Stable manure being very scarce in the tropical zone, artificial fertilizers supplying plant-food suited to the needs of the different crops become necessary. The full and beneficial effect of Potash can only be obtained when the necessary amount of phosphoric acid is also applied. Potash Salts should in all cases be well mixed with Phosphates prior to being applied.

Find by analysis what is lacking in your soil. To insure a good yield Lime, Potash, Nitrogen, and Phosphoric Acid should be present.

A GREAT ICE ATHLETE.

Phillips Closed Thirty Years of Skating by Winning a Championship.

The career of the great speed and figure skater George D. Phillips is one of the most remarkable in sporting annals.

Born in New York Sept. 9, 1856, standing 5 feet 5 inches in height and weighing 135 pounds, he stands out prominently as an example of the benefits of systematic athletics, and, although his first contest was a one mile skating race, which he won from a field of 32 competitors, in 1867, he again loomed up as a competitor for the figure skating championship for 1897, which he won over eight competitors, including representatives from Canada and Boston, thus completing an even 30 years of competition a champion, a feat probably never before duplicated.

During the ten years following his first race Mr. Phillips won nearly every skating race in this vicinity, and in 1877, at the first regular amateur championship meeting, won the 10 and 25 mile races from large fields.

He continued as a speed skater until 1885, when he won in one day the 5, 10 and 25 mile championships, thereupon retiring. In 1887, however, he won the "two twenty" championship, thus completing 20 years of competition as champion. This made his twelfth championship between 1877 and 1887, during which time he established nearly all the world's records from 100 yards to 26 miles.

In 1886 he took up figure skating and finished second to Louis Rubenstein, the Canadian champion, in that and every year thereafter until 1891, when, after a contest lasting six hours, they each scored 71 points. During the preceding years they were from two to four points apart and far in advance of all other competitors. He was returned a winner in the figure skating championship in 1892, 1893 and 1895, no competition having been held in 1894 and Evans winning in 1896.—New York Telegram.

Athletics at Harvard.

In his annual report, President Eliot of Harvard roundly criticizes the conduct of intercollegiate sports. His reference to athletics was brief but pointed. It was as follows:

"The conduct of intercollegiate sports during the year proved fresh that the management of those sports at Harvard has been for some years unintelligent, and for that reason unsuccessful. The evils of overtraining and excessive exertion on the part of the members of the principal teams were exhibited in high degree. A fundamental defect in the athletic organization has been that coaches of limited experience, who may be either unobservant or obtuse, can override on the spot the advice of the trainer and physician.

"The result is that the principal players of football are almost all more or less injured early in the season and are then brought to the principal games in a crippled or exhausted condition, while the crew come to the final race less capable of endurance than they were a month earlier. The remedies are the subordination of coaches to an expert in training or to a medical adviser, and the general adoption of more reasonable views about all training for athletic sports."—New York Herald.

Boxing Referees.

It is about time that the clubs catering to boxing, begin to pay some attention to their referees. The duty is a difficult one. More than that, it is a thankless one. It is unpleasant in every way. No referee, no matter how able or how honest, can escape criticism all the time. He must be prepared to accept a certain amount of it. The fact that others do not see eye to eye with him, that they differ from him, is not always a reflection upon his honesty or his ability, and not necessarily a reflection upon either.

For these reasons a referee never should hesitate to give a decision one way or another, and to give it promptly. He should not take refuge behind a draw, for a draw decision in many instances means a lack of backbone or incompetency. There are cases, of course, in which men are so evenly matched that a draw is the only fair and proper decision, but these cases are extremely rare.—Exchange.

WILLIAM AND SOCIALISTS

GERMAN EMPEROR DECLARES WAR AGAINST THEM.

German Socialists Reply in a Defiant Manner—The Kaiser Fully Determined to Root Socialism.

BERLIN, March 6.—Throughout the week the latest anti-socialist speech of the Emperor, at the Brandenburg banquet, has echoed and reechoed all over Germany. It appears that the speech was much more violent than officially reported. His Majesty really said that socialism must be out-rooted to the last trace, and he described socialism as "That pest which infests our whole nation." He further referred to his grandfather's (William I) co-workers, Bismarck and Von Moltke, as "mere tools of his august will," and concluded with saying: "I shall be glad to know that everyone's hand is in mine, that of the noble and that of the serf."

The Socialist press replied to the challenge. The Vorwaerts in a defiant article says: "German socialism will know how to defeat projected attempts hidden under the cloud of loyalty and patriotism to undermine the sacred rights of the people. Down with the revolution from above." The Vorwaerts adds that the centenary celebrations are to be made the occasion for a fresh persecution of socialism, the liberty of the press and the election franchise. In another issue the Vorwaerts furnishes historical proof in William I's own letters, that William I was the tool of Bismarck and Von Moltke instead of being his, and says: "He was the pushed one and not the pusher."

The correspondent of the Associated Press learns that the Emperor is fully determined to act up to his words and up-root socialism. Unfortunately, government circles is divided as to how the aim can be accomplished. The Imperial Chancellor, Prince Hohenlohe is backed up by Dr. von Bosttliche, minister of the interior, Freiherr von Marschall von Bieberstein, minister for foreign affairs, against attempting special anti-social legislation in the reichstag or to restrict the present liberty of the press or the election franchise. On the other hand the Prussian minister reef the interior, Freiherr von Der Recke, von Der Horst and Dr. Miquel, the minister of finance, support the Emperor in his conviction that repressive measures of utmost severity are needed to neutralize the socialist agitation. Prince Hohenlohe's views are reflected by the Cologne Gazette, which urges that the existing means will suffice to keep socialism under. The leading Liberal newspapers express themselves similarly.

Prince Bismarck, however, in the Hamburger Nachrichten, recommends new anti-social laws, and says: "If the present cabinet is too limited to undertake to carry out the imperial will, it ought to be replaced by more courageous men." The Prussian minister for the interior has resolved to take one step against socialism. He intends to dismiss from office any university professor, or state school officer or teacher persistently advocating socialistic measures or views. This was decided upon at the cabinet council held on Wednesday, at which the Emperor was present. Professor Adolf Wagner, of the Berlin university, with a score of other professors, are thereby threatened.

COURT DECISIONS.

Circuit Judge A. W. Carter today announced his decision in the case of Julia Colburn and others against A. N. Kepoikai and others. The matter was referred back to the commissioner to execute the order of sale and to make an accounting for the rents and profits of the land.

Judge Carter also gave a decision in the case of J. A. Magoon, administrator of the estate of Chung Lung, deceased, against S. Ah Mi, and found a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $2,109.26, with the legal rate of interest from May, 1896. The business relations between Chung Lung and Ah Mi arose out of the opium license issued to the former in January, 1887. Ah Mi was appointed agent of the license for the island of Maui. Kinney & Ballou for plaintiff; Thurston & Stanley, for defendant.

ENTERTAIN AT MOANALUA.

Farewell to Captain and Officers of the Alert.

The Minister of Finance and Mrs. Damon gave a chowder party at their country residence, Moanalua, on Saturday. The occasion was a farewell to the captain and officers of the U. S. S. Alert. The numerous guests left town by special train at 3:10 p. m. On arriving at Moanalua they were received by Mr., Mrs. and Miss May Damon. The party, soon spread about the extensive grounds, admiring the many effective bits of landscape gardening which have added to the natural beauties of the place. The realization of old Hawaiian life in the grass house attracted many. This is really unique on the islands and, bar fire, will last as an example when every grass house on the islands, has passed away. The magnificent bath, built of massive lava work, the bottom covered with porcelain tiles and filled with five feet of clear artesian water reminded one of the "frigidarium" in one of the baths at Rome. Refreshments were served at 4:30 and ample justice was done to the celebrated chowder. Then there was more wandering around, but chiefly groups sat on the lawns, chatted and watched the evening lights, everchanging, and fading from delicate pinks to pearly greys upon the picturesque mountains and deep, mysterious valleys of the Koolau range. The party returned to town at 6:30. Among those present were:

Captain and officers of U. S. S. Alert, Mons. Vossion, Capt. Haven, Consul and Mrs. Mills, Mons. Vizzavona, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Schaefer, Mr. T. R. Walker, Mrs. Shimamura, Mrs. Henry Cooper, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. De Day, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Carter, Miss Gay, Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Birnie, Col. and Mrs. W. F. Allen, Dr. and Mrs. McGrew, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Swany, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. Rice, Mrs. Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Atherton, Mrs. Gilman, Mrs. Neumann, Mrs. Widdfield, Dr. and Mrs. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Dillingham, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Macfarlane, Mrs. Stockbridge and others.

Her Calla Lily.

A Buffalo woman went to California to spend a winter. She is a great lover of flowers. She has her yard full of them in the summer and her house full of them in the winter. Her particular pride is a big calla. When she was making up her list of things to take to California, she included the lovely blossoms it would surely have this winter. By the time I got into California I was sick and tired of it and nervous and worried and all that. But I remembered the comfort the blossoms would be to me when they came. When I got up on the morning of the last day, I looked out of the car window, and may I never see Buffalo again if the train wasn't running through a field of callas so big that I couldn't see its limits. I just sat down and had a good cry. To think that an ordinary sensible woman should cart a 20 pound pot and lily 3,000 miles just because she wanted to see it in blossoms, and then find millions of the same lilies growing wild in the fields. It was enough to make an angel weep. Then I took the calla and threw it out of the car window.—Buffalo Express.

HOW TO CURE RHEUMATISM. Araga, Coos County, Oregon, Nov. 10, 1893.—I wish to inform you of the great good Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done my wife. She has been troubled with rheumatism of the arms and hands for six months, and has tried many remedies prescribed for that complaint, but found no relief until she used this Pain Balm, one bottle of which completely cured her. I take pleasure in recommending it for that trouble. Yours truly, C. A. Bulford. 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by all druggists and dealers, Benson, Smith & Co. agents for the Hawaiian Islands.
