WHO PAYS THE TAXES.

THE STAR presents in this issue a list of the heaviest taxpayers on Oahu island, showing the value of the large parcels of property upon which they pay taxes to the government and the political sentiments of the owners. The list, which has been prepared with care and revised by competent hands is believed to be correct in its essential features, but it is still open to any modifications that exactitude may require. We have no fear but that the figures will stand, though it may be that some persons who are marked in one political column may choose to appear in another, in which case this journal, if advised, will alter the record. As the footings stand they show that the annexationists own $12,422,389 worth of the taxable property of Oahu, the remainder, $3,218,945 being credited to estates owned by companies that contain men of all politics: by outright royalists—most of whom, as is known, are in financial distress—and by men whose affiliations are not a matter of record. The lesson of such an exhibit appears on its face.

A HUMBUG ISSUE.

The organs of the lost cause are distressed at the cost of maintaining the military force which preserves the peace and holds the enemies of the Government in check. It is not remembered that they found any fault with the profligate expenditures of the monarchist regime, either for a navy or for foreign tours; but, of course, that was a horse of a different color and of their own currying. In the present case, where the military is used to keep down a faction which, when it was in power, fed them with a wasteful hand from the plunder of the worst governed country on earth, all their "economical" instincts are aroused and they would have the soldiery reduced at once to a corporal's guard in behalf of the poor taxpayers. Quite likely, if Mr. Bruett and other gentlemen of a thrifty turn of mind who are now sojourning in the hills could be consulted, they would express the same idea regarding the size and cost of the police force, as would the discontented opium smugglers at the numerical strength and the vigilant personnel of the customs service. All these classes of Adullamites feel as one man on the great issue of economy, and must be soe indeed because the taxpayers—in whose behalf they so disinterestedly work—are so heedless of their constant losses. But 'twas ever thus! Those who labor most to help other people are the least appreciated in this unfeeling world by the other people themselves.

THE attack upon the Government's financial standing made by John E. Bush's paper will, no doubt, lead the authorities to act upon the question of how far the royalist press can be permitted to go in its assaults upon the credit of the State. Naturally the government would not wish to do anything which might be interpreted as gag law, or as a coercion of fair debate, but there is a limit beyond which press assaults in these uneasy times, should not be allowed to pass. The bond story in Ka Leo was a deliberate falsehood made with open intent to deceive and for the specific purpose of hurting the credit and crippling the resources of the Government. As such it would be regarded, even in the most liberal country, as a proper cause of legal inquiry and punishment. It is strongly to be hoped and urged that both this misdemeanor of Bush's, and the one committed by Kenyon and Sheldon in another royalist paper, against the personal repute of Minister Stevens will not fall of drastic treatment.

LATER—The Government arrested both Bush and Kenyon this afternoon.

The Emperor of Germany is said to be considering a visit to the World's Fair, a fact which goes to prove that the Kaiser has a level head. If he makes the journey, he will be the first reigning sovereign of Europe who has entered the domain of the richest and strongest nation; and he will learn much there which all monarchs ought to know. Heretofore European rulers have avoided America, because there was no one of that country—as they held—of proper rank to receive them. In the future, if so autocratic a sovereign as William II succeeds in passing the official barrier without loss to the divinity which is supposed to hedge him in, many more crowned heads may deign to pass under the democratic arch and see the wonders of a free country. It will be their good luck if they do, for a political education which does not take personal account of the first among great powers is lamentably incomplete.

Those who are wise in their day and generation will hasten slowly to the World's Fair. The big show is now in a state of chaos from which it can hardly be rescued before the middle of June. The months of August, September and October are the ones which will reveal the exposition at its best, as by that time the exhibits will have been perfectly installed and the distinguished visitors from abroad will be putting in an appearance.

A CORRESPONDENT writes the STAR asking it to settle a misunderstanding of dates. The point at issue is to whether Queen Emma or Mrs. Bishop died first. The answer is that the death of Mrs. Bishop occurred Oct. 16, 1884, and the death of Queen Emma on April 25, 1885.

WITH annexation the opium issue will lose many of its troublesome features. A couple of Uncle Sam's revenue cutters, with searchlights and a patrol for beach service, would end the smuggling trade in remarkably short order.

OPINIONS OF A VISITOR.

Strength of the Provisional Government—Spreckels' Attitude.

Colonel C. L. MacArthur, editor of the Budget of Troy, N. Y., arrived on the Australia from Honolulu yesterday. In an interview with a Call reporter, Colonel MacArthur expressed himself as delighted with the country he had just left after a two months' sojourn there, and as strongly in favor of annexation for the Islands.

"This delay is hurting the tradesmen in the Islands very much," said Colonel MacArthur, "and I am sorry to see it. I am afraid there will be a good many failures in the Islands before this crisis is passed. The Provisional Government is in a strong financial position to-day and is able to hold its own against any power likely to step in except the United States, which will never be an aggressive power in that quarter."

"Claus Spreckels is the creditor of the old Government to the amount of $100,000, but he is not pressing that claim, and has even made offers of assistance to the Provisional Government. The Government, however, has not found it necessary to accept them, having already all the financial backing it needs, and Mr. Spreckels has signed the memorial of the planters to Blount asking for annexation."

"Soon after his arrival Mr. Spreckels called a meeting of the planters, at which he read a long paper, claiming that annexation would ruin the planters inside of five years. He then exerted his influence to persuade the meeting to recommend an independent republican form of government for the islands, but on taking a vote on the question it was found that a majority of the present favored annexation. Baldwin of Kauai took the ground, which was loudly approved by the planters, that they would rather sacrifice something than to oppose annexation. In fact, the sentiment among them is that even at the expense of losing their contract labor they would rather have annexation than not."

"There is no doubt but that the planters can obtain all labor they need under a free labor system. The Japanese Government is already sending men to the Islands who are not under contract and have in view the establishment of an agency in Honolulu. The planters might have to pay more under such a system, but they would get better work."

"A good deal of speculation has been rife over this trip of Paul Neumann's to the coast. It is rumored that he goes from here to Japan, and report at the Islands was that his mission was to sell out the country to Japan. Of course this is absurd. The fact is Neumann has broken with the Queen and no longer holds her power of attorney. He was at one time attorney for the Japanese Government in certain contract labor matters, and claims that the Government still owes him certain sums for his services. His errand to Japan, if he goes there, will be to collect this money."

"The Islands ought to be annexed. I think they will be, but they are financially in a position to be able to wait if annexation does not come immediately."—S. F. Call.

To Get at the Facts Regarding Hood's Sarsaparilla, ask the people who take this medicine, read the testimonials often published in this paper. They will certainly convince you that Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses unequalled merit, and that HOOD'S CURE.

Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring the peristaltic action of the alimentary canal. They are the best family cathartic.

PAUL NEUMANN ARRIVES. He is on Private Business and will Not Go East.

Paul Neuman, who was Attorney-General of the Hawaiian Kingdom under Queen Liliuokalani, arrived yesterday on his second trip to this country since the Provisional Government took charge of the Sandwich Islands. He states that his visit is for the purpose of seeing his first grand-son, who was born on Easter Sunday in this city, and that it is not at all connected with the affairs of the island kingdom. He expects to return on the Australia to Honolulu and then make a trip to Japan on what he calls private business.

Mr. Neuman stated that he knew nothing of the Queen's hopes as to her restoration, but claimed that the native population is loyal to her. He said that everybody was waiting anxiously for the completion of Commissioner Blount's work. Minister Stevens was preparing to depart when Mr. Neuman left, and it was generally understood that Consul Severance would fill his place until his successor was appointed. There was nothing known at the islands to corroborate the report that Commissioner Blount would succeed Minister Stevens.—Chronicle.

RECIPROCITY A FAILURE.

Spain and Brazil Repeatedly Evade Their Treaty Obligations.

WASHINGTON, May 2.—An evening paper has this: Abundant reasons for the abandonment of the policy of reciprocity under the McKinley bill exist in complaints received by the State Department regarding the evasion of the Spanish officials in Cuba. The Spanish Government was forced into the treaty by the diplomacy of Blaine, because of the fear that if Cuba sugar growers were deprived of their market in the United States through reciprocity arrangements with other sugar-growers' countries they would revolt against Spain.

The Government intends to make the treaty so unpopular that it will fall to the ground of its own weight, and has imposed an excise tax nearly equal to the duties remitted by the McKinley bill. Our Government will either protest strongly against the tax or wipe out the whole treaty and leave Cuban growers to face a possible import duty under our new tariff. The Spanish Government has also shown an inclination to make trouble over the schedule of articles on which duty is reduced by the treaty. The Brazilian Government is also making trouble over the Reciprocity Treaty, but is not, apparently, violating its obligations so flagrantly as the Government of Spain. It is understood that when the schedules of discriminations in favor of the United States was made that the general scale of Brazilian import duties might be raised. Brazil took advantage of this arrangement to raise the dutiable schedules as soon as the reciprocity arrangement was made, and said she was obliged to do so in order to obtain sufficient revenue for carrying on the Federal Government.

THAT BOND CANARD.

A False Statement of John E. Bush's Flatly Denied.

The article below is copied from a native royalist sheet, Ka Leo, and shows how the editor, John E. Bush, in a crude way, has attacked the Government financial policy. It is needless to say that the truth is as far from the article as is the English grammar: Few days ago some Hawaiian Government bonds were disposed of by the officials now holding offices temporarily. The sum of $25,000 was obtained for those bonds, and the price when sold was fifteen or twenty per cent. below the actual value. Outside of paying the interest on them, and hereafter the nation and taxpayers have to pay the principal in full at 100 cents per each dollar. This is the first time that the Hawaiian bonds sold at so low a price. At the time when the Government officials were those who were opposed to the Reform party the bonds were then sold for 100 to 105 cents. This shows the truth, that our present Government are not trusted by those who have money now residing in our midst. It is worse in foreign countries. They don't purchase any of these bonds on account of the revolution, as we now see within these days. Whereas this is a government only for the time, these actions can be condemned. In other countries this kind of action can be commended, and debts obtained in this way can be rejected when the permanent form of government is restored.

Police Court Items.

Opium Raid.

The police made a haul of eight tins of opium from the Chinese reading room, last night. This room was intended as a philanthropic institution, but has now degenerated into a lounging resort for the decayed bums and toughs of Chinatown. Ah Kan and John Savier were the only ones arrested and they will be heard on Monday. The opium was put in the strong room of the opium department. Savier had $800 on his person when searched at the police station.

Fish in Water Colors.

Mrs. Dr. J. M. Whitney will leave on the next Australia and will carry with her a collection of sixty-four exquisite studies of Hawaiian fish in water-colors. The collection is to be first placed on exhibition at the Columbian Fishery exhibit at the World's Fair and then taken to Oberlin College, Ohio, to which it is to be presented. All except the painting of a hammer head shark are life size.

The Machado Case.

The Machado larceny case finally terminated this afternoon by the jury bringing in a verdict of guilty. The defendant will be sentenced Monday. The maximum penalty is five years' imprisonment and a fine of twice the amount stolen, which in this case was $900.

This vigor-making, fat producing preparation is Absolutely Tasteless, in so far as Cod Liver Oil is concerned. All you notice is a delightful flavor of Wild Cherry and Anise.
