant acts you have seen, the big pachyderms are always interesting and what would a circus be without the "bills," as they are known in the white top parlance.
When the John Robinson circus appears afternoon and night, rain or shine, Monday, October 2, at Bogalusa, the spectators will see over a score of elephants in the three rings and on the two stages. Many of these have been listed as the greatest elephant acts in the world. They do a world of new stunts, or, if they do old stuff, they perform so well and so differently, that you'll think it's entirely new and entirely delectable.
There is a barber shop scene in which one of the largest of the herd combs the hair of a five-ton customer with the utmost precision, and the dancing of these monsters is a riot—it is nothing short of cyclonic art. When the audience rests its eyes upon "Lizzie" doing the toddle for all she is worth all restraints are broken and she is proclaimed the hit of the bill.
In addition to the elephants the circus presents what is said to be the finest array of menage horses ever gotten together, groups of well trained ponies and dogs and many other educated creatures from jungle and plain.
