MAUNA LOA IN ERUPTION

BREAKS OUT THE MORNING OF JULY FOURTH.

Madame Pele Celebrates With a Grand Display of Volcanic Fire—Two Big Lava Streams.

Mauna Loa is in eruption. Two big streams of lava are flowing from the summit crater, one on the Kau side and one on the Hilo side. The flow toward Kau is by far the larger and parties have approached it and shot its extent. Not as much is known of the stream flowing on the Hilo side.

The outbreak occurred early on the morning of July 4. The news was brought by the W. G. Hall which arrived this morning. Captain Simerson gave this account of it: "We were working all night at Punaluu Monday night loading sugar. Suddenly just after 3 o'clock, 4th of July morning, the whole sky seemed to light up suddenly. The light seemed to come from the northwest of us and looking in that direction, we saw two great cones of light shining up almost from the summit of Mauna Loa. The light increased rapidly till the whole heavens were ablaze with the reflection. It became so light that we did not need our lights on deck on the steamer. It was the most magnificent sight I ever saw."

Purser Tuft fixes the time at which the outbreak occurred as about a quarter after 3 o'clock. "The light," he says, "seemed to come from behind a summit. It shot upward to the zenith, effacing the stars and the heavens themselves, and in a few moments the light of the illumination and the grandeur of it, of course made us all wildly excited. We tried to call up the Volcano House by telephone but were unsuccessful at that time. There were two distinct streams of upward light, corresponding with the two streams of lava we afterwards found out had broken forth."

"We afterwards got into communication with a party who were near the Volcano House at the time of the outbreak and who went on up the mountain towards the lava flow. In this party was Mr. Paty. He said the lava flow on the Kau side was a most magnificent one, large and rapid in its course. He calculated that by next Sunday it would reach the Government road leading from Punaluu to the Volcano House and it would strike the road somewhere between the Halfway House and the Volcano House. Of the stream on the Hilo side he had not been able to learn as much, but it seemed to be much smaller than the other."

"We had the grand illumination of the heavens with us every night until it faded away with the dawn this morning, this side of Molokai. I should not be surprised if it could be seen at night from the top of Diamond Head if there are no clouds between to shut it off."

"At Lahaina it was clearly visible and even the two shafts of light could be distinguished. There was a slight earthquake in Kau the day before the volcano burst forth. The people all over Hawaii are very much excited over the outbreak, as is not surprising."

People at the Volcano House were preparing to go as near the scene of the lava flow as possible, when the W. G. Hall left the last Hawaii port. The news of the outbreak rapidly spread on the arrival of the W. G. Hall and the greatest interest was manifested in it. While there have been signs of seismic disturbance on Hawaii for some time which have been reported here by the officers of the steamers touching at Hawaiian ports, the news that the volcano had actually broken out came almost with the surprise of the unexpected. That the outbreak should be from the summit of Mauna Loa instead of at Kilauea, added to the interest and surprise in the phenomenon. It is an interesting circumstance that this outbreak should occur early in the morning of the first 4th of July under the American flag. It is as if Madame Pele had become the best American of us all and was determined to outdo (Continued on page five)

A YOUNG WOMAN SUICIDES

DRINKS DEADLY POISON EARLY THIS MORNING.

Tragic Ending to a Night of Driving and Champagne—Mrs. Almy, Resident of Young Street.

A coroner's jury is this afternoon investigating the cause of death of a woman named in the summons Mrs. Edith Almy. She died about 2 o'clock this morning in a house on Young street drinking part of a bottle of lysoal, a poison akin in its effects to carbolic acid or croton.

Deputy Marshal Chillingworth has the case in hand, and with him is a jury composed of the following: W. B. Nott, A. S. Prescott, L. F. Prescott, William Love, A. Feyer and Frank May. The investigation is behind closed doors, though the testimony will be made public when a verdict is reached.

Almy, who claims to be the husband of the woman, is manager of the Washington Light Company, with offices in the Masonic Temple. He stated this morning that he was married to deceased about a year ago in San Francisco, and that he has since kept her supplied with money, sending it to an address on Ellis street. Also, that the woman came to the islands a few weeks ago on a sailing vessel.

Almy was deeply under the influence of liquor most of the early morning. When the coroner's jury visited the premises at 8 o'clock, he was lying on the cot beside the corpse fast asleep. He bore every evidence of having spent a rather tumultuous night.

His story told to Deputy Marshal Chillingworth, would indicate that he and the woman had been drinking considerable. They met at Davey's window early and took a hook home. Later they culled the same vehicle and went out for a drive. This ride was kept up until quite late, finally bringing the couple to a resort in Punchbowl street not far from the hospital, where champagne was opened.

The couple arrived at the home on Young street shortly after 1 o'clock. After visiting several of the rooms, Mrs. Almy came out of the dining hall and complained of being ill. Her symptoms grew rapidly worse and Almy finally rang up Dr. Miner. The physician arrived at 2 o'clock to find the woman dead.

In looking around the house, Dr. Miner came across the deadly drug and the glass from which it had been taken. These things were later turned over to the coroner.

The suicide has been town talk all day. Seldom has so much interest been manifested in a case of the kind. The woman was quite young. Her age is given as twenty-five, and she does not appear to be over that.

SHIP PAYS DAMAGES.

Argentine Cruiser Puts up for Broken Plate Glass.

A sailor of the Argentine training ship now in port threw a brick into the window of Henry Waterhouse's office yesterday afternoon and smashed the fine plate glass. Another missile had just been hurled at a Chinaman. When pursued the sailor drew a knife. He was later overpowered by Sam Mahuku and Officer McEady and arrested.

It will take $100 to replace the glass. This morning the captain of the vessel sent word over that the ship would pay the damage if the man were sent aboard. Senator Waterhouse consented to this. The program was carried out and the charge of malicious injury against the sailor was dismissed in the court.

The sailor was quite drunk at the time and thought Waterhouse's office was a Chilean fort.

The officers of the Argentine war ship now here felt deeply aggrieved at the conduct of one of their men in throwing a brick through Senator Waterhouse's window yesterday. They have paid all damage and expressed their regrets to the Queen street broker.

HIGHLY APPRECIATED.

A good number enjoyed themselves at the Orpheum last night. The opening sketch is full of local hits which was highly appreciated by the audience. The songs and dances were good as usual and each one seemed to be a favorite, by the applause extended. The same program for tonight with matinee tomorrow at 2 o'clock. Tomorrow night another change of program.

MAKES ONE'S MOUTH WATER.

The popularity of "Apolinaris" seems to have no limits. One reads that it is obtainable in practically all parts of the world, and in New York, as in England, no social function is without "The Queen of Table Waters." The menus of the Assembly hall given at the Waldorf-Astoria, Metropolitan Club dance given at Sherry's, as well as those of the Vanderbilt and the Astor balls, all of which took place recently, bear witness to the pre-eminence of Apolinaris.

PLAGUE IN SAN FRANCISCO

NIPPON MARU HELD THERE IN QUARANTINE.

Japanese Woman Dies After the Vessels Leaves Here—Two Sailors Try to Escape and Drown.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—The Toyo Kisen Kaisha's Nippon Maru arrived yesterday morning carrying the germs of the dread bubonic plague. The steamer was ordered into quarantine at once, and although she will be released after being thoroughly fumigated, passengers and officers will be held on Angel Island for from one to two weeks.

The efforts of the quarantine officers at Nagasaki and Honolulu and the utmost watchfulness on the part of the ship's surgeon and officers failed to stamp out the plague, and two days before the steamship reached this port one of the passengers, a Japanese woman, succumbed to the loathsome disease and was buried at sea.

Ever since the Nippon Maru left Hongkong, May 21st, the officers of the ship have been fighting the plague, which developed among the steerage passengers almost at the beginning of the voyage.

One Japanese passenger, a woman, who had taken passage to Honolulu, was not allowed to land there. She was ill and the Honolulu doctors her illness showed suspicious signs of developing into the disease they were trying to keep out of the island port. They refused to allow her transfer to the City of Columbia on the grounds that her condition was such that the exertion of the removal would probably be followed by fatal results, and that so long as she remained quiet, there was some chance for her recovery. Dr. Day, the port physician said, if they moved her they would lay themselves open to a charge of criminal negligence in the event of her death.

This woman continued to grow worse and the signs of the plague became more manifest day by day. She died on June 25th and her body was at once thrown over the side.

When the Nippon Maru arrived here early yesterday morning, flying the yellow flag, she proceeded directly to an anchorage off the quarantine station, where Surgeons Kenyon, Kerr and Mathiason of the Federal Quarantine Service boarded her. The passengers were all mustered and carefully examined. So far there are no more signs of sickness on board.

Ship's Surgeon Deas related the history of the illness and death of the Japanese passengers, and Dr. Kenyon decided to enforce the strictest quarantine. All the passengers, cabin as well as steerage, and all the officers and crew were taken ashore, where they will remain in antiseptic imprisonment for at least seven days, and, possibly, fourteen.

The Maru will be taken to the fumigating bulk off San Quentin, where disinfectants will be forced into every nook and cranny. She will probably be released on Thursday, and her agents here will be allowed to take her cargo and take on the freight there awaiting her. Long before the officers and crew are at liberty to return to duty the Maru will be ready for a return voyage across the Pacific.

The passengers, cabin and steerage alike, will be compelled to submit their belongings to the same heroic course of treatment as did the sailors and soldiers on the transports Grant and Sheridan.

The appearance of the fumigated clothes of these unfortunates is still fresh in the memory of San Franciscans. Their garments were shrunken and shriveled, their shoes in most cases completely ruined and all the silks and other Japanese souvenirs brought home for friends in this country, spoiled beyond repair.

Among the Maru's passengers are a number of British tourists to whom the destruction of their English made garments will be quite a serious matter.

One of the passengers on the Maru is Sir James Westland, who has for many years been Minister of Finance in India and is now on his way back to England. Earl H. Webb, the company's attorney, is also one of the quarantined travelers.

The northerly end of Baker street was thrown into a scene of wild excitement this afternoon, when two fishermen rowed their boat to the end of the plant of the Fulton Iron Works, towing at the stern the bodies of two of the Japanese sailors on the steamer Nippon Maru.

The sailors were evidently afraid of bubonic plague, and decided to leave the ship as soon as she reached this port. The fact that two of the sailors had jumped overboard was not reported to Dr. Kenyon, the United States quarantine officer, probably because he might keep the ship in quarantine for a much longer period. If the sailors became frightened, what must be the state of the minds of the passengers?

The bodies of the Japanese were found floating near Fort Point by Joseph Costerina, a boy fisherman, and his partner. The two bodies were found floating together.

The fishermen as soon as they saw the uniform of the sailors were afraid that they were victims of the bubonic plague, which is said to exist on the steamer Nippon, and would not take the bodies into their boat. They towed the bodies to within a few feet of (Continued on Page Seven.)

LIQUOR LICENSE GRANTED

PEACOCK TO HAVE ONE FOR HIS BEACH HOTEL.

Must Sell Only to Guests and Their Friends—Bank Charter Granted. Woman's Exchange Incorporated.

At the Cabinet meeting this morning W. C. Peacock was granted a full license to sell liquor in his proposed new Moana hotel, Waikiki, with the following restrictions only:

That no liquor be sold over a bar, whether said bar be open or closed.

That no person except guests and their friends shall be served with liquors.

The latter condition was proposed by the applicant for the license and is of course satisfactory. It is understood that the other condition is also satisfactory and that the hotel will now go ahead without interruption.

The charter of the First National Bank was approved and signed by President Dole and the Minister of the Interior.

The charter of the Woman's Exchange was approved. This concern will incorporate at once.

The commissions of Professor Alexander and Dr. Walter Maxwell as members of the board of Commissions of Education were renewed.

The latter half of the meeting was devoted to discussion of the subject of new cemetery and cremation.

TRANS-PORT VALENCIA.

Arrived Last Night—The Pennsylvania Expected Tomorrow.

The transport Valencia arrived last night from San Francisco having sailed thence June 23. She carries two troops of the Fourth cavalry and two companies of the Twenty-fifth infantry, and the following officers: Major Morton, in command; Captain Erwin, adjutant; Captain Parker, Captain Lockwood, Lieutenant Harris, Second Lieutenant Bonifacio, Second Lieutenant Dudley, of the Fourth cavalry and First Lieutenant Caldwell, Second Lieutenant Powers, Second Lieutenant Parker and Chaplain Miller of the Twenty-fifth infantry, and in addition, First Lieutenant B. S. Higley, Jr., assistant surgeon; Acting Assistant Surgeon M. L. Hedinger, Hospital Steward Paul L. Whitmarsh and James P. Wall, Charles W. Klemp and Thomas Phillips of the Hospital corps for duty with the Fourth cavalry, and Acting Hospital Steward Oscar R. Gayle and Walter B. Pike for duty with the Twenty-fifth infantry.

There are all 443 officers and men. The two companies of infantry are colored troops who saw service in Cuba. The Fourth cavalry regimental band of twenty-eight pieces is aboard. J. Littleton is the leader. If their horses are available they are here they will give a parade and concert mounted. The band will play at the Hawaiian hotel at 7:30 o'clock this evening. This is the fourth trip of the Valencia as a transport. Her first trip was made almost exactly a year ago. Captain M. Lane still commands her. Other officers are Chief Officer Turner, Second Officer Dolliver, Chief Engineer Pearson, Purser W. B. Fielding, Chief Steward M. Houston and Second Steward R. Campion.

The Valencia expect now to sail for Manila Monday morning.

The troops were nearly all ashore this morning, first in organization without arms, for exercise and later on liberty.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—The freight steamer Wyfield will leave the latter part of the week with 140 horses. She will go direct, without resting the animals at Honolulu. If they show no signs of fatigue, the Conemaugh will take 250 horses the early part of next week; the Tacoma, which is expected immediately, and the Sealaw, which is due the middle of July, will take the remaining horses of the regiment.

The Pennsylvania was to sail June 30.

PLACE OF WADE'S TRIAL

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—The United States Grand Jury was called to the Appraisers' building this morning to hear evidence in the case of George Wade, ex-waiter on the steamer Australia, who is charged with shooting to death William Gillespie, cook on the steamer, just after the vessel left the harbor of Honolulu on the 10th of last month.

As the murder was committed on an American vessel on the high seas, United States District Attorney General Connors decided that it was a case for the United States courts. This morning he summoned Chief Officer Lawless and Purser Thomas McCombe of the steamer to testify before the jury. The statements of these officers were enough to warrant the jury in bringing in an indictment. A warrant will be requested of the State Department at Washington, and Wade will be brought to this city within six weeks.

STYLISH AND BEAUTIFUL. This is what L. B. Kerr's customers say of the new goods he received by the last steamer, direct from Europe. But the best inducements to buyers is the extreme low prices he has put on them.

A SOUVENIR. The Hawaiian ukulele makes the best souvenir; it is made of beautiful native koa wood, finely polished. Those on sale at the Bergstrom Music Company, Fort street, are of fine tone and finish.

BUYING TO ADVANTAGE. L. B. Kerr buys in such large quantities for cash, that he can sell at extreme low prices, and with profit to himself also. Millinery goods of all kinds are very low in price, at his Queen street store.

MESENTER SERVICE. The Honolulu Messenger Service delivers messages and packages. Telephone 278. Fine Job Printing, Star Office.

FRANK GRACE HEARD FROM

WRITES FROM RAMPART CITY APRIL 4.

William Miller of Honolulu, Dear—Bill Eassie and Gus Mauer on Their Way Home—Incidents.

Letters were received by this morning's mail from Frank Grace, dated Rampart City, Alaska. One written on April 6th to Charles F. Murray, has this to say:

"Your most welcome letter of September 23d last came to hand two days ago, and I was delighted to hear from you once more. This was the first mail we had received since the river froze up last fall, so you see we have not the best connection with the outside world.

"Things are pretty much on the bum just at present, but expect a lively camp here this summer. Some of the creeks are turning out well. Pay has been found on Hoosier creek, on which I have a claim. My claim may be rich for all I know; hope it is."

"Have moved to town and am waiting for the river to open, which will be about the middle of May."

"Sorry to hear the Myrtles are not in it any more, but every dog has his day and the Myrtles have had theirs. Congratulations to the Healy boys for my present, will claim some victims; also the fever, which comes in the summer."

"William Eassie, of Kaula, and Gus Mauer, formerly of the Hawaiian hotel barber shop, expect to leave by the first steamer for the Islands."

HAY WODEHOUSE.

Opium Case Goes Over to Next Monday Morning.

Hay Wodehouse was arraigned in the police court this morning on the charge of having opium in possession. At his request the case went over to next Monday morning.

Mr. Wodehouse went to the station house about 5:30 yesterday afternoon and reported to Marshal Brown, stating he had heard a warrant was out for him. He had been unwell during the day and had been at the home of a friend. After a long conference Mr. Wodehouse left on his own recognizance to report this morning.

Deputy Marshal Chillingworth continued the search last night for more opium but found none. It was nearly 2 o'clock this morning when the search was given over.

RECOMMENDED FOR CHOLERA MORBUS.

"During the hot weather last summer I had a severe attack of cholera morbus, necessitating my leaving my business," says Mr. C. A. Hare, of Hare Brothers, Pincas, Ohio. "After taking two or three doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, I was completely relieved and in a few hours was able to resume my work in my store. I sincerely recommend it to any one afflicted with stomach or bowel trouble." For sale by all dealers and druggists. Benson, Smith & Company, general agents, Hawaiian Islands.

MORE OF THEM USED.

There are probably more Singer sewing machines used in the United States than of any other one make. This is a very excellent guarantee that they are one of the very best machines. The points of merit are strength, durability, easy running and simple construction. Very little mechanism to get out of order makes repair bills small. When in need of a new sewing machine examine the Singer before purchasing any other make. B. Bergeron, agent, Bethel street.
