SHE HAS LIVED FOR A CENTURY

THE ONE HUNDRETH BIRTHDAY OF MOTHER PARKER WILL BE CELEBRATED.

It will just be a hundred years on Saturday, December 3, since at Bradford, Connecticut, there was born a child who received the name of Mary Elizabeth Parker. Today she is alive and well here in Honolulu, known, loved and respected as Mother Parker, one of the fast decreasing band who as missionaries stamped their individuality on these islands so long ago.

The remarkable event of a hundredth birthday will be celebrated on Sunday next at Kawalahao Church, when the Kalili and Kaunakapili congregations and the Kamehameha students will be in attendance. David Ai will deliver an address and make a presentation and E. K. Lilikalani will recount the history of the aged lady's life.

Mrs. Parker, born as was stated in 1805, was married on September 24, 1832 at Guilford, to the Rev. Benjamin Wyman Parker. He was two years her senior.

The following year he with his bride came here to Honolulu and from that time to the present Mother Parker has never again seen her native land. Arriving here, they were detached for the Marquesan mission and there they labored for a year or more. Returning to Hawaii, Rev. Parker was put in charge of the Kaneohe mission where they stayed for a long term. In 1853 they again went to Marquesas Islands and later returned.

Rev. Mr. Parker passed away on March 23, 1877.

Mother Parker has four children all living and residents of Honolulu. They are Rev. H. H. Parker, Miss Mary Parker, Mrs. H. P. Green and Miss Carrie Parker. She has also five grand children, Mrs. Henry Wilcox, Henry W. Green, Miss Carrie P. Green, Miss Rhoda Green and Miss Emeline Green. All are in the city with the exception of Miss Rhoda who is away on a visit to the United States.

Despite her great age Mother Parker enjoys good health though she is, of course, feeble. Her eyesight does not enable her to read but her hearing is excellent. As is usual with the very aged, her mind reverts more to the happenings of the long ago than to more recent affairs though she still continues to have an active interest in current events. She has often remarked on the marvelous changes that have taken place in Hawaii since she landed here, a bride, in 1832.
