in him. Our share of the burden is one dollar a year, or, capitalized, a lump sum of say $32 50. That we ought to give, and give freely. There are 65,000,000 of us; each person's share is, therefore, 12,000,000 of a dollar, which is 1-20,000 of a cent. We have no smaller coin than the cent, and, I for one, do not propose to pay 20,000 times my assessment. I shall keep my money in my pocket until there are 20,000 Dukes of Veragua.—Ambrose Bierce.

Royalist Slanders of Mr. Cleveland.

In an interview printed in the Boston Globe, Mr. Lorrin A. Thurston, the representative at Washington of the Hawaiian Provisional Government, says: "The sentiment in favor of annexation is growing stronger and stronger on the island. Notwithstanding the many statements to the contrary, there is a constant accession from the ranks of the native Hawaiians."

"The present Government is stronger financially, morally and physically than it ever was. The only thing which keeps the Royalists together is the frequent repetition of the statement that President Cleveland is going to restore the Queen. They know that if this occurs it will go hard with the Annexationists, and are holding off through fear of the consequences."

The chief strength of the Hawaiian Royalists and their American sympathizers is their fertility of invention. Seldom has a plain situation been misrepresented more multifariously. But a fallen throne cannot be repaired with lies. When Mr. Cleveland has received from Mr. Blount an account of the latter's mission and of the state of affairs and of public opinion in the Islands, we may look for a declaration of the policy of the administration in regard to annexation. We trust that that policy will be thoroughly American; but whatever course Mr. Cleveland may pursue in the matter, it cannot be pleasant to him to know that his name is used, most unjustly, as the prop of royalty in Hawaii. He is not responsible, to be sure, for the lies of the failing and malignant Royalists, and nothing could be more absurd than the pretence that the United States Government would figure as the restorer of a monarchy; but the sooner this policy in regard to Hawaii is disclosed, the quicker will his Royalist slanders be discredited.—N. Y. Sun

Spreckels in Full Sight.

By a gradual process of elimination and evolution, Mr. Claus Spreckels of San Francisco has become the principal figure in the opposition to the honorable acquisition of Hawaii by the United States. He is likewise the chief advocate of the restoration of Queen Liliuokalani.

Nordhoff is of little account. He discredited himself with the nib of his own pen. Even Spreckels, who has used the newspaper writer for all that he thought he was worth; has apparently come to the conclusion that the period of Mr. Nordhoff's usefulness to the cause of royalty and sugar monopoly is about over.

Claus Spreckels is an able man; he has made a good deal of money. He is an ambitious man, and wants to make a good many millions more. Although he has doubtless acquired American citizenship, as a means to an end, it has never been positively ascertained that there is a single drop of true American blood in the whole body of Spreckels. His heart beats warmly for Spreckels; for Spreckelian monopoly in the matter of refined sugar on the Pacific coast; for Spreckelian control of the Hawaiian Crown lands, and the gates which let into the Islands Asiatic cheap labor; for a Spreckelian monarchy, with Spreckels as the power behind the throne.

Such is the real attitude of the plotter and schemer whom some Americans at the beginning believed to be at the bottom of the annexation movement. That suspicion was enough to discredit the idea of annexation in their minds, but it was not well founded, as everybody now knows. There never was a more ludicrous mistake. Spreckels is against republican institutions in the Islands, and for monarchy, to the extent of every dollar already in his pocket, and every dollar his mercenary imagination sees floating in the air.

This gentleman, whose very name, when falsely connected with the Provisional Government and the idea of annexation, was enough to set cautious men a thinking, is now out of ambush and in full sight of the American people. He is the next friend of the Queen, and he would be the principal beneficiary if her restoration. He has come back from Honolulu to San Francisco "to see what President Cleveland will do." It is he that describes the members of the Provisional Government as "adventurers." It is he that sneers at the "missionaries," meaning the children of America who have given to Hawaii civilization, prosperity, a love of free government, and the possibility of a glorious future. It is he that predicts the restoration of the Queen, even "if blood has to flow." It is he, Spreckels, that will do all he can to prevent annexation and to set up Liliuokalani again as a Spreckelian potentate.

In considering the present and coming phases of this most important and interesting question of Hawaii's destiny, be sure to place Mr. Claus Spreckels where he belongs. It is Spreckels against America's national opportunity, and against Hawaii's dearest hope.—New York Sun.

Aim at the Drake

And you are bound to hit some of the ducks. This is precisely the same with

Wampole's

Tasteless Preparation OF Cod Liver Oil.

It aims to cure Consumption, Hits the Mark, too, and it most effectually breaks up Colds, Coughs, Hoarseness and all Throat and Lung troubles that cause this disease.

It is natural logic to conclude that if WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION OF COD LIVER OIL has power to prevent Consumption, it surely is able to cure these lesser emergencies.

This vigor-making, fat producing preparation is Absolutely Tasteless, in so far as Cod Liver Oil is concerned. All you notice is a delightful flavor of Wild Cherry and Anise.

But the purest Norwegian Cod Liver Oil is there all the same. It is a great blood enricher. Best of all it is a natural food that in its stomachic effects, actually assists its own assimilation.

In Pulmonary or Bronchial troubles it is unequalled. No one doubts the value of Cod Liver Oil, but not every one is able to take it.

WAMPOLE'S PREPARATION removes the nauseous objection and actually makes Cod Liver Oil palatable.
