

REVEREND DR. BECKWITH

WILL RESIGN HIS PASTORATE VERY SHORTLY.

The Central Union Church Has Given Too Large for Him—He Wishes to Go to Makawao.

A special meeting of the Standing Committee of the Central Union Church was held last night at the request of Rev. Dr. Beckwith. To the committee the reverend gentleman said that he had received a unanimous call to the pastorate of the church at Makawao, Maui, where many of his old friends and scholars and a brother for whom he had a great affection resided, and further, that he had about concluded to accept the call.

The announcement of Dr. Beckwith was received by the committee with surprise, regret and protest, and every argument possible was advanced to induce him to change his resolution, but without avail.

No recourse is left the committee but to call a meeting of the congregation at an early day and notify it of Dr. Beckwith's action officially. The members of the church will then take proper steps to procure another pastor.

In speaking of the matter to a reporter this morning one of the trustees of the church said: "Every one of us regrets the action of Dr. Beckwith, still we cannot deny that the reasons he urges are good ones. When the Fort-street and Bethel churches came together in 1887, Dr. Beckwith was selected as the man of all men to thoroughly cement the two churches into one. It was a responsibility requiring the exercise of much tact and good judgment.

Dr. Beckwith was president of Punahou College some thirty years ago, and while acting in that capacity made himself personally dear to all who came in contact with him. Many of his old scholars of that period are now settled at Makawao, and the call to that pastorate is the outcome of that early regard. The congregation of the Maui church is said to number about 100, but there is little doubt of its rapid increase should Dr. Beckwith take charge of it.

SPRECKELS-MACFARLANE.

Chief Justice Judd Renders a Partial Decision.

In the case of the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company vs. the Waikapu Sugar Company, Chief Justice Judd has filed a partial decision on the motion of the defendant for an order for an accounting. In his opinion the Chief Justice says: "It is contended that the allegation in the petition in the equity case of separate occupation by amicable agreement being not sustained is evidence of ouster. In my opinion it is not. The agreement to separately occupy was found not to be established, but the actual amicable occupation by each party of the land on the side of the line of sand hills next to its other possessions was proven. But if it is a fact that the plaintiff company has since this litigation was begun taken into its possession more of the common estate, I think they should be held to account for it. For the litigation showed that the right of plaintiff to occupy to the exclusion of the other was disputed by the defendant, and until this was settled, any further occupation would be with the knowledge of the adverse claim. The extent of the liability and the principles to be applied thereto are, by stipulation, to be the subject of further agreement. Let the question whether the plaintiff has occupied more of the common estate since June, 1891, be referred to H. Smith, Master in Chancery, and if any has been so occupied, to what extent. On the coming in of this report I will hear argument as to the principles on which the accounting should be made."

OFFICERS TAKE A HAND.

IN THE ROYALIST REMOVAL DEBATE.

They Urge a Speedy Change in Behalf of Military Defence and Discipline.

Last night the removal issue was taken up at military headquarters by the board of officers of the National Guard of Hawaii and debated at length. It was at first proposed that the resolutions lately passed by the Annexation Club be adopted in their entirety; but one of the officers argued that it was not wise to go into politics and that the objections to the continued presence of Royalists in office should be urged by the board from a purely military standpoint.

The debate ended by the appointment of a committee of three to wait on the Ministry this morning and point out that, in case of any attack by the royalists upon the seat of government, the presence of officials there who sympathized with the enemy would endanger the safety of the troops and be subversive of morale and discipline. It was the further object of the committee to labor for the removal of every official not actively and avowedly identified with the Government's purposes.

NO MORE DIPHTHERIA.

All Reports to the Contrary Are Pronounced False.

A reporter called on Health Officer Reynolds in reference to the report published in a morning paper to the effect that a fresh case of diphtheria had broken out in a Portuguese house on Lihua street; also, that a child had died yesterday from the same disease. Mr. Reynolds stated that both stories were incorrect. The child who died yesterday was one of those who had been affected with diphtheria and been quarantined, but had recovered some days since. Its death occurred yesterday from other causes. In the new case reported, which was not in the same family, although in an adjoining house. The child on examination was found to be only suffering from a simple sore throat. Mr. Reynolds states that as far as the Health Office is advised there is not a single case of diphtheria in the city. He hopes that future rumors cases will be reported to him before publication, and thereby avoid causing unnecessary alarm.

OFFICIALLY DENIED.

Not a Word of Truth in the Prevalent Rumors.

At 2:30 o'clock a representative of the STAR called on Attorney-General Smith in his office at the Government building with reference to the various rumors which are afloat, and especially those relating to a purported call on the Cabinet by Minister Willis this morning and a supposed meeting this afternoon of that body to discuss the propositions advanced this morning by the Minister.

"There is not a word of truth in either of them," said the Attorney-General. "Minister Willis has not called on us to-day or at any time since his official reception, except the time he came informally to arrange for Admiral Irwin's official visit. The members of the Cabinet, with their families have called on him and his wife socially, but nothing whatever of an official nature has been done by him or by the Cabinet since his reception. The Cabinet has not received a word from him officially since that day, nor have we addressed any communications to him on the situation. In fact nothing whatever of a political character has occurred, nor as far as the Ministry knows is likely to occur. The statement that the Cabinet is in session or will be this afternoon is equally untrue, as you see. Mr. Dole is in his office and Minister Damon has gone out for a horse-back ride, and I am sure no Cabinet meeting has been even thought of, for there is nothing to consider."

THE WAIAANAE EXTENSION.

WILL OPEN UP NEW SUGAR PROPERTIES.

Some Interesting Figures in Connection With the Oahu Railroad—Cheaper Firewood.

A reporter of the STAR was fortunate enough to find General Manager Dillingham of the Oahu Railroad at leisure for a few moments this morning and obtained from him some more information in regard to the road which will be of interest.

"What will the extension cost Mr. Dillingham," asked the reporter. "The cost of the completion of the road to Waianae is estimated at $164,000, but four miles of the worst of the grading is already completed. The money that we expect to receive from the sale of bonds to Mr. Widemann and others, will all go to pay wages in constructing the new line. Everything else is either on hand or arranged for. We have a new locomotive, five box cars and ten new trucks all ready to be put together, belonging to the new division and paid for."

"What are the prospects for business on the extension?" "Excellent. The road will pass through several miles of good cane land which can be made available for the Ewa mill, the cane being transported to the mill by rail. We already have an arrangement by which the Ewa Company will use our track for that purpose. From the cane lands the road will pass through a belt of algaroba belonging to the railroad company, from which we expect to cut 250 cords per month, about the present monthly consumption of Honolulu. The opening of the Ewa division brought down the price of firewood from $14 and $18 per cord to $8.50 and $10, and a still further reduction will come when the new supply is cut into. Then we shall probably get to have most of the sugar from the Waianae mill, about 3000 tons per year, which now goes round by steamers. That amount will probably be largely increased, as the new division will open up some available sugar land for that company, the cane being transported to the mill by rail as at Ewa."

"What are the prospects from passenger and freight sources, outside of the staple products, such as sugar, rice and bananas?" "They will both pay handsomely. Let me show you some figures." Mr. Dillingham then showed the reporter an array of figures which proved that the average passenger traffic for a period of thirty-six months, ending July 31st, last, amounted to $2,699.44 per month, the population along the line being estimated at 3000. The figures also showed that each passenger traveled an average of twelve miles per trip. The freight business showed an average for the same period of $1,341 cents per head per month, or 11.1 cents per head per mile per month, not including the freight on sugar, bananas and rice. The freight receipts for the entire period of three years were as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Item, Amount. Ewa plantation $41,017 95; Bananas 11,365 36; Rice 13,013 74; Miscellaneous 37,819 09. Total $103,216 14.

"Taking the same average given above and applying it to the increased population, say 1000, and mileage opened up by extending the road to Waianae, the new line will pay well without taking sugar, rice and wood into consideration. People think the road does not pay, but they are badly mistaken. We are always short of money because we are investing all we can get in improvements outside the railroad itself. The road is paying well as far as built, and we are paying 6 per cent. on our bonds."

Rare Seeds for the Nursery. Commissioner Marsden is in receipt of a box of fruit and seeds from Aubrey Robinson of Makaweli, Kauai, which has afforded him much gratification. The box contains specimens of the bhil fruit, seeds of which Mr. Robinson brought with him from India years ago. This tree does well in this climate, it is a quick grower and bears heavily. The fruit is highly esteemed in India, where the pulp is eaten mixed with sugar. It is slightly astringent in its properties. With this fruit were seeds of the native Koa and Wahane palms, of the latter of which grow on the mountains of Kauai. The Commissioner will have the fruit planted and carefully attended to.

Made an Assignment. John Greenwald, merchant and postmaster at Hana, Maui, has made an assignment to J. F. Hackfeld for the benefit of his creditors. His liabilities are said to be about $18,000 and assets $19,000. M. S. Griebaum & Co. and McChesney & Sons are the principal creditors.

A Cold Day.

"It's a warm day, isn't it?" said a tramway mule to his companion. "I should say not," responded the other. "I just saw the old man counting the nickels, and among the whole lot of nickels there wasn't a single button. It's a cold day when we don't get at least one button on a round trip."

THE CRICKETERS.

Will Not be Able to Entertain the Australians.

At a meeting of the Honolulu Cricket Club held on Saturday evening, the committee heretofore appointed to try and raise funds to suitably entertain the Australian team which will pass through Honolulu on its way home some time this month, reported that it had not met with sufficient financial success to justify carrying out the original intentions of the club in the matter, and advised that the affair be dropped. The report was adopted.

It is not known whether the Australians will come by the Vancouver line or not, as there is much talk of their visiting San Francisco before leaving for home.

The present season of cricket is closed until further notice, but the members will have the use of the club paraphernalia and grounds at any time.

The first annual meeting of the club will take place in January, at which a date will be fixed for the opening of the next season. The matter of procuring grounds of their own will also be brought to the attention of the members.

THE NEW QUARTERS.

The "Star" Occupies McInerney Hall and Adjacent Offices.

The STAR management moved into the McInerney block Monday morning and got out the paper amid the noise of machinists at work, the smell of fresh paint and much impediments on the floor. The electric motor not being in place the big press had to be run by Kanaka power and this made the production of the paper rather slow. It will be a week yet, perhaps, before the office will be in ship-shape order, by which time the friends of the paper will be welcome to drop in and see the wheels go round.

The work of hoisting the big smoke stack at the Electric Light Works was successfully accomplished at 3:10 this afternoon. It looms up in great shape from the windows of the STAR office.
