Prof. J. K. Flanders Speaks To Women

J. K. Flanders, professor of psychology at the University of Hawaii, spoke to the women of Kauai at the regular monthly meeting of the Mokihana Club held last Wednesday afternoon. Professor Flanders spoke on "Education in Hawaii", and he made a number of remarks that are well worth remembering.

"Keep politics out of our educational system. When we have a good man in charge of our educational board, keep him regardless of his party affiliations. When we find that we have the wrong man, get rid of him, no matter who he is. If we want to raise the standards of our rural schools we must pay our teachers more. It is impossible these days to get first class men and women for fourth class salaries."

These are some of the ideas that Professor Flanders expressed. He pointed out the fact that a great deal of money and many years work must be spent by any person before they are qualified to teach well. Such people, he said, should be paid well. A great many of our country teachers, however, are not properly trained. Some of them have only two years normal work after they complete their eighth grade work. No matter how intelligent a teacher may be, more training than that is required if she is to properly train a child's mind.

Teachers must be interested in their work, Professor Flanders believes, or they can never be successful at it. Anyone who is teaching for his or her salary only had better be looking for another job. Children begin to get their impressions very early in life, and a good teacher can do much to make a well-balanced man or woman. A poor teacher can make a child lose interest in his work and once he loses it, it is very difficult to get him to take it up again.

SENATORS SENDING BOOKS TO GOODHUE

As an evidence of the high esteem in which Dr. W. J. Goodhue, physician at the Molokai Settlement is held by the members of the senate of the territorial legislature, seven handsomely bound volumes of "Great Events of the Great War" will be sent to the doctor this week. The books are bound in expensive leather and are beautifully illustrated.

Pan-Pacific Day Around the Ocean, September 17th

(Pan Pacific Bulletin.)

It is becoming the custom around the Pacific to observe the 17th day of September as Pan-Pacific Day. The 17th of September this year is the 408th anniversary of the discovery of the Pacific by Vasco Nunez de Balboa.

On the 400th anniversary of "Balboa," or "Pan-Pacific" Day there was held a gathering in Honolulu of all races of the Pacific. Ex-Queen Liliuokalani returned to her throne for the first time in twenty-one years to receive flags of all Pacific countries in behalf of the Pan-Pacific Union. That evening a banquet was held and friendly speeches made by representatives of every Pacific country.

A year or two later "Balboa" or "Pan-Pacific" Day was observed in San Francisco at a gathering of 500 people of all Pacific races at the St. Francis Hotel. A branch of the Pan-Pacific Union was then organized at San Francisco. This was later merged with the Foreign Trade Club of San Francisco, which now calls the annual get-together meetings in the California city on Pan-Pacific Day.

In Australia and in New Zealand and the Hands-Around-the-Pacific Clubs and the millions clubs, branches of the Pan-Pacific Union, have begun to observe this general occasion when the peoples of the Pacific get together for friendly discussion and cooperation. In the Philippines, Japan and China, there are now Pan-Pacific Associations where the leaders of all Pacific races meet together once a year to hear from each other. Even at Washington and London there are such gatherings on Pan-Pacific Day.

In Honolulu, where all the races of the Pacific gather and mingle, Balboa Day has been the occasion when the school children prepare essays on the Pan-Pacific Union. Speakers are sent to the schools from among the leading citizens to tell them something about Balboa and the Pacific.

Schools in Alaska, a number of Pacific coast cities, in Latin-America, Australia, New Zealand, and the Orient also make a feature of Pan-Pacific talks to the pupils on Balboa Day.

This year more than ever it is hoped that all the schools in Pa-

Tourist Guides For Distribution

The Kauai Chamber of Commerce has for distribution a limited number of copies of the new 1921 "Tourist's Guide to Hawaii." This little guide book was formerly sent out by the Courtland Hotel but is now printed by the Hawaiian Promotion committee. Copies may be received free by applying to J. M. Lydgate, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, to J. I. Silva at Elelee, or to the Advertiser in Honolulu. The pictures collected by John A. Palmer, formerly of Lihue. Mr. Palmer has gone to considerable trouble to make a comprehensive, accurate guide to Hawaii of this edition, and Kauai receives its full share of prominence and publicity. The Advertiser printed 10,000 copies of the booklet at cost, as its part in the good cause. The Kauai Chamber of Commerce donated twenty-five dollars towards defraying the expenses of the publication.

cific lands will make a feature of Pan-Pacific Day, the 17th of September for the reason that this is a year fraught with interest to the schools. Four hundred years ago on March 16th Ferdinand Magellan completed the first voyage around the world at Samar, in the Philippines, for it was from the Philippines that Magellan may be said to have begun his voyage around the world. On April 27, 1521, he was killed on the Island of Mactan, in the Philippines. It was on November 28, 1520, that Fernando de Magellan entered the Pacific. So quiet was the ocean that he named it Pacific, which means "peaceful", and the children in the public schools should be taught that it is their duty to so live that this great ocean will ever deserve the name that has been given to it.

In Honolulu in October of this Magellan year there is a gathering of newspaper men from every part of the world, for the Pacific is coming into her own. About its shores live more than half the people of the world, and the children in the schools in Pacific lands should know more of each other's country and people. It is hoped that in all the schools about the Pacific, papers will be read this year on Balboa, the discoverer of the Pacific, as well as on Magellan, who gave it its name, and that the children may be told something of all the countries of the Pacific and their desire to form a Pan-Pacific Union that will work for the interest of all that live about the great ocean.
