ALL WAS QUIET OUT KING STREET

THERE WAS NOTHING DOING THIS MORNING AT THE FIRST OF THE FOURTH.

There was nothing but an exceptional quietness to be observed out at King and Punahou at 9 o'clock this morning notwithstanding the fact that there was located the polling booth for the 1st Precinct of the 4th District. Children played happily in the neighboring vacant lot and the mild-eyed kine loped undisturbed by the great political tragedy which was being enacted within the four bare walls of the booth.

This is Brown's home precinct. Out of 367 votes on the list 92 were polled inside of the first hour and a horse voiced supporter of Henry had the audacity to claim eight of these! Thus is history made!

WHEN OLD BILL AYLETT VOTED

THERE WERE THINGS DOING OUT ALONG WILDER AVENUE WHEN THE LEGISLATOR CAME ALONG.

The bees buzzed idly about the corner of Wilder Avenue and Keaunoku street this morning and the spiders spun their webs across the door where Attorney Withington watched, lynx eyed, in the interests of the Civic Federation.

Hush! This was the polling booth for the 2nd of the 4th.

The hour was ten and all nature rested. There were 312 votes on the list and of these 92 had been polled.

But hark! What is that? A fast approaching clatter of hoofs. Is it a battery of artillery which thus breaks the quiet of the morning?

No. It is Bill Aylett, the Honorable Bill Aylett, legislator and gentleman who is driving his hack madly to the scene of the trouble and Attorney Withington regretfully chalks down another vote for the straight ticket.

FRANK TURK WAS ON THE LOOKOUT

CIVIC FEDERATION TOOK NO CHANCES ABOUT BEING FOOLED IN THE 6TH OF THE 4TH.

Attorney General Lorrin Andrews sat in the vacant store at the corner of Beretania and Fort streets and dangled his legs from the counter. Frank J. Turk had a chair. Frank was there for the Civic Federation and the Attorney General was there watching the interests of Arthur M. Brown for this was at the polling booth of the 6th of the 4th.

No. There is no mistake about it. There was Lorrin Andrews for the straight ticket and there, over there on the chair, was Frank Turk for the Civic Federation!

"Yes," said Mr. Andrews "it's a very fine day."

With this oracular observation he completed his figuring and found that out of 421 names on the list 99 had voted at 10:45. It was pretty slow business but Frank Turk never quit watching in the interest of the Federation.

AND FRED ANGUS WASN'T THERE

STILL THE POLLING WENT ON AT EMMA SQUARE AND THERE WAS NO DAMAGE DONE.

A snore! That was all the response the faithful alarm clock of Fred Angus got this morning when it exploded at 5:30. No, listen! Another snore!

Thus it was that Savage Bill Savidge was more savage than usual when he took charge of the polling booth at Emma Square this morning. This was where the people from the 4th of the 4th were to vote and a thoughtful party had put its faith in Fred Angus. He was to have been an inspector.

But remember that snore! Fred, Angus was conspicuous by his absence when the time for opening the polling booth arrived. There was not a fair haired youth in the expectant assemblage who even remotely resembled Fred, Angus.

"Well," said William Savidge, with a dash of Angustura bitters in his voice, "we'll have to appoint another Republican inspector according to the statute in such case made and provided."

His eagle eye ranged over the mob, waiting to rush in and vote the straight ticket, until it rested on Ed. Woodward.

"You," was all William said, but he said it in a way that there was no resisting and thus it was that 114 votes were polled by 10:30.

Col. Suffering Boer Lake came up the street. "Are you going to vote the straight ticket, Colonel?" asked statesman Ed. Quinn.

The Colonel remembered the unhappy days on the reef where Arthur Brown put him.

MANY DEPART ON SUMMER VACATION

STEAMER KINAU TOOK A VERY LARGE CROWD TODAY—MANY MUST USE MATTRESSES.

The steamer Kinau took the largest crowd away today late noon for Hilo and way ports that she has done in a year. Every berth and sofa was taken and mattresses were all but at a premium. There was a rush of many to go to the Volcano while others were departing to island ports on their vacation. Many school children left.

The steamer Maui will take a large crowd of passengers to Maui ports this afternoon and the steamer W. G. Hall will take a large crowd to Kaula ports. There is heavy looking for next week steamers also.

HUMOR FROM KAKAAKO

THE NATIVE WHO STARTED FOR CIVIC FEDERATION HEADQUARTERS AND WHAT HAPPENED.

It has been left to Kakaako to furnish the last humor of the campaign, with the assistance of a Republican candidate. Kakaako has been enjoying a lot of Civic money in the last few days, according to reports. One of its worthy citizens approached a Republican candidate in an effort to make a "touch" for a dollar. He was advised to go to the Civics. "What's the use of a dollar," said the candidate. "You go to the Civic and get more. They'll give you a ten."

The native, posted that he must show that he could get a lot of votes, started for Civic headquarters. What happened there is not known. What is known is that the happy native was seen later with a jag, a squareface and six bits worth of fish, winding, not wending, his homeward way and yelling huskily for Brown. It was very touching.
