THE EXPOSED CONSPIRACY.

In accordance with the opera bouffe methods which prevail in Royalist politics, certain men got together a few weeks ago to lay a plan to revolt and to blow up the Government with dynamite; and having agreed on various details, they forthwith went out in the open and began to tell about them to every sympathizer, real or pretended, who came along.

The revolutionary plan itself was quite well laid, the trouble being that it was so poorly carried out. There was to be first a deal of public talk about "waiting upon the wishes of the United States," "patiently biding the time," "being confident that America would restore the Queen," etcetera; and once the suspicion of the Government had been disarmed, there was to be a tossing of bombs and a general Royalist emuete.

So efficient has been the Marshal's secret service, so alert and unsuspected have been the Hawkshaws of the Government, so garrulous have been the ex-Queen's friends that we doubt the existence of any Royalist movement or the occurrence of any Royalist meeting, the particulars of which are not in Government possession.

To those who have feared that too much dolce far niente had come over the powers that be, the prompt, effective and conclusive work of yesterday will be a revelation. They may hereafter feel perfect confidence in the vigilance, firmness and protective capacity of all upon whom the duty of maintaining the status quo in Hawaii has devolved.

It remains to the chronic folly of the Holomania man to advance the idea that people are taking up land adjoining large ranches for the purpose of having a place on which to stock their stolen cattle. That's usually the way with cattle thieves—they try to have their plunder kept as close to its real owner as they can.

A MAN who does not know why the restoration of the ex-Queen by the United States is "diplomatically impossible" should attend a political kindergarten. He would learn there that when the American Republic recognized the Provisional Government, sent a Minister to it accredited in amity and friendship, and received a Hawaiian envoy in return as the minister of an independent power, it precluded itself from declaring war against the Hawaiian authorities because of the acts establishing the government thus recognized. And there we are!

As the STAR remarked a week ago: "It is about time to cut the comb of this strutting Royalist fowl." That's what the Marshal thought.

BRITISH ADVICE.

An Effective Letter from a Well-Known Citizen of Honolulu.

EDITOR STAR: I was much interested in an able letter by the London correspondent of the New York Nation, which you reprinted the other day. It is an excellent illustration of James Russell Lowell's famous article "On a Certain Condescension in Foreigners," i. e. towards Americans.

The simple reason why there is no probability of British intervention in Hawaiian affairs, may be found in the terms of the joint convention between Great Britain and France, by which those two Powers engaged reciprocally to consider the Sandwich Islands as an independent State, and never to take possession, either directly or under the title of a protectorate or under any other form, of any part of the territory of which they are composed.

This is not a guarantee against any other Powers, but a mutual engagement, as stringently as human language could make it.

The Government of the United States has been more than once invited to unite in a tripartite convention of this kind, but has always declined to limit its freedom of action.

At the present time, too, France is not in a mood to accommodate John Bull by relaxing any of his engagements. The continued occupation of Egypt by British troops has given great umbrage to France, which has shown a readiness to retaliate by annoying England in Newfoundland, the New Hebrides and elsewhere.

The indifference affected by English writers, and their denial of the value of the Islands as a naval station is simply a case of "sour grapes." John Bull is generally considered a good judge of real estate. He knows a good thing when he sees it, and has managed to annex nearly all the land available for colonization within the temperate zones.

When we consider that he has spent a million of pounds in fortifications and docks at the Bermudas, besides connecting them by cable with Halifax, and the enormous sums that he has spent in the same way at Jamaica, Barbadoes, Esquimaux and other places, it is evident that he has an eye open to the strategic as well as the commercial advantages of such points, and that in this matter he is simply practicing on the credulity of Uncle Jonathan.

It is indeed amusing to see how the old gentleman warns his younger kinsman against following his example. Why, hardly a year passes without his annexing more territory than is contained in the Hawaiian Islands. Far cry John wiping his mouth just after having made a meal of the Gilbert Islands (without any "plebiscite"), and gravely shaking his head and contracting his brows at the thought that Jonathan should venture upon such a hazardous experiment.

There is also something very amusing in the pitying condescension with which certain Cockney journalists discuss Uncle Sam's capacity for governing a new territory. "It looks very doubtful," they say. "The doubts upon such points would make the attempt to govern Hawaii in case of annexation watched with much curiosity here." They do not seem to be aware that Uncle Sam has reared some thirty odd children, whom he has brought up from the condition of territories to that of full statehood.

In the various acts of Congress for organizing territorial governments may be found a wide range of types to select from, from those of Louisiana and Florida to those of Arizona and Idaho. And there is surely statesmanship enough, both in Congress and in the Islands, to frame an act adapted to the special conditions of the future territory of Hawaii.

While thanking John Bull for his gratuitous advice, we cannot help questioning its disinterestedness.

OBSERVER.

LUTHER SEVERANCE TALKS.

He Tells the Americans About Island Affairs.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 5.—Luther Severance, postmaster at Hilo, Hawaii, and for fifty years a resident of the islands, is visiting friends in this city. Speaking to-day of the situation in Hawaii, he said: "The better class of the foreign element want annexation. Any government formed of the people of the islands could not last long. There would be so many conflicting elements that anarchy would be the outcome. The present Provisional Government, which is practically a military government, could not have lasted as long as it has had it not been for the prospect of annexation."

"If the United States refuses to take us Great Britain will surely step in and establish a British protectorate by placing Princess Kaiulani on the throne. With the assurance of a government such as would result from annexation, capital would find a great field for investment by developing our sugar and coffee lands. There are thousands of acres of the best coffee lands in the world that can be bought for $1 per acre. In three years the coffee plant can be got into bearing. It yields a handsome profit and offers an ideal life to the planter."

"I am vice-president of the Annexation club of Hilo. I should say that the people care very little what the form of government is so long as we are assured of the protection of the United States. Perhaps a territorial government would be best." Speaking of the course pursued by Commissioner Blount, Mr. Severance said: "I am inclined to be pleased with it. He can't fail to see that annexation is the only thing for the Islands, and I feel sure he must be convinced that it will be a great boon to the United States. I am confident his report will be in favor of taking us under the wing of the United States."

RESTORATION day will now subside and give Incarceration day a show.

Aim at the Drake And you are bound to hit some of the ducks. This is precisely the same with Wampole's Tasteless Preparation OF Cod Liver Oil.

It aims to cure Consumption, Hits the Mark, too, and it most effectually breaks up Colds, Coughs, Hoarseness and all Throat and Lung troubles that cause this disease.

It is natural logic to conclude that WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION OF COD LIVER OIL has power to prevent Consumption, it surely is able to cure these lesser emergencies.

This vigor-making, fat producing preparation is Absolutely Tasteless, in so far as Cod Liver Oil is concerned. All you notice is a delightful flavor of Wild Cherry and Anise.

But the purest Norwegian Cod Liver Oil is there all the same. It is a great blood enricher. Best of all it is a natural food that in its stomachic effects, actually assists its own assimilation.

In Pulmonary or Bronchial troubles it is unequalled. No one doubts the value of Cod Liver Oil, but not every one is able to take it.

WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION

removes the nauseous objection and actually makes Cod Liver Oil palatable.
