Had To Prove He Knew The Laws

ATTORNEY GENERAL ANDREWS A WITNESS IN THE MEHEULA TRIAL AND ASHFORD QUESTIONS HIM ABOUT HIS KNOWLEDGE OF THE LAW—A MORNING OF MANY OBJECTIONS AND MUCH LEGAL SPLITTING OF HAIRS.

"I object," was the remark most frequently heard in Judge De Bolt's court this morning in the trial of S. Meheula for gross cheat. It was made by C. W. Ashford, Meheula's attorney, and it gave the court and Deputy Attorney General Fleming a lively morning. During the trial Attorney General Andrews took the stand to testify about the names of the Ballou compilations, and Ashford proceeded to do some questioning about Andrews' knowledge of the law for the entertainment of the court and jury. It ended in an argument between the witness and the defendant's attorney which was all stricken out.

Representative Andrade, who is an attorney, was called to testify about the names of the books in question. The indictment and evidence vary in naming the books which Meheula is charged with collecting for and not buying the name being variously given as the "laws of Hawaii" and the "code" and Andrade was wanted to prove that the term "code" meant the laws, or Ballou's compilations. He was not allowed to testify, Ashford making the objection that he had already been called once and the prosecution should have finished with him when it had him. Testa was recalled and the same objection was made, but it was overruled on a showing that new matters had arisen about which his testimony was wanted. He testified to delivering copies of the law books sold to Meheula.

of the paper desired to be introduced, was a correct copy of the advertisement written by Meheula and ordered published. Berndt testified to being ordered to print an advertisement and to printing it and that shown him was the one, but questions as to its correctness were objected to and objections were sustained, Ashford calling for the original copy. Berndt was temporarily withdrawn and a search for the original copy was ordered. This was later found.

Andrews testified as Andrade was wanted to, that the Laws of Hawaii were generally known as the Code, having first testified that he was a practicing attorney and familiar with the laws of Hawaii. On cross-examination Ashford proceeded to question him on his familiarity, and the trial threatened to become a legal engagement between the two members of the bar. De Bolt sustained and overruled objections, holding that Ashford had a right to cross-examine about Andrews' familiarity with the law, and the way was open for a legal discussion that might have lasted until one or both the lawyers got tired out. It did not last that long, however. Andrews did some arguing, even though he was a witness. He gracefully admitted that he didn't know all the law, and suggested that Ashford did, and Ashford remarked that a lot of law and argument were coming from the witness stand.

"We always get law from the counsel for defendant," remarked Andrews, and then, at Ashford's suggestion, the pleasantry was all stricken out.

Incidentally during the various arguments Ashford roasted the attorney general's department for the manner of drawing the indictment, which he said was "sloppy" and charged that it was unprepared with the case, and was trying to fill up blanks by testimony of its own members. De Bolt added a kick that a lot of time had been wasted by failure to look for the original copy of the advertisement about which there had been so much discussion.

The trouble began when Emil A. Berndt, manager of W. W. Diamond and Company and formerly connected with The Star, was called to testify about an advertisement in The Star during the last legislature, for copies of the law books, which the House had instructed Meheula to buy. It was in response to this advertisement that the House secured such copies as were found, but after an hour's wrangling over very fine technicalities, the prosecution was unable to get from Berndt the evidence wanted, that the advertisement as it appeared in a copy of the anti-crimping laws, was arraigned this morning before United States Judge Dole. The charge is of having advanced money to a sailor on an allotment note, or rather having represented that the note was for lodging and a sea outfit when in fact a part of it was for cash loaned. When the indictment was read Rosenberg stated that he didn't see that he was charged with anything. He had previously announced his attention to employ no counsel, but to appear for himself. Captain Bray, similarly indicted, is represented by W. H. Castle.

Rosenberg's statement when called on to plead, that he didn't see that he was charged with anything, was taken by the court as a demurrer to the indictment, and Judge Dole overruled it. Rosenberg then pleaded not guilty, and his case was set for trial next Monday.

Captain Bray's case comes up for arraignment and plea tomorrow.

MYSTERY OF THE AUSTRALIA

BELIEVED THAT OLD SAN FRANCISCO-HONOLULU BOAT WILL ENTER CONTRABAND TRADE.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—There is a mystery concerning the destination of the Oceanic Company's steamship Australia, now fitting out at the Risdon Iron Works for a voyage. Neither the owners nor the brokers who chartered the vessel will say anything definite about the matter, all of which, in the minds of some men, indicates that the proposed trip is to the Siberian coast, by way of Nome. Nor will the owners make known the names of the charterers.

Since there would be no particular need of secrecy were the Australia going to Honolulu after Japanese emigrants, or to Nome with freight and passengers, or to Panama, and no little advantage in having the objective point kept secret should it be in Russian territory, it is generally looked upon as conclusive evidence that the old Australia is to make a sly attempt to run the blockade on the coast of Siberia. Much of the equipment of her sister ship, the Zealandia, has been placed aboard the Australia.

ROSENBERG HIS OWN LAWYER

HIS DEMURRER TO THE CRIMPING CHARGE IS OVERRULED BY JUDGE DOLE.

M. Rosenberg, charged with violation of the anti-crimping laws, was arraigned this morning before United States Judge Dole. The charge is of having advanced money to a sailor on an allotment note, or rather having represented that the note was for lodging and a sea outfit when in fact a part of it was for cash loaned. When the indictment was read Rosenberg stated that he didn't see that he was charged with anything. He had previously announced his attention to employ no counsel, but to appear for himself. Captain Bray, similarly indicted, is represented by W. H. Castle.

Rosenberg's statement when called on to plead, that he didn't see that he was charged with anything, was taken by the court as a demurrer to the indictment, and Judge Dole overruled it. Rosenberg then pleaded not guilty, and his case was set for trial next Monday.

Captain Bray's case comes up for arraignment and plea tomorrow.

BIG SHIPMENT OF BANANAS

ENTERPRISE TOOK THE LARGEST NUMBER OF BUNCHES IN THE HISTORY OF HILO.

HILO, May 2.—When the S. S. Enterprise sailed out of the harbor yesterday afternoon, she carried about 7,500 bunches of bananas for San Francisco. This stands among the largest consignments of bananas shipped from this port on this vessel. One year ago in March the shipment was 2104 bunches, April 4247 bunches, June 5283 bunches, July 4230 bunches, August 5445 bunches, September 4893 bunches, October 5884 bunches, November 6325 bunches, January 8868 bunches, February 5561; and March 6316 bunches. As a general rule these shipments go to about 50 consignees and are from an equal number of shippers. The unloading of a big cargo like this to a great number of consignees makes it almost impossible to obtain good prices.

The Enterprise also took away 30,400 bags of sugar from Hilo, valued at $152,926.24 and from Honolulu 18,650 bags of refined sugar and 1505 bags of raw sugar, valued at $110,285.60. She also carried from Hilo, 6950 pounds of coffee, valued at $1,000. E. P. Nichols and J. V. Ray were departing passengers, together with 33 Japanese steerage.

MUTUAL GOODFEELING

Joe Cohen was noticed going up the street this morning with an expansive smile, and in a short time passed Messrs. Wyman and Bass, of the Elleford Co., and they also were heavenly smiles. Inquiry as to what caused all this good feeling revealed the fact that the sale of seats for the Ellefords opened at the box office yesterday morning, and at 6 o'clock last night the house was almost sold out for the first 3 performances. This excellent company opens tomorrow night in "The Belle of Richmond," a Southern Story that has made a distinct hit with this attraction all over the Coast circuit.

The House took a recess at noon.

THE HOUSE AND THE BOOK FUND

THE SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION SENDS DESIRED INFORMATION.

The communications received from the Superintendent of Public Instruction by the House of Representatives these days are classics, in their way. This morning one arrived in answer to a request for information regarding the so-called "Book Fund."

"Said information," wrote the Superintendent, "will be immediately gotten up and sent to you at the earliest possible moment this afternoon sometime."

The letter was referred to the Committee of the Whole which, presumably, will take the matter up at the earliest possible moment this afternoon sometime.

"Immediately this afternoon sometime" arrived simultaneously at once for the Superintendent sent along the information which had been "gotten up."

The amount appropriated for the book fund for the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1905, was $3800. The amount disbursed to March 31 was $5457.50. The amount of bills approved and forwarded to the Auditor during April was $697.82. The total amount of bills paid and to be paid for the nine months ending March 31 was $6,155.68 and the amount received from the sale of books was $557.20.

The Committee on Public Lands and Internal Improvements recommended the tabling of the resolution to appropriate $7000 for a market at Waiuku.

SENATE ADJOURNS VERY EARLY

THERE WAS NOT MUCH THAT COULD BE DONE THIS MORNING AND RECESS WAS TAKEN.

There was not a quorum present when the Senate was called to order this morning, but the members came straggling in after the prayer and during the reading of the minutes.

Senate Bill No. 4, making special appropriations for the departmental use of the Territory, was postponed on second reading to await the action of the House.

House Bill No. 1, making appropriations for the extra session, passed second reading. It will be read for the third time tomorrow.

Senate Bill No. 6, making appropriations to pay unpaid bills, was referred on second reading to a special committee consisting of Paris, Wilcox, Lane, Dickey and Dowsett.

Senate Bill No. 2, passed tomorrow, was sent to the printers.

And then the Senate took a recess until 2 p. m. when Senator Bishop said he thought the Loan committee would have its report ready, although he would not promise it positively.

WHERE CAN THE COIN BE FOUND?

GOVERNOR CARTER SAYS THE LEGISLATURE IS MAKING TOO BIG APPROPRIATIONS.

"I would like to know where the money is coming from," is Governor Carter's principal comment on the work of the legislature. The governor is keeping an eye on the appropriations which are being made and on the income expected as well, and he thinks the lawmakers are going it a bit too fast in the matter of expenditures.

"The legislature has only increased the revenue of the government by $43,000," the Governor said this morning, "but it appears to be increasing the appropriations much more. If that is to be the rule, I for one shall not be disposed to back the Territory on loan propositions. I regard the credit of the Territory as of more importance than many of these appropriations, and it will not do to have expenditures more than the income."

WOMEN GET THE RIGHT TO VOTE

THE EPISCOPAL CONVOCATION REVERSES ITSELF AND GIVES THE SUFFRAGE TO WOMEN.

At the Episcopal convocation last night the matter of giving the women of the church the right to vote in Parish meetings was brought up again in a modified form. The amendment to the canon was so framed as to limit the right given to voting in Parish meetings, and not to give them the right to be wardens or vestrymen, or representatives in convocation. The vote was unanimous.

The other principal amendments to the canons providing for changes in the status of St. Andrew's parish and of the Dean and Chapter, were tabled.

After some other business including reports of committees, the convocation adjourned.

KENILWORTH LOST SOME SAILS

VESSEL IS LONG TIME OUT FROM NEW YORK FOR MANILA—WAS SIGHTED OFF GUAM RECENTLY.

Considerable interest is being taken in the ship Kenilworth. She is now out 222 days from New York for Manila. She may be chartered for sugar from the Hawaiian Islands. The vessel is reported to have passed Guam recently with some of her sails missing. The fact that she had encountered weather sufficiently heavy to carry away her sails indicates the possible cause for her delay. The trade wind ought to take her along to Manila. Captain Sewall of the ship Wm. P. Frye is interested in the Kenilworth and received news from home of the other craft having been sighted.

TWO SAILING VESSELS ARRIVE.

The bark Olympic arrived this morning from San Francisco after a very smart passage of 15 days, and the bark St. James arrived after a trip of 17 days from San Francisco. The vessels encountered good weather. Both vessels are to load sugar for San Francisco. Captain Evans of the Olympic reports that he sighted the barkentine Newby on April 23 in Lat. 23:31 north, Long. 128:27 west, bound from Gray's Harbor for Honolulu. On the recent trip the Olympic beat the bark Albert by four days. The Olympic brought two passengers this trip, Mrs. Wilson and baby. The schooner W. H. Marston, bound from Hilo for San Francisco, was sighted yesterday by the Olympic.
