OCEANIC'S ANNUAL MEETING

SAN FRANCISCO, January 21.—"Hopeful but not sensational," was the verdict of the stockholders of the Oceanic Steamship Company who assembled in annual session at the company's offices today to listen to explanations of the reasons why their steamships have not made money the past year. A year ago the company was he said: "If I did not think so the firm of J. D. Spreckels & Co. would not be willing to lend the company a million dollars." He added that the bond issue had not been made because it was thought just as well to have the company owe the money to J. D. Spreckels & Co. It would have to pay interest anyway and so the firm had shouldered the burden. Mr. Spreckels was asked what interest he was charging on his money and replied that the rate was 5 per cent. He said he thought business would soon improve. The drought in Australia had prevailed through many years and following it there had been a period of uncertain business and small travel. He thought that now the tide was beginning to turn in the company's favor.

SOME LOOPHOLES FOR ADACHI

The time for which Adachi is to be held in jail in Yokohama to await his deportation by the United States, has expired under the terms of the extradition treaty with Japan, and it appears that there is no longer any legal authority for holding him to await the arrival of Marshal Hendry. The time when under the terms of the treaty, he had an apparent right to demand liberty, arrived about two months ago, and it has been reported here that he was accordingly released and has left Japan. It is believed, however, that the authorities, knowing that action was being taken here, hold him in jail. The extradition treaty was made before the United States had any idea of annexing Hawaii, and did not take into consideration the long time necessary to get papers here from Washington.

Saburo Adachi is said to be the first man for whom the aid of the extradition treaty with Japan was invoked. The treaty was made in 1886, during Cleveland's first term as president, and was signed by Ambassador Richard B. Hubbard for the United States, and for Japan by Count Inouye Kaoru, who appears in the document as "Minister of State for Foreign Affairs, First Class of the Order of the Rising Sun, etc., etc., etc." It contains a number of limitations on which it is said Adachi might hang a contest, and it may be that there will be a contest in the courts at Yokohama before Marshal Hendry is able to start back with him. If he has been released by the Japanese government, the United States will pursue him further. The case is attracting a good deal of attention in the Japanese press, in which it is commented upon as the first case of American extradition from Japan. The main provisions of the treaty which is now used for the first time nearly twenty years after its ratification are as follows:

"The High Contracting Parties engage to deliver up to each other, under the circumstances and conditions stated in the present Treaty, all persons who, being accused or convicted of one of the crimes or offenses named below in Article II, and committed within the jurisdiction of the one Party, shall be found within the jurisdiction of the other Party.

"1. Murder and assault with intent to commit murder.

"2. Counterfeiting or altering money, or uttering or bringing into circulation counterfeit or altered money; counterfeit certificates, or coupons of public indebtedness, bank notes, or other instruments of public credit of either of the parties, and the utterance or circulation of the same.

"3. Forgery or altering and uttering what is forged or altered.

"4. Embezzlement or criminal malversation of the public funds, committed within the jurisdiction of either party, by public officers or depositaries.

"5. Robbery.

"6. Burglary, defined to be the breaking and entering by night time into the house of another person with intent to commit a felony therein; and the act of breaking and entering the house of another, whether in the day or night time, with the intent to commit a felony therein.

"7. Perjury or the subornation of perjury.

"8. Rape.

"9. Arson.

"10. Piracy by the law of nations.

"11. Murder, assault with intent to kill, and manslaughter, committed on the high seas, on board a ship bearing the flag of the demanding country.

"12. Stalicious destination of, or attempt to destroy railways, trams, vessels, bridges, dwellings, public edifices, or other buildings, when the act endangers human life.

"If it be made to appear that extradition is sought with a view to try or punish the person demanded for an offense of a political character, surrender shall not take place; nor shall any person surrendered be tried for any political offense committed previous to his extradition, or for any offense other than that in respect of which the extradition is granted.

"The requisition for extradition shall be made through the diplomatic agents of the contracting parties, or, in the event of the absence of these from the country or its seat of government, by superior consular officers. . . . The fugitive shall be surrendered only on such evidence of criminality as according to the laws of the place when the fugitive or person so charged shall be found, would justify his apprehension and commitment for trial, if the crime had been committed.

nal, and keep him in safe custody for a reasonable time, not exceeding two months, to await the production of the documents upon which the claim for extradition is founded.

"Neither of the contracting parties shall be bound to deliver up its own citizens or subjects under the stipulations of this convention, but they shall have the power to deliver them up if in their discretion it be deemed proper to do so.

"The expenses of the arrest, detention, examination and transportation of the accused shall be paid by the government which has requested the extradition."

THE SITES FOR FEDERAL BUILDING

Senator Mitchell of Oregon, who was here with the Senate commission which reported on various matters in the islands, has introduced in the United States two bills for public buildings, in Honolulu and Hilo. Both of them contain provisions for heating apparatus in the buildings. Hilo's building is to cost not over $150,000, while Honolulu is to have a building costing not over $1,000,000. Similar bills have been introduced in the House by Delegate Kuhio, though the heating apparatus was probably left out of them. The bills contain provisions for acquiring sites in both cities.

MAINLAND MAIL IS POSTPONED

Mainland mail for the steamer Nevada and now at Kahului will not be sent from Honolulu this afternoon by the steamer Lehua. Information was received from Kahului to the effect that the departure of the steamer Nevada for San Francisco would have to be delayed until Wednesday or Thursday. As soon as the postal authorities learned of this fact they decided that it would be unnecessary to have the steamer Lehua make a special trip to Maui with the mainland mail for the Nevada, but this mail could as well be sent by the steamer Maui which sails tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock on the steamer Claudine's run. The mail will not, therefore, be dispatched today as the Lehua will make only her accustomed ports to Molokai. The Maui will go out tomorrow at 5 p. m. Mail will be received for the mainland up to 4 p. m. at the local post office.

BASEBALL ON MAUI.

WAILUKU, January 30.—A meeting of the Maui Athletic Association has been called for Monday night, at which time it is expected that the coming baseball season will be fully discussed. The prospects for a successful league are very bright, and a cup will be put up either by the association, or by a generous townsman, whose name it would not be opportune to mention. The Lahaina, who were in the league last year, will not be considered for the coming season, but it is quite certain that a team from Pala and Makawao will be entered.

WILL LIGHT KAHOLAWE.

Manager Conradt has stated that he will place a light on Kahoolawe at night whenever any steamers are expected at that island. The steamer Maui went to that island last week to get "tattle." She returned yesterday morning.

ILLNESS CALLS HER HOME.

JUDGE DOLE REMAINS OVER.

Judge Dole said to a Tribune reporter that his trip to Hilo this time was the coldest he had ever made. He was pleased to see the great white satiny cloak of snow which covers miles of the slopes of Mauna Kea and likes the invigorating crispness of 60 degrees above. Judge Dole will not return to Honolulu by the Kinau today, but will

ALDEN BESSE CAME BACK LEAKING

The bark Alden Besse arrived off the port at an early hour this morning. She was in distress. She was leaking. The return of the vessel was not especially sensational however and there were no very startling incidents connected with the affair.

The vessel left Honolulu January 23 with 1250 tons of sugar and some minor articles for San Francisco. This was the largest shipment of sugar she has ever had. There was a very strong northerly wind blowing so Captain Kessel thought that perhaps some of the seams had opened up on account of her having been lying up so long in Honolulu. The crew were put to work on their respective watches pumping.

There was a very heavy cross sea running and the wind was from the north east and blowing very strong. Captain Kessel kept on with the vessel as he did not anticipate that the leak would prove serious in any respect. The leak did not improve however. As a matter of fact the vessel began to make water much faster than she should so it became evident to Captain Kessel that some of the seams had started and that the vessel was leaking.

On January 29 he decided that it would be wisest for the safety of the vessel, her cargo and the lives of those aboard to put her about and return to Honolulu. The steam pump remain in the city a week to visit friends. While in the city he will stop at the Severance home.—Hilo Tribune.

DROWNED AT PAPAIOU.

A second fatality to a member of the Maui crew occurred at Papaiou last Wednesday. A week ago a Japanese was drowned. Wednesday it was Kawainui, a Hawaiian from Pepeekeo. With others he was in a boat at work, the cover being smooth. A blind swell came in suddenly capsizing the boat. All but Kawainui swam to the Maui. He struck out for the shore but was killed on the rocks.

The Wilder S. S. Company provided for the funeral which was held at Pepeekeo yesterday. The company paid the undertaker and secured vehicles for the family of the unfortunate young man.—Hilo Tribune.

HONOKAA MURDER.

A Japanese murdered his wife last Monday at the home of Mrs. Rickard, near Honokaa. In presence of Mrs. Rickard and her daughter, both Japanese had been servants in the Rickard home. ## DROWNED AT PAPAIOU.

HILO, January 28.—A Japanese employed on the S. S. Maui was drowned at Papaiou last Saturday. His body was recovered in the river on Monday.

GOVERNOR STORMBOUND.

HILO, January 28.—The governor and party have been in the vicinity of Waimea during the week unable to do much in the way of investigation on account of stormy weather. Rev. S. L. Desha, who left here on Monday to meet the party at Waipio, was in Honokaa yesterday, storm bound. As it is indefinite when the governor will reach Hanalei, Mr. Desha may return to Hilo and leave again on Monday. There was a rumor that the party would spend Saturday night at Laupahoehoe leaving there for Hilo Sunday morning, reach here in time for the governor to attend the union meeting at Hilo Sunday night. This plan may be interfered with so that the party will not reach here until Tuesday.

OUTLOOK FOR FIBRE INDUSTRY

"The Fibres of the Hawaiian Islands," is an interesting pamphlet by Leopold G. Blackman, and is Volume 2, number 1, of the "Occasional Papers" of the Bernice P. Bishop Museum. The purpose in preparing and publishing the pamphlet is thus stated in the first two paragraphs of the pamphlet itself.

The cultivation of fibre-yielding plants has of late years been one of rapidly increasing importance. The subject has for some time received exhaustive research in the United States where the total annual importation of raw and manufactured fibrous materials approximates in value the sum of $100,000,000. The demand for many forms of fibre manufactures, particularly those used in binding, has, it is asserted, always been in excess of the supply, and at the present time is increasing at an extraordinary rate. This, coupled with the decline and deterioration of flax and hemp culture in European countries, has caused a great stimulus to investigation as to the value of new fibres and the possibility of supplying the demand with products of home origin.

It will be the endeavor of this paper to present briefly a review of various fibres, particularly those of native Hawaiian origin and those of possible introduction to these islands. Attention will also be directed to what success has already been achieved in fibre culture in Hawaii and the result given of experiments conducted at the Museum on the preparation and testing of various kinds.

MAUI FIRE FIGHTERS.

WAILUKU, January 30.—A meeting of Wailuku Fire Company No. 1 was held at the Court House last Monday evening to complete organization and elect its officers. The constitution and by-laws which had been prepared by a committee, consisting of J. L. Coke, J. N. K. Keola and W. J. Coelho, were adopted with minor amendments. Balloting for officers resulted in the following selection: W. J. Coelho, foreman; J. L. Coke, chief engineer; W. T. Robinson, chief hoseman; J. N. K. Keola, secretary; L. M. Baldwin, treasurer; W. E. Saffery, trustee.
