COMMENCE MURDER TRIAL

KINNEY MAKES THE STATEMENT FOR PROSECUTION.

What the Government Intend to Prove by Their Witnesses—A Heavy Indictment—Defense Asks Time.

When Attorney William A. Kinney concluded the presentation of the government's case to the jury in the Kinney murder cases this morning, Attorney Robertson, leading counsel for the defense, was obliged to request Judge Perry for time in which to make an answer.

Attorney Robertson informed the court that as he had been denied access to the witnesses held in custody by the prosecution, he had been entirely in the dark as to what the prosecution intended to prove. A recess was taken until 2 o'clock this afternoon, when the defense promised to be ready with an answer.

Mr. Kinney, in his remarks to the jury, stated that the prosecution would show that Dr. Smith, on the Monday previous to his assassination, examined Paupau, Kai's mistress, and her 13 year old daughter, Pua, for leprosy. He had them arrested to be taken before the Honolulu Board of Doctors for examination, and then arranged that they were to go as passengers not under arrest.

The prosecution will also show that after the killing of Dr. Smith the officers suspected the Kaios, and upon going to the house found all there, including Rathburn and Upapa. On the following day the house of Dr. Smith was thronged with sympathizers and curiosity seekers and among them were the defendants, Rathburn, Upapa and Kai went in and viewed the body, showing much feeling, but Kapea did not go in. He was there and wanted to go in, but the officers kept the crowd out and he went home. Upapa and Rathburn denounced the guilty parties in the presence of the family and wondered who they were.

Mr. Kinney stated that the prisoner, Rathburn, had told the police that although he did not know who did it he suspected Kai's house, and that he had told Josepa to keep his mouth shut. This Mr. Kinney stated, enabled him to narrow the circle around Kai and his family. He told of Johnny Kai's statement regarding his brother's being out of the house on Friday night, and later Josepa's confession, Josepa stated that he and Kapea went out on Tuesday, Kapea taking a hat-out to use on the doctor if it became necessary. The next night the cane field was set on fire and the boys lay in wait for the doctor along the road.

Twice disappointed they went to the Smith premises and watched for an opportunity. On Friday night they were successful, Kapea doing the killing, while he held the horses.

Mr. Kinney also told about Kapea taking an officer to where the pistols were hidden. Kai, so the government prosecutor said, stated that the boys did the killing against his wish, but it was intended to prove that Kai advised and steered the matter. That Josepa at first attempted to shield his father, but later admitted his guilt. The prosecution will make a strong attack upon Kai. Kapea, his son, was engaged to marry Pua, the 13 year old daughter of Paupau, Kai's mistress, and Kai did not want them to be taken away.

Mr. Kinney says that it will be shown that Kapea killed Dr. Smith of his own free will for the love of Pua. His brother aided him.

Rathburn and Upapa, it is intended to prove, knew of the plans, and that the latter was at Kai's home on Sunday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and on the night of the murder. However, Upapa's connection is very much lighter than Kai's.

Rathburn was at the house on Friday night and he knew that the boys were going after the doctor that night. He also knew of the previous attempts made. That he was asked to help, declining because he was sick.

He had shielded the perpetrators. In closing Mr. Kinney said: "The two state's evidence men are as guilty as the others, and their evidence should be accepted in that light. The jury shall know how the truth was exposed."

Miss Juliette Smith will be the first witness to be examined.

FRAWLEYS HERE TOMORROW

THE ALAMEDA WILL BE GLADLY WELCOMED.

Elite of the City Will See "Christopher, Jr."—William Lewers, an Island Boy, Will Appear.

Not since the Frawleys were here last year will such a brilliant audience fill Honolulu's magnificent opera house as is expected tomorrow evening, when the company makes its formal appearance. Every seat in the house will be occupied and the event promises to be one long to be remembered by Honolulu theater goers.

William Lewers, son of Robert Lewers, one of Honolulu's most respected pioneers, will make his initial bow to a Honolulu audience tomorrow evening in a company of professionals. The part assigned to Mr. Lewers in

WILL LEWERS, Who Will Make His Professional Bow To-Morrow Night.

"Christopher, Jr.," does not amount to much, it being simply a valet to the impetuous Christopher, but in several of the plays that are to follow Mr. Lewers has a chance to show his worth. In "Shenandoah," the bill for Saturday night, he is cast for a very good part, and does it well.

"Christopher, Jr.," the opening bill, was written by Madeline Lucette Ryley. It is by long odds the best comedy Miss Ryley has written. It is abundant in ingenious situations and brisk dialogue, and to that fact may be ascribed the success it has secured in the hands of the Frawley company.

Mr. Worthing and Miss Bates almost monopolize and fairly divide the telling lines and business of the play, and some of the scenes compel Mr. Worthing to abandon the quiet method that fits him so well and to become almost acrobatic in his work.

Worthing is essentially a serene and polite actor. He achieves dignity without reaching any great depth of feeling. He is correct in deportment, as he is in dress, and is qualified more than for anything else to delineate roles representative of amiable men, who have been too well bred to exhibit emotion even in situations of extraordinary intensity.

Miss Bates played many parts in Honolulu last year with both charm and power. Her performances are invariably suffused with intelligence and sincerity, and her winsome manner and appearance are well worthy of stellar prominence. She is a better actress today than she was a year ago, and next season she will be still better. Her artistic advancement has been remarkable, and reflects very favorably upon the educational advantages to be derived from membership in the Frawley company.

HILO'S WHARF PROGRESSING.
The Hilu wharf has made some progress during the past week, notwithstanding that period has been one of storm and turbulent waters. There are something like twenty-six men at work, gathering stone, placing them into position, mixing cement, sacking it and sinking it into place. From now on the work will be more rapid and timbering will be started. It was found necessary to run out a false jetty to smooth water to expedite work. This will not be lost, for it will materially calm the water across the face of the wharf. The work so far seems to be receiving every care to insure permanency, and looks as if it would stand for ages.

NEW OFFICE BUILDINGS

TWO BRICK STRUCTURES NOW ON PAPER.

A Third One in Prospect—Some Handsome Residences—J. A. Hopper to Build—Construction Notes.

There is ample evidence that the solid business men have faith in the future prosperity of Hawaii, with or without annexation, in the fact that they are putting up substantial business blocks. During the past ten days plans for two new brick office buildings have been ordered, to say nothing of a third in prospect, and a half dozen fine residences, some of which are already on paper.

One of the buildings now on paper is a two-story brick affair to be erected on the Campbell property on King street, opposite Wall. Nichols Co.'s

FAILED TO GET OFF TODAY

HAWAIIAN DELEGATES DELAYED UNTIL FRIDAY.

Kaula, Kaluaokalani and Richardson Sail by the Gaelic—Will Commence Work on Senator Pettigrew.

The Australia will not take away the Hawaiian delegates who go to Washington to oppose annexation. James K. Kaula, president of the Aloha Aina Society, and D. Kaluaokalani, president of the Kalai Aina Society, have been chosen to represent Oahu.

They, in company with Col. John Richardson, of the Maui delegation, will leave on the Gaelic Friday morning. They hope to reach Washington about December 1st. Robert W. Wilcox and A. Marques, remaining delegates from Maui, will follow by the next boat if funds can be raised. Mr. Marques has practically decided to go and Mr. Wilcox has intimation that the government will offer no interference. They will not reach the national capital until after Congress has convened.

There was a large meeting of delegates from the Aloha and Kalai Aina societies and the Hawaiian Women's Patriotic League in the Emma street hall this morning.

It was found that $1000 had been collected in Honolulu and Oahu for the commission. This gives each delegate $1500. The committee delegated to solicit funds of James Campbell, S. C. Allen, H. E. Melville, J. O. Carter, and other prominent Royalists, report a thousand dollars in sight. They hope to get it tomorrow.

But $200 has been raised for the three Maui delegates. Their expenses will be at least $5000, and it may be that Wilcox and Marques will not go.

Col. Parker, who is as well posted on Hawaiian matters as the next man, and who is an avowed annexationist, because he believes it to be to the best interests of Hawaii and all its people, says that the delegates can do but little in Washington. Congress, he says, will have about convened when they arrive. The delegates certainly have nothing new to offer.

A strong address to Senator Pettigrew, favoring the annexation of Hawaii to the United States, has been agreed upon by the American League and will be presented to the Dakota statesman tomorrow afternoon.

THANKSGIVING ON HAWAII.
