New York—What is believed to be a bigger plot than that in which Eric Muenther claimed to be a party to was unearthed when secret service men arrested Robert Fay, said to be a lieutenant of the German navy. When taken into custody he had five mines, with wire attachments to hold them to sterns of vessels. The mines were made of dynamite and marine experts say they were built to explode by the starting of ships. Other arrests are expected to follow.

Von Hindenberg In Danger

London—Von Hindenberg's position in the vicinity of Riga continues to be perilous. Reinforcements continue to strengthen the Russian offensive, but so far the Germans have succeeded in frustrating attempts to hurl the Teutons back or to flank them.

The reverse of the situation at both Riga and Dvinsk, where the German offensive has been halted by counter offensive movements of reinforced Russians, has caused surprise here.

Berlin Hears Otherwise

Berlin—Successes in the region of Dvinsk and on the east front has resulted in the capture of eighteen officers and 3,000 Russians.

Murder Story Exploded

Chicago—Franklin Voorhies, the broker, whose murder was reported a few days ago, was killed for the diamond he wore. The tale that he was murdered by German sympathizers has been thoroughly disproved by the authorities.

Von Buelow Is Sick

Berlin—Former Chancellor von Buelow is ill.

Thousand Killed By Shells

London—One thousand Bulgarian soldiers were killed while eating dinner in their barracks by shells from British warships.

Mexicans Fire On Cavalry

Brownsville—A band of Mexicans across the Rio Grande fired on a detachment of the Sixth Cavalry, doing patrol duty, yesterday, wounding one soldier. The cavalrymen returned the fire and silenced the Mexicans.

German Reported Sunk

Petrograd—Official announcement was made here last night that a British torpedo boat had sunk a German cruiser in the Baltic, believed to be the Prinz Adalbert.

Russia Wishes To Borrow

The Czar has authorized a foreign credit of two and three-quarter billion dollars with which to purchase war supplies.

Allies Losing In Balkans

London—Ustap Veles and Kumanov have fallen before the attacks of the Bulgars. Their capture means that the Salonika expedition must fight its way to the relief of the main Serbian army and battles may begin at any time. The Danube has been forced by the Teutons and the way opened to the Turkish capital. Bulgaria claims that the Allies are already defeated in the Balkans and it will be impossible to reinforce their compatriots.

Germany Has Ample Food

Berlin—Plenty of food at low prices is the prospect in Germany or the next year.

Tennis

ran alternately even, and one game ahead, until 9-all was scored.

Thompson and Murdock succeeded in wrestling the next two games by close margins, which gave them the match. Good "placing" by Murdock contributed in large measure toward the final success of his team.

The second event, which was played off immediately after the first was of shorter duration. Although Dr. Glaisyer and his partner put up a strong game, yet they were unable to overcome the combination of Jack Horner's deadly smashes and Rice's offensive play.

Messrs. Guy Rankin and Eric Knudsen occupied the umpires' chairs during the afternoon being ably assisted by various linesmen.

A large number of machines lined the courts, and the side lines were the source of much enthusiastic support. An atmosphere of gaiety was furnished by a pleasing band concert which progressed with the games.

Summary of the matches:
E. D. Murdock and J. M. P. Thompson won from G. T. Greig and A. H. Banham, 6-2 11-9. A. Horner and Harrison Rice won from A. R. Glaisyer and E. C. Merrill, 6-2 6-2.

Russians Are Hopeful

Petrograd—Military officials regard entire 675 miles front extending from the Baltic to the Galician border as favorable to the success of the Russians. The German drive has spent its force.

Eastward the Russians are gaining in many places and are still on the offensive. Baronovitch success against the Austrians in Galicia has been followed up at Navoalexineiz.

Von Hindenberg Seems Checked

London—The indications are that the Russians have checked von Hindenberg's army, which has been making a vigorous drive to capture Riga. At last German reports he was a dozen miles from the Russian port.

Official bulletins from Vienna show that Austria admits the defeat of her soldiers by the Russians.

At The Italian Front

Udine—Encouraged by stopping of repeated blows directed against them by the Austrians and in progress made in mountain warfare, the Italians are making a general attack along their whole front. The Italian commanders have sent forces through the mountain passes stretching from Switzerland to the Adriatic in strong offensive. The Italian war is entering the second phase of concerted offensive. The total casualties since the war began has been only 45,000.

Greece Is Playing Safe

London—It is believed that Greece is awaiting victory by the Allies before entering the war, and the first important triumph of Entente powers will bring an offer from her to join the warfare against the Teutons.

French Woman Executed

Amsterdam—The Telegraph says that the Germans recently executed Madame Frenan, a French woman living in Liege. The soldiers were ordered to fire. Their aim was poor and the woman was wounded, being finally despatched by a officer.

Government Controls Food

Berlin—The German central government controls all foodstuff hitherto handled by provincial authorities. Prices will be regulated.

Serbs Move Capital Again

Bucharest—The steady advance of the Teutons in the north and Bulgarian attacks on the east flank have caused the Serbian government to move the capital from Nish to Kraljvo, sixty miles to the north-east.

Darkest Moment Of War

London—The Telegram refers to the present as the darkest moment of the war.
