THE WORLD 100 YEARS FROM NOW

T. BARRON RUSSEL OF ENGLAND PICTURES IN MOST GRAPHIC FASHION, IN NEW BOOK, CONDITIONS AS THEY WILL BE IN 2006—COFFEE, TEA, CIGARS, AND GAMBLING VANISH—SHIPS TO CROSS OCEAN IN A DAY.

LONDON, May 5.—What will the world be like a hundred years hence? It is a fascinating thought, which, if pursued to its finality leaves the thinker in a perfect maze of conjectural wonder.

The reading world owes thanks to T. Barron Russel for relieving it of the trouble of thinking for itself by "taking the lid off the stewpot" in which the mysteries of the year 2006 A. D. are in process of boiling. He calls his book "A Hundred Years Hence: The Expectations of an Optimist."

Frankly, one is glad to live in this dismal age of ours if only a title of Mr. Russel's prognostications are likely to come true. He would turn life into a whirling kaleidoscope filled with the strangest habits and ideas, masquerading under the cloak of pleasure; he would turn men and women into flabby automata.

BEDROOMS WILL BE ROUND.

We arise in the morning let us suppose, in May, 2006. Our bedroom is a circular chamber, corners obsolete because they harbor dust, and dust is the abomination of the new age. The housewife of 2006 will say that we, her ancestors, were a terribly dirty crew. In the room stands an apparatus which has supplied us with oxygen—fresh air—during the night.

Press a button and your bath appears (servants being superfluous). You leave your body speedily with oxygenated water, delivered with a force that will render rubbing unnecessary, and beside it will stand the drying cupboard, lined with moving brushes and filled with dehydrated air, from which in a moment you emerge with the skin dried and electrified. You put on your soft clothes—men and women will dress almost alike—no stays, no tight lacing, no stiff collars, no bowler hats, no leather footwear.

NO COFFEE, TEA OR CIGARS.

Then, after having turned on the automatic vacuum cleaner to brush your clothes, you descend the lift, since staircases are no more, and sit down to your mechanically served breakfast of lentils or beans or nuts. Coffee and tea are no longer taken; neither do you smoke.

The breakfast is eaten to the accompaniment of the summary of the morning's news, whispered in your ear by a talking machine, which also produces the world's doings in faithful illustration.

Is this the climax of hustling? Certainly, but it is done because you are anxious to reserve as much time as possible "for culture and for thought." Your house will be a human rabbit warren of a hundred stories. It will be filled with scientific appliances. There are telephones, telautoscopes, kiptoscopes and all other sorts of "scopes" in every apartment. [The new servants will be as good as their masters because the state education has "formed their character."

EVERYTHING IS AUTOMATIC.

Out of doors you put a penny in the slot and jump into a waiting motor car, which even babies in arms may apparently drive, or you step on the moving pavement, which is as clean as a whistle—vacuum cleaners at every corner—have yourself whirled to your work, transact your business by recording and illustrating telephone, or watch the machinery do the work of your trade, and, having done your state regulated hours, you devote the rest of the day to the study of pictures, staturary or rare books.

Horse racing, gambling, reading frivolous books, gossiping in clubs, spending your money on expensive luncheons or dinners have all been relegated to the limbo of the forgotten past. You are simply a flabby noodle, a superior hothouse plant, done up in Liberty clothes, with about as much physical courage as we understand it in 1906, as a codfish.

NO MORE MILLIONAIRES.

When a man has amassed a competency the state steps in, divorces him from his occupation, and forces him into idleness, so that he may not become a Pierpont Morgan and organize a trust. What a reward for talent and ambition! Every worker has a share in the business in which he is engaged; wherefore there is an end to "eccentric" and strikes.

Being temperate in drink and having discarded meat, enjoying the blessing of ozone in every bedroom and the benefits of superior science in medicine, the new world is healthy, with an almost total absence of disease. Also since race suicide is a crime, families will be enormous.

Flying machines, built for one or two, will be popular for mountain top, nonalcoholic picnics; ships driven by wireless force will cross the Atlantic in a day, so that you may breakfast at the Savoy and dine at the Waldorf-Astoria; the ships will skim over the water and not plow through the waves; trains will go 200 miles an hour to the seemingly endless suburbs.

TRAINS WILL NOT STOP.

The trains do not stop. No, all you do is to step off your train at Little Duppington station on a moving platform, which will gradually slow down and then let you down easily; goods will be forwarded on moving platforms connecting the great centers of commerce; bookkeepers will disappear because their work is performed by combined adding machines and typewriters; no more drains; garbage destroyers in every house; wireless electric lighting; wireless cooking; Canada the richest and most populous country in the world; coal dug from the ocean and the ocean leved upon for its water, which is to be turned into oxygen and hydrogen, and thence into power; gold and silver and precious stones to be mined from the ocean bed; and Parliament will disappear.

The government of the country and the making of its laws will be in the hands of specialists. Lawyers, specialized lawyers, will make the laws so that it will no longer be a joyful and, immoral task for barristers to see how they can circumvent loosely drawn acts of Parliament; lay juries will be non-existent, and—wonder of wonders!—successful litigants will have their costs paid by the state!

SMALL TRADER WILL DISAPPEAR

Literature will be mountains "high" and there will be no chance for Kiplings or Doyles or Pembertons. Poetry will flourish and the small trader disappear. Provincial newspapers will have been dead for fifty years or more and the Express will be illustrated from end to end with colored photographs reproduced from some hocuspocus of light cast on the paper; its advertisements will be written by great literary lights, and the circulation will be many millions of copies. Finally, women will vote!

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

ARE YOU MARRIED?

The man with a Kodak is the one who knows its value and the pleasure to be obtained from pushing the button.

To the man and woman with children the Kodak is particularly invaluable for the reason that there are times when a snap can be made and the result treasured. This is not the case with gallery pictures, when the kiddies are prepared especially for the purpose and begged to look pleasant. With a Kodak they can be snapped at play when they are unconscious of what is going on around them.

This is straight talk; not an advertisement of the best Kodaks made, and which we sell, but a suggestion for which the man who does not own a Kodak, but who will buy one today will thank us and praise the man who made the little machine.

WHAT WAS LOST BY THE FIREMEN

FIRE COMMISSIONERS REPORT LOSS TO THE CITY FIRE DEPARTMENT IN DISASTER.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15.—At the meeting of the Fire Commissioners yesterday Chief Shaughnessy reported that the loss by fire to the department was $277,000 for buildings and $62,323.20 for apparatus. To replace the buildings, many of which were scarcely fit for the purposes they were used for, an expenditure of $674,500 will be required. There were 16 engine houses burned, 7 which housed engines, one used by a water tower, the houses of batteries 1 and 2, supply station two, extra house No. 2, corporation yards 1 and 2, and stable for corporation yard 1, besides the drill tower, a five-story steel structure.

Among the apparatus destroyed were two Amoskeag steam fire engines, one La France engine, a hook and ladder truck, a motor battery, four automobiles, a hose wagon, besides one hose wagon unaccounted for; two buglies, besides two unaccounted for; 25,150 feet of three-inch cotton hose, 23,850 of 2 1/2 inch cotton hose, 100 feet of 2 1/2-inch cotton hose, 3200 feet of 1 1/2 inch cotton hose, 250 feet of one-inch cotton hose, 1050 feet of one-inch chemical rubber hose. Besides this four engines were damaged to the amount of $2950 and small apparatus and tools to the value of $1800 more.

The commission decided not to grant any vacations this year. For this purpose last year the Supervisors allowed $7500. Commissioner Perry said that as the workmen of the city were giving one hour a day each toward its rebuilding the Fire Department would not do less.

About twenty members have been given indefinite leaves of absence and any member who wishes a leave to work at a trade can have it on application.

WAS KILLED AT PUUNENE MILL

YOUNG SURVEYOR MET SHOCKING DEATH LAST SATURDAY NIGHT—VIEWING MILL.

A fatal accident occurred at Puunene Mill, Maul, last Saturday night, in which W. H. Pickett was the victim. In company with two friends Pickett was making a visit to the mill. He was not connected with the mill, but was in the employ of the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company as surveyor.

Pickett was climbing down a ladder from a platform which overlooked the rollers. In some manner his coat got caught in the journal of a long shaft that operated some of the minor part of the machinery of the mill. Within a second the man was helpless and was whirled round and round by the shaft. His skull was fractured. The alarm was given within a few moments after the unfortunate man was caught by the shafting. The Portuguese engineer who was standing by the small engine that operated the particular shaft where the helpless man had been caught, pulled the ten-inch belt off the pulley, causing the shaft to soon stop. It was a brave act, for had the Portuguese been caught in the belt, he would have shared the same fate that overtook the other man. As soon as the shaft stopped its rapid motion, the lifeless body of Pickett dropped to the floor.

He never regained consciousness. A coroner's inquest was held soon after the accident and a verdict of accidental death was returned. The remains were brought to Honolulu on the tug Fearless from Kahului, arriving last night. E. A. Peck accompanied the remains and has charge of having them embalmed and reshipped to California. The deceased was a native of Fresno, California, where his father, mother, sister and brother reside. He was 26 years of age. The deceased had been in the employ of the Hawaiian Commercial & Sugar Company for about a year and a half. He has had charge of the surveying for the new ditch system. Previous to his residence in these islands he had been engaged in surveying in Manila and other places in the Orient. The remains will be shipped to California by the S. S. Alameda Wednesday morning. The deceased was unmarried.

Kaleho-a was endorsed. These candidates are endorsed on the understanding that if elected they will work for bringing within county government the county offices of the Board of Public Works, Board of Public Instruction and Board of Health, the Tax Assessor and other offices now territorial.

ALAMEDA SAILS WEDNESDAY.

The S. S. Alameda will sail with mail on Wednesday for San Francisco. She goes at 10 a. m.

LAND COURT IS SUSTAINED

THE TERRITORY CANNOT ACQUIRE TITLE TO LAND BY MERE LEGISLATION.

The Land Court was sustained by the Supreme Court this morning in the matter of the petition of the Hawaiian Trust Company for a registered title to some lands. The Territory intervened and opposed granting the title to certain parts of the land, on the ground that the Territory had acquired fee simple title to portions which had long been in use as a public highway. The land court held that the fee remained in the owner of the land, subject to an easement for a highway and the higher court sustains this view. The territory's claim was under laws which declare among other things that the ownership in fee of all public highways and land of the same shall be in the Territory, but the Supreme court, in a decision written by Hartwell, says: "The Territory cannot acquire the fee in a public highway by a mere legislative enactment. The fee is acquired either by compulsory process of condemnation or by the owner's consent, express or implied. The consent is implied, by force of the statute, when the owner exercises no ownership within five years, but no inference can be made in the absence of evidence that an owner does not exercise ownership over his land. This is a fact which must be shown in order to sustain the claim of the Territory that it has acquired the fee on the strength of it. The only presumption of fact which would be proper would be that the owner did exercise his legal rights as owner of the fee, a thing which in this case he could have done in full recognition of the public easement to use his land for a highway.

"Long prior to 1892 he had lost all right to interfere with its public use. To infer from his failure for five years thereafter to interfere with its public use—a thing which he could not lawfully do—that he dedicated the fee to the Territory would be absurd. The statute can have no such effect and requires no such inference."

F. W. Milverton, Deputy Attorney General, appeared for the Territory and B. L. Marx (Ballou & Marx on the brief) for the petitioner.

FLYING FISH AND MOSQUITOES

The local health department is considering a scheme to breed the mosquitoes with the flying fish. Some contrivance of the kind is deemed necessary on account of the neglect of so many to keep roof gutters clear of standing water, such places being among those where mosquitoes breed most numerous, giving the health officer much trouble. If the flying mosquito fish can be produced the health officer thinks the mosquito will soon be pau.—Hilo Tribune.
