

WHERE THE STRIKERS DIED.

Troops Patrolling the Scene of the Battle Near Lemont.

CHICAGO, June 20.—Following the turmoil and bloodshed of yesterday, quiet has fallen on the town of Lemont. This morning added another to the list of the dead. George Kiskia, shot through the right lung, expired at 6 o'clock.

On the ground beneath a huge oak tree at Section 10, covered by a gray woolen blanket, nearly all day lay the body of another victim of yesterday's trouble. His name is not known, though he is said to have been a leader among the strikers. He was a great, brawny fellow, with muscles like whiplashes and the physique of a gladiator. He was probably a Pole, and during the firing of yesterday was observed urging the strikers to rally and charge on the contractors' men. Here he was found, and his body remained waiting for friends to claim it.

As the day wore on still another was added to the list of dead. Just at the county line an unknown man was found, whose body was fairly riddled with bullets. He had evidently been shot during the melee and ran or walked nearly half a mile from the scene of trouble before he succumbed to his wounds.

It is generally believed that at least from three to five dead bodies are in the canal. Dozens of strikers were seen to plunge into the water after the volley from the drainage men. How many were wounded so severely as to be unable to swim to the opposite shore is unknown. It is said that several failed to rise.

This morning Supervisor Wener of Lemont gathered a force of men and began to drag the canal for bodies. John Kius, one of the wounded, is expected to die at any moment at the camp where the battle took place. Armed guards patrolled the boats all night and continued their march to-day. Some fifteen or twenty men are tramping the boundary line, carrying Winchester rifles and loaded revolvers.

John Peterson, shot in the groin, will die, and John Fronozotruski will have his left leg amputated as the result of a wound in the thigh. The list of dead will probably be increased more than half a dozen from the wounded.

This afternoon three companies of infantry debarked at Romeo, near Lemont. Later they were reinforced by another company from Elgin, and by 10 o'clock to-night Colonel Bennett had under his command eleven companies, aggregating 400 men. No soldiers ever had an easier task than that laid out for this force in guarding the portion of the canal in Will county. There is no disturbance and nothing to guard but stone heaps.

The Second Infantry of Chicago also arrived at the scene during the afternoon. The troops passed a miserable night in the rain and cold, but tomorrow will have tents and other comforts. Governor Altgeld arrived about the same time as the military, and immediately visited the scene of last night's battle.

The Governor called a conference of strikers and contractors. Considerable testimony was adduced regarding yesterday's occurrences. After considering the testimony he gave out the statement that it was his opinion, so far as investigations had gone, that the shooting of the strikers by drainage men was unprovoked and uncalled for. Before the coroner's jury this afternoon, George Hettinger testified that none of the strikers were armed, and that the firing was done by the contractor's men only.

INCLINED TO BE WILLFUL.

Eulalia Refuses to Be Amused According to Programme.

CHICAGO, June 20.—It rained hard, the wind blew in all directions and the air was raw and chilly to-day, but such weather had no terrors for Princess Eulalia. She went to the Fair, and despite the white caps on the lake, went in a small steam yacht, the tossing about of which terrified the landsmen who accompanied her.

At the Horticultural Building, which was visited first, a member of the Committee on Ceremonies informed Her Highness that when it suited her pleasure luncheon would be served in the Administration Building. The Princess replied that when she felt hungry she would lunch at the nearest restaurant. The party soon went to Midway Plaisance and there lunched in a German village, rye bread, sausages, cheese and beer comprising the repast.

About 4 o'clock the Princess was reminded that a musicale was to be given in her honor at Festival Hall. This did not seem to suit her fancy, but she consented to go. The building was crowded at the time, and when at 4 o'clock the Infanta failed to appear it was decided to proceed with the programme. The orchestra was practically half through the fifth number of the programme when the Infanta and party appeared in a box. The audience cheered lustily, but the Princess left the building after staying not more than five minutes, and the party was driven to the Plaisance again, and later in the evening to the hotel.

The Princess and her suite to-night attended the performance of the Lillian Russell Opera Company at the Columbia Theater.

DRUMMER'S DAY.

Drummers from all parts of the country attended the Exposition to-day. The travelling men turned out in great numbers. The Traveler's Protective Association, which concluded its annual meeting at Peoria yesterday, visited the Fair in a body, making the Missouri State Building their headquarters. The travelers were welcomed by Mayor Harrison, followed by

Are we to be, or not to be, a part of the Great Republic, seems to be the burning question of the day, and one we had rather leave to wiser heads than ours to solve; and while great statesmen are wrestling with this momentous question, we want to have a little "pow-wow" with you on some other subjects, that concern you as well as ourselves.

Has it not occurred to you that you've been wearing that old hat long enough! In these progressive times if you intend to be "in it," you've got to keep pace with fashion. No matter how otherwise well dressed you may be, unless your hat is the correct thing you bear a shabby appearance.

We have already laid in a stock of the Latest Hats of the coming Spring and Summer styles, in hard felts, soft felts and straws, and including a line of the celebrated "Fedora" Hats, at present all the rage in the United States. There is therefore, no necessity for you to hang on any longer to that old Hat that bears such a strong resemblance to the hat "your father wore."

Believing that business will be better in the near future, we have not hesitated to keep our stock full in all lines. Take collars for instance: We have almost everything you could wish for. If you wear a standing collar, just come in and take a look at our "Narenta" or "Ardonia;" or if you prefer a turn down collar, try the "Winnipeg" or "Goswell;" we have have lots of others, and can't fail to suit you. Cuffs in abundance, links or otherwise.

Neckwear in profusion, scarfs, windsors, 4-in-hands, and a special lot of "Boys' Bows;" suspenders in great variety, leather and woven ends, good strong, serviceable goods.

We might go on indefinitely, but space is valuable, and to enumerate everything we carry would fill a pretty fair sized book. If there is anything you want in the men's line, just drop in and see us, and if we can't suit you, we don't believe any one can.

If you should want a pair of nice shoes, let us try a hand at fitting you. Did it ever occur to you

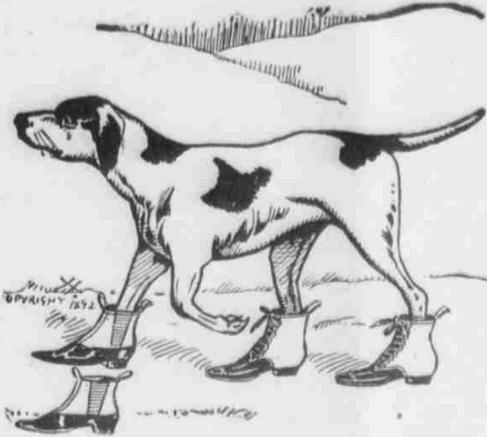

How much a man is like his shoes; For instance, both a soul may lose. Both have been tanned; Both are made tight by Cobblers; Both get left and right; Both need a mate to be complete; And both are made to go on feet.

They both need healing; oft are sold, And both in time will turn to mould. With shoes the last is first; with men The first shall be the last; and when The shoes wear out, they're mended new; When men wear out, they're men dead too.

They both are trod upon, and both Will tread on others nothing loth. Both have their ties, and both incline When polished, in the world to shine; And both peg out. Now would you choose To be a man, or be his shoes.

POINTERS IN SHOES

Just three pointers will be enough for you:
1st—We have over 20,000 pairs of Shoes in stock to select from, embracing all leading lines.
2nd—We buy in larger quantities than any one in the country, only spot cash, consequently we buy cheaper.
3rd—We have no extraordinary inducements to offer; you would distrust a man who had gold dollars to sell for ninety cents. Look out for the shoe man with that kind of a story; his shoes may be Counterfeits.
