BOXING MATCH.

To Take Place Saturday Evening at the Orpheum.

On Saturday evening at the Orpheum will be held an entertainment in the shape of several boxing bouts, the principal attraction of the evening being the go between Weday and Kennard. Jack Weday has hitherto been undefeated in Honolulu and in combination with those who have come up against him has shown himself to be a square fighter, capable of taking an abnormal amount of punishment and with a nasty hook which has upset all his opposers up to date. Jack Kennard is understood to be willing and a hard hitter.

The contest is for a purse of $700, an incentive for the men to fight clean and do their best. Ten rounds will be allowed in which to gain the decision. There will be several preliminaries, "Useless" Harris meeting a new opponent. Seats are now on sale at the Orpheum where Joe Cohen has the management of the affair.

MATTERS POLITICAL.

The supposedly most confirmed old bachelor of a Colorado town has just struck his colors and surrendered to a cross-eyed grass widow with a pug nose and a chin that seems to shrink back from public gaze. When Cupid falls with his trump cards he usually plays a joker with success.—Denver Post.

Big Bill Devery looks much smaller since the Saratoga convention, but there are indications that he will blout again on election day.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Jerry Simpson says there is no reason why the Democrats should feel downcast. Since the Populist party was swallowed by the Democrats, Jerry probably has authority to speak for the Democrats.—Cleveland Leader.

A MONGOOSE OUT ON BAIL

MUST BE KILLED WITHIN TEN DAYS ON MAINLAND—MANY INTERESTING SPECIMENS.

Collector Thomas has received advice from the treasury department at Washington granting permission for the landing of the two mongooses brought from Jamaica on the Admiral Schley for the use of Dr. Gay, of the university of Pennsylvania, who wishes to make a scientific study of their habits. The university will have to furnish a bond of $1000 that the animals will be killed within 10 days after being landed. Such permission has never before been granted, on account of the destructive habits of the animals.

There is considerable objection of the unscientific sort to the domestication of the mongoose in this country, owing to its voracious appetite for poultry. The mongoose is the champion rat killer of the world, and for this reason is much valued. It will also kill the most venomous snakes, for which purpose it is domesticated in India and highly prized there.

The mongoose is about the size of a cat, and feeds on rats, mice and reptiles, as well as birds. It is very fond of eggs, which leads it to search for those of the crocodile buried beneath the sand on the banks of the Nile and other rivers. The ancient Egyptians regarded it as sacred on this account. It is, however, equally fond of poultry, and its depre-dations among fowls detract from its merits as a vermin killer. In India the species is much smaller, but equally courageous. It is especially serviceable there as a serpent killer, destroying not only the eggs and young of these creatures, but attacking and destroying the largest and poisonous snakes. The fact that it always survives these encounters has led to the belief that it enjoys immunity from snake poison, or that after being bitten it has recourse, as the Hindus have always maintained, to the root of a plant as an antidote.

Neither of these suppositions has withstood the test of scientific examination, for it has been found that when actually bitten it falls a victim to the poison as rapidly as do other animals, while there is no trustworthy evidence of its seeking a vegetable antidote. The truth is that the mongoose by its great ability and quickness of eye avoids the fangs of the snake while fixing its own teeth in the back of the reptile's neck. One thing is certain, and that is that all serpents in India are afraid of the mongoose, and will run from it.

The mongoose was originally introduced into Jamaica for the purpose of ridding the sugar plantation of rats, but it has grown to be a greater pest than the rodent it was let loose upon.

There are several interesting specimens of the mongoose in the zoological gardens of Philadelphia.

A GREAT SUCCESS.

The Annual Sale of St. Clement's Woman's Guild.

The annual sale of the Woman's Guild of St. Andrew's church held Saturday afternoon and evening was a success in every particular. The day was ideal. The attendance was very large. The arrangements were admirable. The band was in attendance in the afternoon and in the evening there was music by a native quintette club and dancing in the parish house from 8 to 10 o'clock. The total receipts as reported at the close, Saturday evening, was $787.90 there are still some reports to be made which will undoubtedly increase this somewhat.

The ladies of the guild desire to express their thanks to those who assisted them, to Captain Berger and the band, and to all who helped make the affair the success it was.

JUMPED ON A TEN PENNY NAIL.

The little daughter of Mr. J. N. Powell jumped on an inverted rake made of ten penny nails, and thrust one nail entirely through her foot, and a second one half way through. Chamberlain's Pain Balm was promptly applied and five minutes later the pain had disappeared and no more suffering was experienced. In three days the child was wearing her shoe as usual and with absolutely no discomfort. Mr. M. Powell is a well-known merchant of Portland, Va., U. S. A. Pain Balm is an antiseptic and heals such injuries without maturation and in one-third the time required by the usual treatment. For sale by all druggists, Benson Smith & Co., general agents.
