

throw stones or other rubbish overboard, under a penalty of $100.

All sailors found ashore at Lahaina, after the beating of the drum, or at Honolulu, after the ringing of the bell, are subject to apprehension and a fine of $2.

Shipmasters must give notice to the harbor master of the desertion of any of their sailors within 48 hours, under a penalty of $100.

Seamen are not allowed to be discharged at any of the ports of these Islands excepting those of Lahaina and Honolulu.

It shall not be lawful to discharge seamen at any of the ports of these Islands without the written consent of the Governor.

Honolulu and Lahaina are the only ports at which native seamen are allowed to be shipped—and at those places with the Governor's consent only.

Any vessel taking away a prisoner from these Islands shall be subject to a fine of $400.

To entitle any vessel to a clearance, it shall be incumbent on her commanding officer first to furnish the collector of customs with a manifest of cargo intended to be exported in said vessel.

It shall not be lawful for the commanding officer of any Hawaiian or foreign vessel, to carry out of this kingdom as a passenger, any domiciled alien, naturalized foreigner or native, without previous exhibition to him of a passport from His Majesty's Minister of Foreign Relations.

Retailers of spirituous liquors are not allowed to keep their houses open later than 9 o'clock in the evening, and they are to be closed from Saturday evening until Monday morning.

Rapid riding in the streets is prohibited under a penalty of $5.

NOTE.—Those parts of the law concerning "passports" and the "landing of baggage" do not take effect until after the 26th of June, 1847.

The law regarding the delivery of letters by shipmasters to the collector, will only take effect on promulgation by His Hawaiian Majesty in Privy Council.

The port charges are as follows: At Honolulu, pilotage in and out, $1 per foot; for piloting a vessel to anchorage off the port, $10; tonnage dues for whalers, 6 cents per ton; do for merchantmen, 20 cents per ton; buoys, $2.

At Lahaina, anchorage, $10; lights, 1.

When a vessel proceeds from Lahaina to Honolulu, the anchorage dues at the former port are remitted. Besides these, there are custom house charges incidental to the wants or business of each vessel, as from 50c. to $1 each, for stamped permits, manifests, entries, &c., of cargoes, clearances, bonds for duties, etc., of which each vessel requires one or more. The average charges upon a whaler at Honolulu are as follows:

Pilotage in and out, say 15 feet draft,	$30
Tonnage, say 300 tons, 6c. per ton,	18
Buoys,	2
Stamps, say one clearance and one permit,	2
	$52
At Lahaina,—
Anchorage,	$10
Lights,	1
Stamps,	2
Canal, when used,	3
	$16

As an offset to the comparative cheapness at Lahaina, it is an open roadstead, exposed to blows from the south, which at times damage shipping and delay work. For safety, convenience of repairs, and the general wants of shipping, the harbor of Honolulu is unrivalled in the Pacific; these advantages much more than compensate for the additional charge of pilotage. It is besides the seat of government and depot of foreign commerce.

By the tables of the Collector General of Customs, it will be seen that the increase of imports of 1846 over those of 1845 has been $51,441. The actual annual consumption of foreign goods among the native population does not as yet exceed $3 for each individual. A large amount of goods imported finds its way out of the country in supplying the wants of the shipping.

The revenue of the custom house, for 1846, as given by Mr. Paty, for Honolulu, is to be added to that derived from Lahaina.

In 1845 the total receipts, from all sources, were $29,220 30

In 1846, from Honolulu,	36,506 64
“ “ “ Lahaina, first six months, harbor dues, canal, &c.,	$1,705 00
Duties,	225 50
Second six months, Anchorage dues,	2,110 00
Lights,	210 00
Canal dues,	414 00
Duties,	206 12
	$4,874 62
Total amount of revenue from custom house for 1846,	$41,378 26
Total amount of revenue from custom house for 1845,	29,220 30
Increase,	$ 12,157 96

To this should be added some small sums not yet ascertained from the ports of Hilo and Hanalei.

ROBBERY.—The U. S. Consul's house was entered on Monday morning early, and robbed of between $50 and $100 in cash. The supposed robber, a former servant in the family, has been apprehended, and will, we trust, be made such an example of as will operate to deter his numerous confederates in the system of plunder which has been practiced upon foreign families within the few months past.

Senor F. Le Bleu, the Daguerreotype artist, we hear was robbed on Wednesday night, between 9 and 10 o'clock, of $250.

POISONED MILK.—The public during the past week have been gammoned by a cock-and-bull story of a native family poisoned by their milk-man, from some diabolical design or other. What object there was in setting afloat such a charge of serious crime upon any portion of the native community it is hard to say, unless to gratify a morbid taste for the horrible and marvellous. The natives have peccadillos enough of a less vicious scale to answer for, without charging murder, poison and outrage upon them by the wholesale, for it is notorious that they are not given by any means to bold crimes, and no where is life safer than among these people. But to the facts. A native family last Sunday, after gormandizing themselves (a common custom) upon pork, fish, crabs, poi, sea-weed, or that sort of diet most savory to a palate barbarian, and offensive to a palate civilized, drank tea on top of it flavored with milk just brought by their milk-man. Their stomachs, already overloaded, were unable to sustain this additional deluge of incompatible ingredients, and rebelled. Some felt merely uneasy or sick, others vomited outright, and after a few hours were relieved. All, true to human nature, in the desire to affix blame anywhere but where it belongs, cried out they were poisoned, and their old milk-man, who had supplied them most innocuously for nearly a half-score years, was made the victim of a charge to poison them at this late hour. He was apprehended, examined and dismissed, nothing whatever appearing against him. The milk came from the same herd which supplies the Royal Family and the Minister of Finance, and is esteemed very good by those who can get it. The milk-man confessed no other crime than of pursuing his avocation as usual; he did not sell his bottle of milk to a chance customer, because he was taking it to his regular customer to whom it rightfully belonged; an honesty greatly to his credit, when pia and water are so plentiful and hapawalus so attractive.

It may relieve those who felt the "general thrill of horror sent through the heart of the community," to know that on the same evening another native family, in another part of the town, innocent of aspiring to the luxury of a milk-man, but equally fond of the crustacea and other alkaline growth of the reef, having overfed themselves, turned one and all out of the house, and made the air resound with a chorus of upheavings, much to their own relief and to the amusement of their neighbors, who were no more disposed to pity them than if they had been so many sea sick wretches. But enough of this nonsense. When murders are frequent we shall all know it, and it will then be time enough to get up a thrill of horror; but in the name of all that is digestible, let a native family relieve their overburdened stomachs of their disagreeing contents in a quiet way, without charging upon harmless milk-men the dire intent to poison their long standing customers.

WEATHER.—Our winter has taken upon itself all the airs of a coquette. At times smiling, balmy and delightful—at others hot, calm, cold, windy or rainy a medley of agreeables and disagreeables for this climate, producing a most bountiful crop of flies and musketoes. On Tuesday night we had the rare visit of a genuine thunder and lightning storm, which lasted with great vigor and sharpness till morning, doing, however, no damage that we have learned.

GRIZZLY BEAR.—Bruin, having borne his existence until his friends could bear it no more, was killed on Monday, and his ribs, burned at the steak, served up for those whose palates could forbear a taste no longer. Surely it had been better for that bear that he had never been born, though having been born, he could not avoid being a bear, and unfortunately degenerating to a bore, his fate was not to be forborne.

FIRE AT HILO.—On Friday night, January 8th, the shop and eating house of the Chinaman, Ayung, at Hilo, was totally destroyed by fire, with its contents. It was a wooden building. Loss estimated at $3000. Took fire from a lamp carelessly left by the cook. Mr. Pitman had a store in one end, but his goods were saved.

KILAUEA.—Mr. Stark, who has just returned from a visit to this crater, reports it in an exceedingly active state, more so than has been known for a great many years. The large lake has greatly overflowed its banks and presents a most magnificent spectacle. Those who intend visiting this wonder of the world, should do so while its steam is up.

AUSTRIAN JUDGES.—There are no public or open sittings. The parties are not to know either legally or officially the name of the judge; but they always do ascertain it, because the judge has his Jew, called Factor, who invariably presents himself to the parties or their lawyers, and secretly informs them that their case is in the hands of such a one. Then the parties think over the means of gaining their cause, as it is forbidden both sides under criminal penalties to attempt to corrupt the judges, who nevertheless get paid by both, and are sure not to be betrayed. Firstly, because the corrupted party who should first inform would be condemned to carcer durum vel durissimum, and second, because the deposition of a Jew against a Catholic Judge would prove nothing in an Austrian court of justice. Excepting the accused and the judges, no one is allowed to know the answers of the accused, the dispositions of the witnesses or the nature of judgments. All this is done with the greatest secrecy.—[Newby's Recollections of Austria by M. Koubrakiewicz.]
