

A CASE OF SUNSTROKE

THE FIRST ONE ON RECORD IN HONOLULU.

A. F. Clark Narrowly Escapes Death From the Effects of Heat—A Former Case on the Island.

A. F. Clark of Huestace and Company is recovering from an attack of sunstroke, said to be the first on record in Honolulu and the second on this island. He was stricken on Saturday, the 15th, which was one of the hottest days of the year. On that day the maximum midday temperature was 85 and the humidity was 84 per cent. The latter is below the average, though higher than some other recent days. On the record day when the temperature was 85, the humidity was 66 per cent and last Saturday with a temperature of 84 it was as high as 62 per cent.

Clark was attended by Dr. Wood, who pronounced the case one of sunstroke. The patient had a narrow escape with his life. When the doctor was called in the evening after Clark had passed through a day of suffering his temperature was 102 1/2 and his pulse was very high. His recovery was only due to careful attention and a strong constitution. Mrs. Clark is a trained nurse and was able to greatly assist the doctor.

Clark recently recovered from an attack of pneumonia and had not entirely regained his strength and this fact is mentioned above. Mr. Goettinger avers that though often requested to do so, the defendant has since failed to pay any part of the principal or interest. Kinney, Bailou & McClanahan have asked the court to appoint Samuel Rosheim a notary public at San Francisco to take the testimony of M. A. Itoehild, Morris Feintuch and George Goettinger in the matter.

In the Hogan case in Circuit court, Robertson & Wilder, attorneys for the Canadian-Australian Steamship Company, have moved for a ruling on whether or not the local courts can consider the bill, an identical complaint having been filed and being now under consideration before a court in San Francisco, the business home of the firm.

J. O. Carter has filed a certificate in court that he has examined the books of Cecil Brown and finds that the income of James Campbell for the year ending January 1, 1900, was $96,902.24. In the matter of C. F. Jenne vs. Campbell & Pettus, assumpsit, defendants have moved for a ruling on whether or not the local courts can consider the bill, an identical complaint having been filed and being now under consideration before a court in San Francisco, the business home of the firm.

WILL REBUILT.

Mr. Vierra, owner of the old Louvre saloon on Nuuanu street, intends putting up a brick building there as soon as possible. For the present the government is not permitting any houses in the burned district. The Vierra building will be one story only, but will be a very neat structure.

SPORTS FOR THE FOURTH.

At the meeting to be held at noon tomorrow the committee on sports will report on yachting events for July 4, and prizes to be given. Indications are that the regatta will be a success. There may be a long list of sporting events, both aquatic and field, with numerous prizes. Yachtsmen will hold another meeting tomorrow evening, at which details concerning entries, etc., will be arranged.

BOGGS & HAERWARD.

Boggs & Haerward, a team of actors, well known locally, are having a successful season at the Chutes in San Francisco.

"CAPTAIN LETTABLAIR."

First Production in Honolulu of Marguerite Merington's Success. At the Opera House this evening, the Neill company will present for the first time in this city, the four-act comedy, "Captain Lettablair," by Marguerite Merington. This play was originally produced by E. H. Sothorn and ranks as one of his most successful productions. The story of the play is extremely interesting and contains a well defined plot, a charming love story and a great deal of clever comedy. It is one of those plays peculiarly adapted to the Neill company, and in it the organization will be seen at its best; the scenic embellishments, as in all the Neill productions, will be elaborate and appropriate.

SAN FRANCISCO MAN WANTS $2,652.82 OUT OF HIM.

Proceedings Begun to Recover on a Big Note—Bishop & Co. and Orpheum Garnisheed—Other Matters.

George Goettinger of San Francisco, has, by his attorneys, Kinney, Bailou & McClanahan and George A. Davis, entered suit against J. C. Cohen, manager of the Orpheum in this city, for the recovery of the sum of $2,652.82 and interest, alleged to be due on a promissory note given at San Francisco on June 30, 1898, to Wertheimer & Co., and assigned by that concern to the plaintiff, Bishop & Co., and the Orpheum Company are named as garnishees, and are required to hold any property in their hands belonging to the defendant.

Following is a copy of the note in question: "San Francisco, California, June 30th, A. D. 1898. $2,652.82. 'One day after date, without grace, I promise to pay to the order of the Wertheimer Company $2,652.82 for value received, with interest at 7 per cent per annum from date until paid, both principal and interest payable in United States gold coin."

Endorsed on the note are two small credits and an assignment to the plaintiff mentioned above. Mr. Goettinger avers that though often requested to do so, the defendant has since failed to pay any part of the principal or interest. Kinney, Bailou & McClanahan have asked the court to appoint Samuel Rosheim a notary public at San Francisco to take the testimony of M. A. WARNING TO TRESPASSERS

ROONEY'S ASSAULT AND BATTERY CASES FAIL.

His Face Beaten to a Jelly and His Body Kicked, But He Ought Not to Have Trespasped.

Frank Rooney was a trespasser when he had his face beaten to a jelly and was kicked over the arms and shoulders last Wednesday night, and therefore his action for assault and battery could not be upheld. This was the decision given this morning by Judge Wilcox.

In the case of Rooney against Miller and Hoppe, which has occupied more or less of the court's time for the past three days, Rooney swore that the two defendants were the men who beat him till he looked as if he was an unpopular shipping master, but the judge dismissed both defendants, saying that Rooney had no right to be where he was at the time of the beating.

Rooney told his story this morning in the Hoppe case. He swore that he had made a call at the Miller place at about half past eleven last Wednesday night and had been asked in, only to receive a straight-razor blow in the stomach from Hoppe, when he stepped through the door. He knocked Hoppe down and had him fast when Miller came and after that there was a shower of blows that fearfully bruised Rooney's face. The distorted visage was not much improved even this morning, though it was somewhat smaller than when it first appeared in the court room last Friday. There was a long list of witnesses, who swore to widely different stories. At the end the judge said that Rooney had no right to be making calls at a private residence at midnight, and was guilty of trespassing, he couldn't complain if he was done up. "The defendants had a right to use all the force necessary to eject him from the premises, as I do not think from the testimony that he was invited in," said the judge.

PLANTATION MANAGERS DECIDE TO ACT.

Japanese Strikers Must Go to Work, or Make Room for Laborers Who Will—End of Soft Words.

High Sheriff Brown and Interpreter Chester Dayle leave this afternoon on the steamer Cladine for Spreckelsville, to take part in the trials of the Japanese who assaulted some policemen. The Japs who are to be tried made an attack upon a census taker and then attacked some officers who went to the rescue. The case is regarded as an important one as giving the Japs an opportunity to learn that they must show more respect for the authority of the officers.

A delegation of Japanese laborers came over from Maui by the last steamer representing principally the laborers of Waialuku plantation. They came over to confer with the Japanese consul and with the Immigration companies, regarding the present situation. Consul Saito is away on the Island of Kaula, and it is supposed the delegation is awaiting his return before visiting the Immigration companies, as it has not yet visited the latter.

It is understood that the plantation managers have about decided to temporize no further with the Japanese. They have increased the wages beyond the contract price, paying as high as $17 a month when the contract price is only $15 a month. They have met every demand of the laborers. Contracts have been given back, though that is not necessary, as the law itself terminates the contracts. And still the Japanese will not go to work, or if they do they quit on the slightest provocation, though they still continue to occupy the houses provided by the plantations, and to receive the other benefits which were a part of the contract price for their services.

The determination has been reached by some of the managers, it is said that the thing must end. The Japanese must either go to work or leave the plantations. They will not be allowed to refuse to work themselves and intimidate others who want to work, and generally by their presence demoralize the whole plantation force. Manager Lowrie of Spreckelsville, has fixed a day on which the men must either go to work or quit entirely and make room for those who will work. Other plantation managers have decided to do the same thing.

There have been no strikes at any of the plantations on this Island except at Heeia, which has been settled, but there has been a good deal of unrest. From Ewa, Waialua, Keolu and Honolulu plantations, delegations have been sent to Honolulu to see the Japanese consul and the Immigration companies. These interviews have been satisfactory, and no strikes have occurred.

On Kakaia it is reported that one of the Japanese laborers who considers himself quite an orator, tried to stir up trouble. Fortunately, however, he is without much influence among the laborers, and they decided before acting on his advice to send a delegation to the Japanese consul. The result was that the laborers did not strike.

The representatives of the Immigration companies think that the troubles on Maui will quiet down and settle themselves very soon now. They think that the soberer and more conservative of the laborers understand their rights and will not be led by the demagogues that they see nothing can be gained by striking or causing trouble.

VISITING SCHOOLS.

The Philippine Educator Looks Into Hawaiian Primary Schools.

Superintendent of Public Instruction for the Philippines, F. W. Atkinson, this morning visited a number of the public schools in company with Superintendent of Public Instruction for Hawaii, A. T. Atkinson. The Superintendent of Public Instruction is particularly interested in the Philippines, where the pupils represent a number of different nationalities, and it was to schools of this kind that the first visit was made. Afterwards a visit was made to schools where the children are mostly Chinese, where it undoubtedly is a number of schools of this kind throughout the Philippines.

Later in the morning the visiting superintendent went to the Bishop Museum and was shown through that interesting institution by Prof. Brigham. At noon Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Atkinson were entertained at lunch by Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Atkinson.

The party took a wagonette and visited the Kakaia, Pauoa and Kaula schools. The first two are small institutions. At the latter the visitor found just what he was looking for—a school of various nationalities. There he examined minutely into the details of management and methods of instruction.

When the tour was finished the Philippine superintendent expressed himself as more than pleased and professed by his visit to Honolulu, and the schools here. He requested of the local education authorities copies of the various school forms and pay rolls, the latter to guide him in making up his schedules. All the data required will be supplied him this afternoon.

GRAMP STUFF AT AUCTION

THE FURNISHINGS OF A PALACE SOLD.

Board of Health Provided Fine Goods for its Wards—Parlor Tables and Cow Bells, Chairs and Beds.

Charles F. Schermerhorn, acting for Auctioneer James F. Morgan, yesterday sold all sorts of material from the various detention camps of the Board of Health. This stuff was purchased during the plague epidemic, but a large part of it was never used. The auction took nearly all day, the end not being reached until about 5 o'clock.

As a rule fairly good prices were realized. The list of articles sold included almost everything a man could think of. In fact, just what use there was for some of the plunder it is impossible to guess. For instance there was a big chest of drawers. There were also a couple of tables, and it seems hardly probable that a necessity existed for being any of the unfortunate refugees there.

This was not all. There were several dozen fancy center tables. It was at that time that these were used for afternoon teas and ice cream parties in the camps, but on the best authority it was learned that such was not the case. The tables were very fine, such as any citizen would buy for his reception room, and appeared to have passed over to a New Mexican wool merchant or a Parsee prince. Mattresses, many of them, were of the best, and the sheets and blankets were such as to make the poor Asiatics in the camps dream of marble halls and the like. Bedspreads by the hundreds were sold by the auctioneer at about $3.50 a dozen, and some as low as $1. They could not be duplicated for many times this figure, and the purchase bill for them was evidently quite large.

The quarantined band lived well at the camps. This is self-evident. It is not strange that they did not wish to leave. The Board of Health certainly looked out for them in the best possible way. It is not surprising that some Chinamen are not afraid of the plague; they should and do rather like it.

JOHNNY FLOUCON IS FREE

EIGHT YEAR OLD SCHOOLBOY RELEASED.

Commissioners of Education Promptly Mitigate the Sentence of Judge Waipulani.

Johnny Floucon was set free early this morning and sat in Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth's office waiting for his mother to come and take charge of him. The boy said he had not stolen any books or papers, but that the other boys had, and had given him some of them. His parents have decided to stay in Honolulu for the present. At about ten o'clock the mother took away the youngster who so narrowly escaped a two-year term in the reformatory school.

Johnny Floucon, eight years old, convicted of the awful offense of joining with half a dozen boys of his own age, and in a boyish prank taking papers from the schoolhouse, which had been told not to do, is now free.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Atkinson and the Commissioners of Education acted promptly in the matter when it was brought to their attention. The boy arrived by the Kinahu, as was stated in yesterday's Star. His father and mother, broken hearted, had given up their employment on Pahala plantation and come to Honolulu to live in order to be near the boy. High Sheriff Brown interested himself in the case as soon as he heard the circumstances of it. So did F. A. Schaefer, the Austrian consul, the parents of the boy being Galicians, and subjects of the Austro-Hungarian empire. The mother petitioned the Commissioners of Education to release the boy.

The petition of the mother sets out that the boy is only eight years old, and has always been well behaved. His offense consisted in going into a schoolhouse and taking some papers that did not belong to him. As soon as the mother found out about the matter she caused the papers to be returned and as complete restitution was made as possible. What he did, the petition avers, was more in the nature of a boyish trick than anything else, and was participated in by several other boys, though these were allowed to go free. The petition further avers that the mother and father are perfectly able to take care of the boy, and feel that his future life will be much influenced for the bad by his two years' stay at the reformatory school.

F. A. Schaefer, the Austrian consul, who forwarded the petition, says in his letter regarding the matter: "There is no question in my mind but that in the case the parents are perfectly able to take care of the boy than the reformatory school, and it would be an act of undue severity fraught with dangerous consequences to the future life of a very young boy, to detain him in the reformatory school for further time. Certainly the mother will not live through such a trial, and the boy, who I am assured is not by any means a boy of a bad disposition, would not benefit by a two-year's detention in the reformatory school, but the reverse."

High Sheriff Brown called the attention of the Commissioners of Education to the case in a communication, setting out the facts of the offense, and saying: "The boy's parents were employed on the Pahala plantation, Kau, and state that the boy's previous conduct and behavior has always been good. The parents are very much broken hearted over the matter; in fact, have left the district of Kau and moved to Honolulu, in order to be near the boy."

Upon receiving the petition, the Commissioners of Education immediately sent them around to the Commissioners of Education, and received their approval of the boy's release. Commissioner E. J. Mart-Smith, E. Van G. Hall, A. C. Jordan and J. W. J. Smith signing their approval, and then the following letter to W. G. Needham, superintendent of the reform school, was written:

"In accordance with section 1405 of the penal code, I hereby authorize the discharge of John Floucon, a Galician, aged eight years and six months, who was convicted by Judge Waipulani at Kau, Hawaii, on the first day of June, 1900, for the offense of malicious mischief, and sentenced to two years' detention at the reformatory school."

VISITING MOLOKAI.

Superintendent Reynolds of the Molokai settlement left yesterday for his post. He will remain on the Island about two weeks. The Bishop of Pannopolis also went up to dedicate a new mission chapel there. While at Molokai Mr. Reynolds will arrange for the coming visit of the Board of Health, which will take place some time in July.

SPECIAL AGENT SENT.

Ernest W. Russell leaves by the Claudine this afternoon for Maui to take the census at Spreckelsville, where a failure was made by the native enumerator. It will be remembered that the enumerator was assaulted by Japanese laborers of the plantation, badly beaten and driven from the place. He might have been killed had it not been for the timely arrival of the plantation officials on the scene. Mr. Russell was commissioned by Superintendent Atkinson this afternoon. He was lately on the census in Honolulu, and proved a most trustworthy man.

THE CATS CAME BACK

FROM KAKAOKO TO THE CUSTOM HOUSE.

Storekeeper Kelly's Vain Efforts to Get Rid of Some Felines Ends in a Decision to Keep Them.

Storekeeper Kelly of the custom house has been trying for some time to get rid of a cat and several kittens, but after a last supreme effort he has given it up, and this morning he was buying food for them. Kelly's last attempt was by tying them up in a sack and having them taken to Kakaako, but when he arrived at his office this morning the mother greeted him inside with a plaintive mew and now she is working hard at the task of bringing the rest of the family home.

Kelly's cat is an old timer at the custom house, and no one thought she was a bother till the kittens came. Then it began to be difficult for a tender-hearted man to work in the same room with them. They seemed to be looking for chances to be stepped on. One day last week Kelly came in and found one of them having a fit in the middle of the office. While the while he stepped away from his desk onto something soft and heard a painful scream on the floor. Kelly jumped so quickly that he upset an ink bottle, and then he decided that the cats must go.

The pretty creatures were presented to a native who assists the storekeeper. They were tied up in a sack and carried to the native's home in Kakaako. This was on Saturday afternoon. Sunday and Monday passed and the office of the storekeeper was without cats or kittens to be stepped on. This morning Kelly found the mother rubbing against his legs with her tail in the air, and the native reports one of the kittens gone. The latter is supposed to be on the way. Kelly was mad at first, but later he submitted and rustled up some food for the cat. Kelly thought that if the cats were taken to Kakaako inside a sack, not being able to see their way they would never be able to find their way back.

The next time he wants to get rid of them he will drown them or send them to another island.

SATURDAY'S RACE.

Interest in the match race between Aggravation and Ahuhimani, which will take place at Kapiolani Park track Saturday afternoon, is growing daily. Wagers are apparently even, although the friends of Aggravation appear to be most numerous. This is due in part to the announcement that Nichols will steer that animal. As previously announced, the race will take place at 3 o'clock sharp.

PROTET TO LEAVE.

The French cruiser Protet leaves tomorrow for the Marquesas Islands, to enroll whence she will go to Tahiti. Her officers have enjoyed their stay here, and express the wish that they might remain in Honolulu longer.
