AT ST. LOUIS.

College Improvements Made During the Recent Vacation.

St. Louis College will open at 9 a. m. Monday for its fourteenth term. Health certificates, either from Dr. Howard or other responsible doctor will be required of pupils before entering the school.

The entrance to the college premises has been greatly improved during the vacation. All the old, unsightly shanties on the college point have been cleared away and the narrow lanes leading to the grounds will be used no more. Beretania street is being extended straight forward beyond the bridge and touches the premises on the southwest side, affording a more handsome and comfortable approach. In addition to the exterior improvements the hall has been remodeled and the school rooms neatly finished, adding much to the appearance of them. Brother Bertram, principal, and seventeen assistants will again have charge. Brothers Albert and Edward return by today's Australia. The principal has conducted the school for fourteen years and to him is due much of the success of its work.

MILITARY BRANCHES.

The Uniform Rank, K. of P. will likely ask to use the drill shed for practice during the vacation of the militia. The society uses the regular army tactics and has added fancy or display movements.

The Odd Fellows are talking of hastening to make a showing with their military degree.

The Knights Templar are gaining new blood and will soon get down to drill again.

THE SOCIAL.

The social at the M. E. church Thursday night was quite a success. A splendid literary and music program was put on in the early evening. This was followed by ice cream. About $20 was cleared which will be applied to the church building fund.

FREE KINDERGARTEN.

The free Kindergartens will open on Monday morning at 9 o'clock, in the various rooms occupied by the Kindergartens last year. Children between the age of three and six years may apply for admission at the Kindergartens Monday morning.

CO. C TAKES THE PRIZE

CAPT. CAMARA'S BOYS GET THE $100 IN CASH.

All Contestants Do Well—C Was Almost Perfect—Some Detail of the Exhibition—Audience Present.

The competitive drill of volunteer companies of the First Regiment, N. G. H., took place from 7:40 to 10 o'clock Thursday night on Armory Square. Five or six hundred people were congregated in the roadways around the parade grounds. A line of sentries kept the crowd back. Several rows of chairs in front of the drill shed were occupied by distinguished guests and ladies. President Dole and staff occupied a position on the right and in full view of the parade grounds. Col. McLean, Majors McLeod and Jones, Adj. Schaefer and Adj. Kenake were present in uniform.

CAPT. J. M. CAMARA, JR.

At 7:30 o'clock the judges, Lieut. Col. Fisher, Capt. Appleton and Lieut. Stanworth, arrived. The last two were introduced to the President and staff and then were met by the company commanders.

Lots were cast to decide the order in which the companies should enter. The result was: G first, D second, A third and C fourth. The arrangement placed the second battalion first, and left A in the best natural position.

Promptly at 8 o'clock Company G, thirty-two men, marched out. Capt. Kea was in command. Second Lieut. Morse acted first lieutenant and Sergt. Kekumani, second. The company showed up handsomely as it left the door of the building and received general applause from the crowd. Marching out in column of fours, "fours left" brought the company to front before the judges and the routine of alighting was gone through with. This was the order for all the companies.

G made a fine record. All were surprised. Execution of the manual and loadings and firings was perfect. Marching was also excellent. Skirmish drill was also well handled, especially when it is remembered that G is a young company, a little over a year old and has but lately taken up extended order. Capt. Kea was slow and deliberate in delivering his orders. This was the reason the company was out overtime. Many people thought G would surely win and a shout of applause arose from every quarter of the grounds when the native boys marched back to their armory.

D came next on the grounds. Capt. McCarthy was in command and both lieutenants were in place. Unfortunately there were only twenty-eight men in line, necessitating two skeleton fours and placing the company at a twenty per cent disadvantage. This company was in no shape to enter, and did so more as a compliment to the President and Regimental officers than anything else, feeling it to be the duty of every company to do the best it could. D's best work was in alignments and marchings. Extended order was wholly new.

There was a large number of people present whose hopes ran high when Company A marched out. Capt. Paul Smith reported a full front, two lieutenants and four sergeants. A's best was in the manual, marchings and extended order. Turnings were not so good. A fault to be found was the rapidity of the orders of Capt. Smith. It showed the men up to great advantage but was very straining upon them and perhaps caused a few minor breaks. The double-quick movements were pronounced A1. It was generally admitted that when A left the grounds that it was a close contest between that command and G.

The surprise of the evening yet remained in store for the big crowd.

There was something about Company C as it marched out that showed all that Capt. Camara's abilities as a drill master and hard work with his men during the past several months had worked wonders. They marched with the precision of veterans and went through the manual as one man.

Their best work was in the skirmish drill. Here the non-coms. of the company covered themselves with glory. The petty officers of the other commands could not touch them with a long pole. Order kneeling and lying down was perfect. It was the only company that executed these movements upon a precise tactical basis.

Volley firing was a little off, but this weakness was more than balanced off by the excellency of the advances and charges.

The work of Capt. Camara personally met with the highest commendation and was a feature of the evening. From start to finish there was a nicety about every command and movement that was highly gratifying. His voice was loud and clear, and in the charges and rallies he used the whistle to great advantage. Not a single error was charged to the officers of the company.

When C left the ground it was patent that the prize was theirs. Capt. Camara was at once surrounded by a number of military friends and warmly congratulated.

After the drill the judges met, compared notes and addressed a letter to the President declaring Company C to be the victors. Percentages were not given on account of the fact that none of the companies followed closely the program laid down. Company A was given second place, G third and D fourth.

Company C's champion team was as follows: J. M. Camara, Jr., Captain commanding; M. Costa, first lieutenant; First Sergeant J. Costa, Jr., acting second lieutenant; Sergeants M. Gomes, A. G. Silva, Jr., W. Speckman, J. A. Gonsalves; Corporals J. Martins and J. J. Carvalho; Privates Alves, Bonaparte, Castano, Caldeira, Costa, Joaquin, Ferreira, Jose Ferreira, Freitas, Fernandez, John Gomez, Antone Gomes, Guindinho, Garcia, Frank Gomes, Gouveia, Gaspar, Lindo, Mekia, Mello, Olival, Perry, Phillips, Rodrigues, Roza, Souza, Santos, Silva, Tavares and Xavier.

NOTES.

Lieut. Stanworth, the junior judge, marched with the companies and watched closely every movement. By the way, he has the reputation of being one of the best drill masters on the North Pacific Station, U. S. N., and is an accomplished tactician.

Corp. Sam Johnson, company F, was in charge of the guard around the square.

Never before has the town taken such an interest in a drill. Enthusiasm of the big crowd kept up all the evening. All the companies had friends who encouraged them with applause.

A charge of Company G extended into the crowd on Hotel street. But the boys in blue were careful and no one was disturbed. A march in the crowd in front of the drill shed, but in fine style. All the companies "celebrated" after the drill. A and D had a large number of friends in. G went over and was royally entertained by C. The reception in the latter's room lasted two hours. There was some speech-making and toasts and a big time was had. Quite a number of Adams sailors were present and took a live interest in the drill.

Corp. Storey was on hand. He said if Company B had been in, the thing would have been different. D did not expect to get even third place and is not the least witted. All things considered the battery boys really did better than was expected. Capt. McCarthy is in fine spirits and says he is ready to "go 'em" again.

COLBURN NOT A SALVOR

ADJUDGED TO HAVE NO CLAIM ON THE BARK.

No Abandonment of the Gainsborough in a Legal Sense—Plaintiff Had a Mistaken Notion.

Judge A. W. Carter made quick work of Marcus Colburn's libel against the wrecked bark Gainsborough. For a number of reasons set forth in a lengthy decision the court finds that Colburn has no claim for salvage whatever and dismisses his bill.

After reviewing carefully the history of the case from the time the Gainsborough struck on the reef the court makes the following points: "There was clearly no abandonment in the legal sense of the term. There was a mere temporary absence for the purpose of better protecting the interests of all parties interested. * * * There is no merit in the claim. The libellant probably acted in good faith under his mistaken notion of the law. * * * The vessel was not a derelict and the libellant was not authorized or entitled to take possession of her under the circumstances. The vessel and cargo were subject to the orders of the master, and the police, under such instructions took rightful possession, irrespective of the rights of the department to take possession under the statute."

GAINSBOROUGH.

Admiral Hewett came ashore from the Gainsborough wreck this noon and returned shortly after. Work was progressing favorably and the vessel hadn't moved.

"AGAIN" THE JAPANESE

LIVELY AGITATION ON IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Trouble Feared—Distress Threatened—Gen. Gomez Speaks of His American Friends.

ANTI-JAPANESE.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 20.—The agitation against Japanese is growing in British Columbia until it has taken precedence over the Chinese question. Japanese Consul Nosse, stationed at Vancouver, was arranging to bring out a large number of farm hands for settlement on the Manitoba wheatlands. These Japs live on 25 cents a day and would save 75 cents out of $1 per diem.

As trouble was feared during the present agitation the consul was dissuaded from importing this form of cheap Japanese labor. Nosse says there are 1,900 Japanese laborers in the province, but the Trades Council claims there are 4000 and that each has supplanted a white bread winner and caused misery and discouragement.

The Japanese are more dangerous than the Chinese as skilled laborers and work so cheaply that they will eventually drive white laborers from the province. The form the agitation has taken is to have the Government prohibit all those not attaining to certain wealth and education.

GOMEZ INTERVIEWED.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The Herald this morning publishes the following correspondence from Santa Ann, Cuba, under date of August 13th. In speaking of the attitude of the United States toward Cuba and the possibility of President Cleveland recognizing the belligerency of the insurgents, Gen. Gomez says: "I have forbidden the discussion of the subject in my camp. For weeks the men fairly held their breaths waiting word from Washington. It was a waste of time. Long ago I realized that we must fight this war alone and unaided. We can win our independence while the Executive of the United States is considering the question of our possible belligerency. I have no doubt of the sympathy of the American people as a whole. In fact, I have the best evidence of their good will. Many Americans are fighting in my ranks, and good, true men they are. The chief of our artillery is an American from Boston, and no braver man lives."

WATSON.

ATLANTA, Aug. 24.—The Journal this afternoon printed a report that the purpose of Senator Tillman's recent mysterious visit to Thomas E. Watson at the latter's home in Thompson to see if Watson could not be induced to retire from the vice presidential race on the promise of a place in the Bryan Cabinet.

GOLDITES.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—The gold standard Democrats who met here today perfected a state organization to be known as the Jeffersonian party, this being necessary, owing to a State law which prohibits conflicting party titles on the ballots. The Chicago convention's platform and nominees are repudiated.

CHICAGO BANK FAILURE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—The Haymarket Produce Bank made an assignment this morning, with assets of $160,000 and liabilities about the same. Arthur J. Howe is president.

STALLION RECORD.

RIGBY PARK, Me., Aug. 24.—The famous pacing stallion, Joe Patchen, cut the world's stallion pacing record a quarter of a second, going the mile in 2:03 flat on the Rigby track today.

OLD MONOCACY.
