THE GERMAN CRISIS.

Hawaii shares the interest which is so widely felt in contemporary German politics, not more because the Teutonic race has made itself a power upon these Islands than because the contest between the crown and the people, of which this group has been a minor theater, seems about to join issue upon a continental stage.

When the bill to increase the military burdens under which Germany has so long been stumbling, was beaten in the Reichstag, the Emperor dissolved that body, and in calling a new election took pains to say that, whether the law-making power should agree to it or not, the army should have its needed re-enforcements. What he meant by this was that he would not hesitate, on occasion, to override the national ballot with the wheels of the Imperial cannon.

Perhaps not since the day of the great Frederick has a German monarch made such a decisive and despotic expression of his will towards a debatable measure. It recalls the fiat of a medieval king. It almost carries one back to the days of a Charlemagne or Genghis Khan.

Considering the obstinate impulses of the Kaiser and the steadfast nature of the people when it comes to the protection of their chartered rights, one can but view the approaching grapple with a feeling of intense and apprehensive curiosity. Will the Kaiser yield to an adverse verdict at the polls? He declares that he will not. Then will the German nation give way to his assumed prerogative? It did not do so when the Emperor's grand sire once raised the standard of reaction, and with all its progress towards democracy in these liberal days it cannot be expected to do so now.

The thoughtful and sturdy Teutons are not of a race to be awed by the truncheon of a tyrant. In the obstinacy of the Bourbons was the genesis of the French revolution. It may be that the unyielding fiber of the ruling Hohenzollern will have a similar effect upon the records of his time. So indeed let it be hoped, for in whatever source the triumph of Democracy may find its inspiration the result upon the sum of human happiness will be the same. The end is one whether the monarch chooses political suicide or the gibbet.

That would be a millennial day for the world when Germany should possess itself of a liberal government. After that all the world would see a fulfilling prophesy in the noble verse of Byron: 'God save the King—and Kings! For if he don't I doubt that man will longer. Methinks I hear a little lull that sings The people by and by will be the stronger.'

THE HALF NOT YET TOLD. Complaint comes to this paper that the Government does not choose to meet the Royalist defence of the business methods of the monarchy by the use of incriminating facts which have lately been put at its disposal. Inquiry shows that a representative official of the old regime has been found guilty of a grave malfeasance; but because he is one of a race which cannot be held to Anglo-Saxon standards of financial honor, it is deemed best to give him a chance to pay up and go his way rejoicing. While such leniency would not be meted out to one of the Provisional Government by the Royalist press, and properly so, it is believed that magnanimity will prove its wisdom in this and similar cases. The STAR is not prepared to dispute such a conclusion, but it is at liberty to imagine that the Royalist papers might go so far in their effort to exalt the administrative procedure of the old Government at the expense of that which has been adopted by the new as to lead the authorities to overlook personal and racial weaknesses for the sake of evidence in rebuttal. There is an abundance at hand.

The invalid Bulletin has raised up on its elbow now and then to remark that Expert Low's charges were contradicted by the findings of the Finance Committee. There is but one way to prove this, and that is by showing what the Finance Committee really found and reported to the House. Suppose the Bulletin begins by noting the points of difference in the views of Mr. Low and the Committee, about the Marshal's office

Then, it might look into the relative exhibits in the postal department. When these labors are concluded the STAR will be pleased to direct its contemporary to other paths of investigation.

The Monarchist rainbow-chasers are now said to have the Republican fever. In the meantime the Provisional Government is staying right where the revolution put it and where it will continue to stay, under whatever name, until annexation to the United States shall have been secured. The rainbow-chasers would save themselves needless perspiration by giving this fact the proper weight.

If the half-caste organ is anxious to know where the Government got the money to pay Spreckels, it can find out with slight inquiry. The names of the capitalists who made the loan on the same security which the first lender accepted are at anyone's disposal. Why not publish them?

The Royalist camp has not yet got over the confusion caused by the bursting of the Low bomb at headquarters. Perhaps another shell may be discharged shortly that will finish the whole outfit. It is ready for the gun.

It appears that Mr. Spreckels has made one convert among the planters. Now what about the remainder?

The Interior Department shows a proper sense of the fitness of things by doing business in a dining-room.

The Bulletin should return its quill to the original goose.

RACES AT WAIALUA.

Local Horsemen Will Hold a Meeting on July 4th.

From present prospects a very interesting day's sport will take place at Gay's track, Waialua, on July 4th. There is no local organization, but a meeting has been arranged to take place under the rules of the Hawaiian Jockey Club, at which it is already assured that five good races will be the result. These are all match races, and prominent among them may be mentioned a half mile dash to take place at 9 p. m., the entrance fee to which is $1.00. For this race horses have already been entered by Messrs. Jones, Carlsen and Halstead, and to which two others are assured.

Another race will be a quarter of a mile dash, for which four entries have been made, among them Messrs. Halstead, Ah Chue and Warren.

A half mile mule race is also on the program, for which A. Dowsett and another gentleman have already made entries.

Two scrub races have also been arranged for, in both of which two entries have been made, and other races are still in prospect.

Taken altogether the outlook for a good day's sport is apt to be more than realized.

To Get at the Facts

Regarding Hood's Sarsaparilla, ask the people who take this medicine, or read the testimonials often published in this paper. They will certainly convince you that Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses unequalled merit, and that HOOD'S CURES.

MR IRWIN'S POLITICS

He Falls in With the Political Views of the Refinery King.

As but few people could have seen Mr. Irwin's endorsement of his partner, Mr. Spreckels, as published in last evening's Bulletin, the STAR gives it the benefit of general circulation.

Editor Bulletin.—In a communication to the New York Sun republished in the STAR of Saturday last, entitled "Spreckels on Politics," a statement is made to the effect that a certain favor read at a meeting of the Planter's Labor & Supply Co. was drafted by Mr. Paul Neumann and myself, and that upon the letter being rejected by the meeting a request was made that it should not be spread upon the minutes, and pledges were secured from every member present that the letter should not be made public.

In justice to Col. Spreckels and myself I beg to state the following facts regarding the letter in question. Shortly after Col. Spreckels' arrival here he invited Mr. T. C. Baldwin and myself to his home to discuss the question of annexation as being a plantation interest. The letter referred to was written by me at the interview as expressing Col. Spreckels' and my own views on the matter, and was to a great extent endorsed by Mr. P. Baldwin. The letter was read at a meeting of the P. L. & S. Co. and although approved or by a majority of those present it was deemed best not to forward it to Mr. Blount unless the approval was unanimous. It was suggested to spread the letter on the minutes, to which motion I, acting for Col. Spreckels, who was present, assented. No pledges were asked from members to keep the letter secret, neither was there any reason to make it public, the sense of the meeting not being taken on that point.

In conclusion I would say that I fully agree with Col. Spreckels in his opinion that an annexation pure and simple, without any regard to our present labor system, on which the existence of our sugar industry depends, or protection of the civil rights of Hawaiians against the host of political intrigues who would no doubt invade our shores as soon as the treaty was passed, would prove a disaster instead of a boon to these Islands.

GONE TO MAUI.

United States Minister Blount and Wife are Off for a Trip.

A large number of people visited the Wilder Steamship Company's wharf yesterday afternoon to see the Claudine off. Prominent among her passengers were United States Minister Blount and wife, who go for a visit to the Spreckelsville plantation under the guidance of W. G. Irwin, Rudolph Spreckels, Antone Rosa and Charles Nordhoff.

Quite a concourse of Royalists were on hand to bid adieu to the distinguished passengers, notably Messrs. Sam Parker, C. Maxwell, N. B. Brier, Peterson, E. C. McFarlane, J. W. Testa, W. M. Giffard and F. J. Roberts, while the Government was represented by President Dole, Attorney General Smith, and some members of the Executive Council. Claus Spreckels was also on hand and put in most of his time in earnest conversation with President Dole, after which he mysteriously disappeared. As the steamer backed out from the wharf most of the passengers went below, leaving only Antone Rosa and Charles Nordhoff engaged in loving converse on the upper deck.

For the Coast.

Owing to the difficulty of securing passage on the fast steamers calling at this port, the better class of sailing vessels are once more securing some passenger trade, of which years ago they had a monopoly. The fine American bark Albert, Captain Winding in command, left for San Francisco this morning shortly after 9 o'clock, with the following passengers: Thomas Porter, Dr. A. B. Delamater and wife, W. S. Bartlett and wife, A. E. Moore, Miss Clark and H. S. Spear. The cabin accommodations on this vessel are equal to those on the steamers, while the deck room is much more extensive. To those to whom time is not so much an object as ease and comfort, a passage on a fast sailing bark like the Albert is preferable to a crowd of steamers, while the difference in the expense of the trip is considerable.

THE PACIFIC HARDWARE CO.

A "Star" Reporter Takes a Look Round Their Premises.

In the course of his travels this morning a STAR reporter drifted into the large store of the Pacific Hardware Company, through which he was courteously escorted by Mr. Torbert. This corporation is already making preparations for better times by laying in an immense stock of goods, part of which has already arrived and is unpacked. Among the new articles displayed may be mentioned a new line of hanging, banquet and piano lamps, and two, three and four-light chandeliers from the well-known firm of Bradley & Hubbard of New York. A large assortment of ice chests and refrigerators of the Eddy and Gurney makes are also on sale, while the art department has been replenished with a full line of Winsor & Newton's oil colors, in tubes and otherwise, brushes, etc.

In the hardware department may be seen a large assortment of plows, breakers, cultivators and hose reels, which have just arrived from the factory of John Deere, of Moline, Ill., together with an immense display of saws, files, mechanic's tools, etc., of the Dixon make. Aim at the Drake

And you are bound to hit some of the ducks. This is precisely the same with Wampole's Tasteless Preparation OF Cod Liver Oil.

Wampole's Tasteless Preparation OF Cod Liver Oil.

It aims to cure Consumption, Hits the Mark, too, and it most effectually breaks up Colds, Coughs, Hoarseness and all Throat and Lung troubles that cause this disease.

It is natural logic to conclude that if WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION OF COD LIVER OIL has power to prevent Consumption, it surely is able to cure these lesser emergencies.

This vigor-making, fat producing preparation is Absolutely Tasteless, in so far as Cod Liver Oil is concerned. All you notice is a delightful flavor of Wild Cherry and Anise.

But the purest Norwegian Cod Liver Oil is there all the same. It is a great blood enricher. Best of all it is a natural food that in its stomachic effects, actually assists its own assimilation.

In Pulmonary or Bronchial troubles it is unequalled. No one doubts the value of Cod Liver Oil, but not every one is able to take it.

WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION

removes the nauseous objection and actually makes Cod Liver Oil palatable.
