VERY DESTRUCTIVE PEST

TERMITES FROM THE RUIN OF A RESIDENCE.

Small Insects That Hollow Out Wood, Destroying Buildings and Furniture, Came Here From California.

Look out for termites! The men who have been working on the alterations in the Judiciary building have found some of the woodwork almost eaten away by them, and there are whole residences in the city that will have to be actually torn down, on account of the injuries done by the insects. Termites, according to the Standard dictionary, are "a family of pseudoscorpion insects with a depressed ovate body, free head, equal membranaceous deciduous wings and 4-jointed tarsi, including white ants."

An insect with a definition like that ought to be able to do a good deal of damage, and the termites are doing it. Houses in Honolulu that are 25 or 30 years old are found to be in need of new woodwork in many places, and at least one large residence is about to be torn down, because the pestiferous insects have ruined it by boring and hollowing out the wood.
