Trent Trust Co. Weekly Report

Trading in the stock market has been very light during the week under review; in fact the month ending to-day shows only a total of 9386 shares dealt in, while the average for the several preceding months is around 15,000 shares.

The underlying conditions responsible for this inactivity have been fully explained in preceding letters, and at the moment there has been no apparent change for the better.

A transaction involving $41,500 was closed during the week, when 1000 shares of Hawaiian Sugar (Makaweli) changed hands. It is generally understood that parties connected with the Company purchased this stock.

The price of Raw Sugar is higher to-day; 10s: 11d is the latest on Beets. The last on centrifugals was 3.98 with Beets 10s: 9d the same date. With to-day's higher quotation on Beets, it is confidently expected that centrifugals will soon command higher prices.

The stock market closed as follows:
