TRY Paine's Celery Compound TODAY

Take just one dose when you go to face the hard part of the day's trials. See how much better you feel. See how much more easily the trials roll away. Paine's Celery Compound is not a mere stimulant—it gives to the nerves the actual substance that they need for food, building them up and giving them strength. In this way it gives soul to nerve activity, instead of the false activity imparted by mere stimulants. It is the best and quickest spring tonic.

"I had to overwork, being employed night and day for more than a week. I ran down and was very weak. I was so tired that I thought I would never think of work again. A friend recommended Paine's Celery Compound and it certainly did me a world of good. Right AT ONCE I began to feel better, and was able to go back to work in a few days. You would not think to see me that I had ever been sick and run down. I am thankful for the good that Paine's Celery Compound did for me. I am telling my friends."—Daniel Bain, 204 W. 12th St., Chicago.

EXPOSITION IS COMING HERE

THE WORLD'S FAIR AFLOAT HAS BEEN DEFINITELY DECIDED UPON AND ARRANGEMENTS ARE PERFECTED FOR AN ELABORATE TOUR OF LEADING PORTS OF THE PACIFIC, WITH A LARGE EXHIBITION OF AMERICAN PRODUCTS.

The announcement is now definitely made by the Northwestern Commercial Company of Seattle that the steamer Victoria, specially fitted, will sail November 15 next with American commercial representatives and exhibits, for all parts of the East Asiatic coast, Australia, New Zealand, Chile, Peru, Hawaii, etc.

Describing the enterprise the American Asiatic says: Some hundred gentlemen representing American manufacturers and other commercial interests and their exhibits, will make a six-months cruise aboard the steamer Victoria, visiting all points of commercial importance in the territory named, and accomplishing at these points such business as they may in establishing branch offices and agencies, making sales of goods, and generally introducing their interests. Some of the passengers will regard the cruise largely from the point of commercial investigation. Again the management of the Victoria hope to accomplish much in a general way—the passengers will be a very representative American body, and it may be anticipated that as such the impression made upon the commercial communities at the different ports of call will prove not only profitable in a commercial sense, but will also reinforce the strongly amicable feeling for America now pregnant throughout the Pacific.

The Victoria is owned by the Northwestern Steamship Company of Seattle, the president of which concerns, J. Rose, is also president of the Northwestern Commercial Company and the North Coast Lighterage Company, and is well known in association with large Alaskan and Siberia enterprises. The Northwestern Steamship Company also owns the Olympia and Tacoma, sister ships of the Victoria. All these vessels were engaged until this spring in the Transpacific passenger and freight carrying trade, for some years in connection with the Northern Pacific Railway Company, and are well known in Pacific shipping circles for their record mail carrying and fast tea and silk freight filled in advance of the purposes of the voyage. It is expected that merchants distant from the ports of call, will be notified by Consuls and the press, and exhibitors may therefore anticipate very satisfactory attention in this regard. Again, the public press will give the full list of the names of passengers and their business.

The deck plan of the Victoria as published for intended participants shows the entire deck forward on the main deck and the entire deck fore and aft under the main deck reserved for exhibits. This makes a very practical and spacious arrangement. Passage for the entire voyage including meals, berth and from 300 to 400 cubic feet of space for exhibition purposes, as well as space for 5 tons of cargo to those wishing to sell goods direct during the voyage, will be from $1,500 to $2,500, according to location of stateroom selected and the amount of space required for exhibition purposes. The ship's crew will be at the disposal of passengers for installing and taking care of exhibits free of charge, and no charge is made for light and power.

Commenting upon the plan, the American Asiatic says:

The plan of this exposition will appeal to the practical commercial man; and particularly for its very tangible feasibility. This vessel will simply specialize that which regular passenger liners in less ordered form are engaged in every trip they make—it is safe to say that during 1909 American steamships carried between two and three thousand representatives of American manufacturers and other commercial houses to the foreign Pacific territory: the Orient, Australia, Pacific South America, etc. These travelers were largely bent on exploiting territory new to them. They did this at great expense, and perhaps without due economy. The Victoria floating exposition gives the opportunity to cover a large territory with a minimum of expense and with full economy both as to time and practical execution of a specific purpose—the specific purpose of "campaigning" every point of interest in the Pacific commercial hemisphere. There is no reason in practical commercial sense why this floating exposition should not be a set and regular business. We could point to a score of firms within a very short limited radius who now send a representative, one or more, each year over the exact route mapped for the Victoria. This representative looks up old agents, establishes new agencies; drums up new business and nourishes the old. The time given at each port by the floating exposition is sufficient for all purposes. In brief the floating exposition is the commercial traveler's moving hotel and display room. It should not be overlooked, in this connection, that the territory to be covered by the Victoria peculiarly suited to the practical execution of business by the cruise proposed: The vessel, in fact, will call at all the ports that are "made" or are necessary to be "made" by American commercial representatives; and once having "done" these ports, the whole territory will have been done. For instance, at Valp raises complete commercial arrangements are made for Chile, just as they are made at Honolulu for Hawaii and as they are made at Shanghai for all North China, at Manila for the Philippines, at Singapore for the Straits. We recommend the notice of this American floating exposition to American consuls in the Orient and the other Pacific ports. It should meet with great success in every direction.

Cold Facts About Leonard Cleanable Refrigerators

The principal reasons why you should buy a Leonard cleanable refrigerator are because:
It keeps food cold and pure, it uses little ice, and it can be taken out to be cleaned.
